Some Things You Want to Know

The German Advance—The Tariff as a Factor

Great as was the political genius of Bismarck, he would not have been able to unite Germany into a compact imperial state had it not been for the tariff. The German union or Zollverein, formed between 1818 and 1836, made Prussia the center of commercial Germany by consent of all the German states but Austria, long before any of the non-Prussian states would have tolerated a suggestion of Prussian political dominancy. The customs Parliament, or Zollparlament, which met in Berlin in 1842 for its immediate purpose the revision of the treaties constituting the Zollverein. It was composed of two chambers, the upper one representing the several states and the lower composed of deputies chosen by universal suffrage of the people.
It was the first national assembly in Germany which recognized both the principle of state sovereignty and the doctrine of popular control of government, and was modeled frankly on the lines of the American congress. In it was represented all of the states except Austria, and all of the German people except the Austrians.
It did revise the constitution of the Zollverein. It also did much more. It proved to the south Germans that their commercial interests were too much in common with those of the northern states to permit of further political differences. It furnished an object lesson in the practical workings of a national Parliament. The Zollparlament resulted in the imperial constitution of the German empire just as the Annapolis convention on interstate commerce resulted in the constitution of the United States of America.
It was tariff reform that forged the chain which for the first time bound up the material interests of all Germans outside of Austria than those of one nation. When that economic union was accomplished, nothing remained for Bismarck to do but to provide the dramatic situation which would appeal to the patriotic imagination of the people to bring about political union. That price of state managers, two years later, made some orators in a telegram sent out from Bonn, the theatrical situation had planned resulted, the Zollverein became as empire, and the Zollparlament an imperial legislature.
A certain German publicist, Karl Marx by name, developed the theory of economic determinism in furthering his propaganda of socialism. It hardly can be said that he discovered the fact that the broad-and-outer question was at the bottom of all political and social relations. There is evidence to show that conduct and King Solomon subscribed to this theory some years before there was a Germany to produce a Karl Marx. But it was not Confucius in his philosophy nor Solomon in his wisdom, nor yet Karl Marx

GREAT CHURCH MEET NEARS

Eucharistic Congress at Montreal to Be Stupendous.
INNUMERABLE PRELATES ON WAY
Three Princes of the Church, Archbishops, Bishops and Countless Priests to Attend Montreal Affair Next Month.
By D. V. FRANCIS.
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(Special to the Bee).—Three princes of the church headed by the pope's legate, Cardinal Vannutelli, 200 bishops and archbishops representing the whole Christian world, priests of lower rank innumerable, and not less than 200,000 Catholic laymen will be in Montreal next month in a body with the international eucharistic conference.
It will be the greatest gathering of communicants of a single church ever seen in the western hemisphere, if not in the world. The congress will last five days, and will be formally opened at St. James' cathedral on September 9, when the archbishop of Montreal, surrounded by the entire hierarchies of Canada and the United States, bishops and archbishops from England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, South America, Mexico, etc., and Cardinal Gibbons and Logue, will receive Cardinal Vannutelli, who has been appointed by Pius X with plenary powers to act as his representative a legate.
Cardinal in London.
The cardinal and his retinue will leave Outead on August 28 for London. There he will be joined by archbishop of Westminster, Mgr. Bourne, the Duke of Norfolk and the delegation of English Catholics. A few days later they will sail from Liverpool on the steamer Empress of Ireland for Quebec.
Mgr. Thomas O'Shaughnessy will head the reception committee that will go to sea to meet the papal legate. The mayor and other officials of Montreal will welcome him at a formal reception to be held at the city hall on the night of September 5.
Chief features of the congress will be the midnight mass at Notre Dame church, at which 50,000 men will receive communion; the pontifical mass at St. James' cathedral, with the papal legate as celebrant, and the eucharistic procession on the afternoon of Sunday, September 11, with which the congress will be closed.
A pontifical mass in the open air at Fletcher's field on September 9 will be another feature. On September 11 there will be a pontifical mass at St. James' cathedral. Cardinal Gibbons will be the preacher and Cardinal Logue will be the celebrant.
Great Event of Season.
The same afternoon will occur the crowning incident, a public procession in honor of the blessed sacrament, which will be carried by the cardinal legate, surrounded by the Canadian premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Duke of Norfolk, the city officials,

