issue between republicans has been, and it, not only in lowa, but throughout the length and breadth of the country. It is sufficient for the present to say that it relates wholly to those questions which concern the control, regulation and restriction of the powers and practices of combined or concentrated wealth. Or, to phrase it again-to the undue and disproportionate share which corporate capital is able to wring from the profits of industry, and the injustice it is able to inflict upon helpless individuals and defenseless communities.

Standpatters and Progressives,

In dealing with these problems the mem-bers of our party have ranged themselves iong the whole stretch hought and governmental action-from the operess and retreating reactionary to the extreme and visionary radical. The republicans of Iowa are the best judges of the republicanism of the senators and representatives whom they send to congress and they resent any attempt to exclude any of them from the honors and privileges which properly attach to membership in the republican party.

On State Affairs.

In the administration of state affairs. a high degree of efficiency on the part of Governor Carroll and of all of his official associates justifies the continued confidence of the people in republican control. Our Institutions have been enlarged in scope and improved in charactor and usefulness, while the lavy for state support is being reduced. All the republican candidates for state and congressional office regularly nominated have to their credit such excellent public service and promise that we call upon all republicans to rally to their support and see that every man on the ticket is triumphantly elected.

The republicans of the United States long ago determined it was essentia in a free country to preserve substantial competition in business, and, therefore, they proposed, and through their influence was enacted, the anti-trust law, the sole object of which was to forbid agreements and conspiracies in restraint of trade, and to prevent monopoly in production and commerce The republicans of Iowa favor not only the strict enforcement of the law, but they believe it should be given additional strength and scope in order to meet the devices of madern industry.

There are many democrats who are dia-inguished for their wise and broad views i upon public affairs, but the large major-ity of the leaders of the democratic party are incapable of making or administering inwar for a country like ours, for they invariably find in the constitution an in-superable obstacle in the way of doing the things which are imperatively de-manded, and which if done at al, must be done by the general government. I have been accused oftentimes by some of my blind and passionate opponents of naving democratic leanings, and I have many warm personal friends in that organization, but there never was a time in my whole life when I would have been willing to commit the destiny of the coun-try to the democratic party, and there is lease reason now for doing so than ever be-fore.
