SHOTWELL FILES CHARGES

Complaint Alleges Postmaster Thomas Dabbled in Politics.
THOMAS DENIES THE ALLEGATION
Charged with Pernicious Political Activity, Postmaster Replies that "Shotwell Will Not Get Far"—Wants Thomas Ousted.

Franklin A. Shotwell has filed formal charges against Postmaster B. F. Thomas, asking his removal from office for "pernicious political activity." The complaint was forwarded to Postmaster General Hitchcock.
Postmaster Thomas denies violating the rules of the postal department. He said he has been interested in politics as any private citizen has a right to be, but he has not used his office and his position as a means of promoting the political ambitions of his friends.
Mr. Shotwell charges that the postmaster's entire period of incumbency, the complaint alleges he has "used his office to control political movements in the city of Omaha, and in the state of Nebraska, and has thereby and by reason thereof brought the postoffice department of the United States of America into public scandal and disgrace."
Among the counts are that Thomas for the last two years has been a delegate to the republican state conventions; that he assisted in obtaining the consent of John P. Brown to run for the republican nomination for mayor; that he assisted in organizing

ATHOS TO WRESTLE A BULL

Frenchman to Put On Strange Match at Courtland Beach Next Thursday.
Athos, the French wrestler who has been invading America for the last fifteen years and now claims the middleweight mat championship, will grapple with a stock yards bull at Courtland Beach Thursday evening. He breezed into the city Friday morning with a happy tale of his achievements, which, as a matter were borne out by the credentials he showed, and incidentally remarked that he would throw Mr. Bull on his ponderous back in thirty minutes or hand the Courtland Beach management $100.
"Zaire sees one thing bout dees bool match," said Mr. Athos, "what you can say, eat see no fake; you can't fake wix a bool."
This seemed a sound argument, but Mr. Athos went on to make his point even more plain. "If a bool can stan on his feet he can fight, an' wrause, an' 'e w' quest. You can fake wix a man, but not wix a bool."
Athos has mixed it on the mat with Gutch, Farmer Burns and the rest of 'em at different times, and though his weight keeps him in an unimpressive rank, he apparently is as much a champion as any of the grapplers.
He is to appear at the beach Saturday evening with a physical culture demonstration and continue performing each night till Thursday, when the "bool" match comes off.

Record Run from Detroit to Omaha

Four Local Men in an Automobile Make Some Very Fast Time.
To four Omaha men belongs the honor of breaking two long distance automobile records on last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The men, George F. Bestin, William E. Drummond, Milton Uhl and Ole Hilber driving a 1911 Cadillac touring car, left Detroit, Mich., Saturday morning at 4:30 arriving in Chicago at 8:15 p. m. Deducting three hours and forty minutes which were consumed in stops the actual running time was twelve hours and five minutes which is well under the previous lowest mark, twelve hours and fifty-two minutes.
Leaving Chicago at 4:34 the following morning they arrived at the Rome hotel at 8:30 a. m. on Monday morning. Deducting again the time consumed by stops, the total running time, from Detroit to Omaha totals thirty-five hours and fifty-seven minutes. The lowest previous record was forty-six hours. The tourists report excellent roads and weather conditions during the entire trip.

DOWN TOWN BUILDING SOLD

Jacob Slosburg Buys Stone Structure at Sixteenth and Dodge from Building Association.
Jacob Slosburg is the prospective new owner of the building on the Omaha Building and Loan association at Sixteenth and Dodge streets.
The deal is now practically consummated, although the deed has not yet been signed. Mr. Slosburg is paying $46,000 for the property which does not include the ground.
This is leased by H. B. Cook of Chicago, at a valuation fixed until 1911. The rent until 1911 is $1,500 a year. Then it becomes $1,750 and in 1920 goes up another $250 for another ten years.
Directors of the Omaha Building and Loan association have had an agreement drawn up covering the sale and this is now in the hands of Mr. Slosburg's attorney, who is examining it and the abstract. It is expected that the deal will be finally closed Saturday. The purchaser was formerly engaged in the meat business. He has bought considerable property in a quiet way in recent years.
The Building & Loan association will occupy quarters in the McCaigue building, which was recently purchased by the association.