MUSICAL CLUBS OF WOMEN

One Hundred Thousand Members Are Now Forming.
The women's musical club follows the flag. Skimming through the pages of the latest musical directory, the equatorial eye discovered the existence of the Ladies' Amateur Musical club in Skagway and Nome, Alaska and Guam, Eiven Honolulu and Ponce, in Porto Rico, are in the record. But, sad to relate, the heavenly art, which soothes the savage breast, is as yet without classified disciples in Jolo and Samar and a few other haunts of our untamed little brown brothers.
A little arithmetical persistence reveals the numbers of these women's musical clubs in the record, with an aggregate membership of 100,000 and a geographical universality covering every urban community of importance under the Stars and Stripes.
The women's musical club is entirely indigenous to American life and it is to the credit of the American woman that, having attained leisure she has employed it in acquiring higher standards of living. 1,000,000 enrolled club women of America are an evidence of this ideal and music, the most widely set upon as an avenue of growth in the feminine campaign for culture.
With growth in membership and increased musical activities, the musical club, particularly in the larger cities, has evolved beyond a parochial influence. Through its engagement of native artists and foreign virtuosi, the support of the great orchestras of the country, when on tour, and its promotion of music festivals, the music club exerts a potent influence on our national musical development—John Warren in the Delicater.
The Glad Hand
removes liver flatulence and bowel stoppage with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless regulators. 50c. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.

Judges of the courts, etc., who will act as a personal guard.

This procession will march through four miles of streets, under forty triumphal arches.
The principal discourses at the cathedral, Notre Dame church, St. Patrick's and the public meetings, will be made by Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli, Cardinal Logue, Cardinal Gibbons, Mgr. Bruchet of Montreal; Mgr. Bourne of Westminster; Bishop Heyleen of Namur, Belgium, who is a permanent president of the congress; Mgr. Trochet, a famous French orator; Archbishop O'Connell of Boston; Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis; Rev. A. P. Doyle, C. S. P.; the Abbe Duchesne, Father Bernard Vaughan and Rev. Thomas J. Campbell, S. J.

Mission Work in India.

Rev. J. H. Gardner, a missionary, whose fields are in India, in speaking of the mission work among Hindus, said that the people of India are rapidly becoming Christianized, and that the Methodist church is one of the leading churches in the conversion of India, and at present has eight conferences in that country.
Mr. Gardner has been engaged in missionary work in India for the past twenty-six years, being connected with the South India conference. "A great deal of opposition has been encountered by the missionaries," said Mr. Gardner, "and they have been persecuted greatly, especially by the native police. At one time, when I was preaching in the streets of one of the cities of India, I was stopped by the police and told not to preach there any more. I immediately reported the matter to the police commissioner, from whom I received the reply that if I did not wish to be molested I would have to cease preaching, which I refused to do."
"In India the task of converting the natives is very hard, for those who become converted are regarded as outcasts by their people and are forced to give up their families, friends and relatives. This difficulty is overcome to a great extent because of the caste system which exists in that country. The great laboring and agricultural classes, comprising about 80,000,000, are regarded as outcasts by the other classes, and it is among these that the work of the missionaries is most easily carried on.
"The prevalence of doubt and unbelief places a very heavy burden of responsibility upon the preacher and pastor. He serves the Christian intelligencer. He is constantly confronted with the problem how best to meet and withstand the insidious assaults upon the verities of our holy religion, which characterize much of the literature of the day, and notably the secular press. The temptation is strong to state and combat erroneous views in the pulpit and to indulge in polemic preaching. This is a mistake.
"Desirable and necessary as may be the safeguarding of his people against shipwrecking of faith, and laudable as may be the desire to meet the difficulties which may be troubling them, the wise and judicious pastor ever avoids the controversial attitude. The stating of error in the pulpit, though it be for the purpose of refuting it, has a two-fold danger. It may

Nothing to Disturb Faith.

"There is nothing in the two stories of the creation of the world and the creation of man," continued Rev. Mr. Williams, "to unsettle the faith of anyone who is disposed to believe in this book. The world is a product of the divine intelligence. Man is a product of earth and sky. The Bible is not to be blamed for the religious wars any more than the man who invents a labor saving machine for the misery and poverty produced among working people as a result of his invention. The scientists of today have accepted as one of their axioms that 'God is immense in creation,' and I am convinced that the time is not far distant when the differences and unbeliefs will be settled."
Glove Mending.
When a tiny hole appears in a black or white kid glove, instead of sewing it cover it on both sides with a bit of coarse plaster and press the two pieces closely together until fast bound. The hole will not again show itself, and the method is easier and better than sewing on kid.