Man Held for Death of Mrs. Sam Riegleman

E. M. Heigho, President of Railroad is Charged with Creating Fatal Quarrel.
On the grounds that he flourished a revolver and created a disturbance which caused over-excitement and death to Mrs. Samuel Riegleman, wife of the Omaha motorcycle policeman, E. M. Heigho, president of the P. & I. N. railroad, is held under a charge of manslaughter at Welsch, Neb. The information reached Omaha Friday in a letter from Policeman Riegleman, in which he asked for a leave of absence until September 1, in order to attend the preliminary hearing of Heigho, which is going on now.
Mrs. Riegleman was on a vacation for her health as an invalid with heart trouble at the home of her son-in-law, Wesley Barton, cashier of the First National bank at Welsch, when her death occurred.
According to the report, Heigho had just returned from Resort, Idaho, on the day of the death, August 4. He is alleged to have called at the Barton home and opened an altercation with Mr. Barton with the charge that Mrs. Barton had circulated injurious reports concerning the character of Mrs. Heigho. In the midst of the altercation, while a friend of Heigho stood near, a member of the Barton household, including Mrs. Riegleman, came to the scene. Heigho drew forth a gun, it is alleged. He is said to have used vile language and made violent threats, and finally to have departed, leaving the objects of his attack in a state of excitement.
Mrs. Riegleman died suddenly a short time after the affair. Thereupon Mr. Barton filed a charge of manslaughter against Heigho. The hearing was begun August 2. Heigho is a member of the Idaho militia and a member of Governor Brady's staff. According to Riegleman the Idaho governor is making an investigation of the affair.

Continuance on Injunction Suit

Hearing of Suit Against Mayor and City is Continued to Next Friday.
The hearing of the injunction suit brought against Mayor Dahlman and the city of Omaha in the crooked paving case has been continued until Friday morning, August 19, by agreement of the attorneys. The petition asks that Mayor Dahlman's veto of the crooked paving ordinance be declared illegal and that he be enjoined to sign and approve the ordinance. The hearing will be before Judge Sutton, Dan Butler, city clerk, and Acting Mayor Brucker have filed a motion to vacate the restraining order on the grounds that the court has no jurisdiction, that the facts set forth in the petition are without foundation and that there is no cause for action.
Stoecker is not the greatest success in the world as a platform orator, and some kind friend made a suggestion. The result of that suggestion was the arrival in Omaha of a visitor who can speak German as well as English. Recently, this gentleman has been making addresses on behalf of "Mines Herr Stoecker" with an eloquence and an earnestness that has put the other candidates on the anxious seat. The friendly orator has used his powers on crowds wherever he could reach them, and Stoecker is said to be entirely satisfied that he has struck the right system of campaigning.

RAIN FALLS WHERE NEEDED

Heavy Downpour in Western Portion of Nebraska Brings Joy to the Farmers.
Heavy rains fell over several portions of Nebraska Thursday night, the parts of the state receiving the downpour luckily being the drier places. At St. Francis and at Eckley on the Burlington a rain of 2 inches and 2.5 inches was reported and at Heulekman 1 inch of rain fell. These towns are in the far west corn portion of the state and were badly in need of rain as the corn was dry.

City National After Water

Big Boring Machine at Work Under Sidewalk on Harvey Street Side of New Building.
A four-ton weight steadily dropping a few feet in bore as it way into the bowels of the earth beside the City National bank building. The bore is being sent down on the Harvey street side of the building near the Lewis saloon and a depth of seventy feet has been reached. The drill is still going through clay and it is expected to strike rock at ninety feet.
The well will be sunk an estimated depth of 120 feet and will cost $5,000. Its effect on the artesian wells of the Young Men's Christian association and the Rome hotel will be watched with interest by those institutions. Occasionally the sinking of a few wells cuts off entirely the flow of others in the same neighborhood, but the more likely result is that the pressure will
