REPUBLICANS ARE ACTIVE

Workers Are Busy on All Sides Urging People to Vote.

GOVERNOR COMES HERE TONIGHT

Speaks at Creighton Institute—Dahlman to Make Whirlwind Campaign Over City Monday Night in an Auto.

Everywhere through the city the republican workers have awakened to the need for vigilance to hold their vote for the republican candidates, and while the Shalensberger and Dahlman crowds are hurrying and hustling at meetings the republican ward and precinct captains are getting in some energetic work of their own. Numerous republican meetings are scheduled, aside from that of the Fifth ward club and some other neighborhood gatherings, but personal visiting is to be done to impress on the voters the need of getting to the polls on Tuesday, as early as possible.

With the enormous blanket ballots to be handled, voting is bound to be very slow, and the men who vote early will take no chances on being held off by a long line after 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Merely to fold one of these ballots of democratic invention takes as long as it ordinarily does to vote. To handle one in the small booths is going to be a burdensome task for most men, and those who put it off find themselves blocked and shut out at the end.

There seems to be a disposition among large employers and business men generally to permit their employes the necessary time to vote, as provided by state law. This is particularly true where the employes have had a chance to see the blanket ballot and realize its foolishness. Unless the workers in factories, stores and shops can vote during the day, a large percentage of them are going to be disfranchised. The Dahlman managers have laid their plans accordingly and will have a brigade of carriages and automobiles on the go all day long, to get their vote in.

Urging to Vote Early.
The early voter makes sure of getting in is their motto and is likely to be adopted by all factions, where sufficient interest has been aroused. Business men who are not openly for Dahlman are to be left in peace, as they are largely republican in affiliation, but it is doubtful if any organization ever had in this county such a complete list of their voting strength as the Dahlman men have in their possession. Tons of printed matter have been sent out, and a special batch of letters will go into the mails Sunday night. Men have been selected and instructed from every precinct, and in some wards from every block, to get out the blanket vote. Tom's Flynn and his associates are expressing supreme confidence that their organization will do the work for Dahlman and make him the nominee.

After all the Votes.
From the line-up at the rooms in the Omaha National Bank building it appears conclusively that the Dahlman crowd has the old ward and precinct captains of the Omaha Democracy with it, almost to a man.

On Sunday a large crowd of the mayor's friends is going by train to Brainerd, in Butler county, where the mayor is to address a big picnic crowd on Sunday afternoon. Monday afternoon another crowd will go out in automobiles to meet Dahlman

The movement is not a consolidated one as it was in the neighborhood of the traders north, but Wilson says he is going to do everything to advertise his block and hopes that in time the other blockbusters will fall in line with him.

MOST OF STATE IS SOAKED

Nearly Entire State is Blessed by Fine Downpour.

RAILROADS REPORT BIG FALL

Southern and Central Sections, Which Were Driest, Get Heaviest Fall, While Other Portions Also Get Share—Saves Crops.

Four and three-quarters inches of rain soaked the land around McCook in Nebraska, with lighter rains in other parts of the state Friday night. Holdrege had one-half inch, Norton one-third, Oberlin three inches, McDonald two inches, Wilson one inch, Greeley Center 2.38 inches, Erickson one and one-half inches, Sargent two inches, Lincoln two inches. Besides these points the Burlington reports indicate a good heavy rain over all the southern and central parts of the state, one of the driest portions up to date.

The Northwestern road had rain all along its line east of Long Pine and fairly heavy in most places, with good rains north of Omaha where the crops are in need of it.

Rain on the Union Pacific road fell over the central part of the state and on a part of the road just west of Omaha. The heaviest rains of the summer are reported in several places.

"From August 15 on we expected that the rains would come heavier and more often until the fall rainy season, but we must admit that we are surprised by these early downpours," said L. W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the Burlington.

All the roads are bearing up under the same glad surprise, as it will mean thousands of dollars in their pockets in shipments of grain to the farmers whose crops are saved. Just now the worry is to get enough freight cars lined up for the big demand.

Burlington officials admit that they could use a few more cars, although they say that at present they have enough. With the increased acreage of the Nebraska corn crop in the state is going growing belt, the crop of this state is going to be a large one. Other Nebraska roads, but all admit that their facilities will be taxed. The Union Pacific, Rock Island and Northwestern all have a large grain trade and demand for all the cars to be had is being made by the Omaha offices.

HEAVY RAIN AT ANSELY FRIDAY

Fall, Estimated at Five Inches, Floods Main Street.

ANSELY, Neb., Aug. 13.—The Modern Woodmen of America's annual picnic was held at Anselmy Friday and 2,000 people were present. Everything was moving along nicely when a heavy rain storm came about 3 p. m. The heaviest fall of rain ever recorded at one time here fell this afternoon. Many reports are coming in, but enough is known to indicate much damage. All the business houses and cellars in Anselmy were flooded. The main street was a torrent river three and a half to four and half feet deep. Many bridges are washed away. A fall of five inches is estimated. To the northwest and towards Berner the storm was heavier and more damage to crops occurred. During the storm lightning was terrific.

Otis Hedy in Bad Condition

Man Who Was Shot by Woman Grows Worse at the Hospital and May Die.

Otis Hedy, the man who was shot in the head by Mrs. Bertha Mott several days ago, was reported in a worse condition Saturday than previously, and his death is possible. Mrs. Mott, who alleges the man made an insulting remark upon her, which prompted her to shoot, is being held at the station pending the outcome of the injured man's wound.

The woman spends her time reading a Bible without ceasing.

Auto Runs Down Motor Cyclist

Occupant Gets Out and Whips Would Be Assistant When He Follows After Accident.

Speeding on Twenty-fourth street last night a big red automobile, with two women in the rear seat and a tall, stout man and a small man in the front seat, ran down the motor cyclist at the intersection with Ames avenue. The cyclist was Fred Jacobson, who was a witness of the occurrence, mounted his motor cycle and made after the speeders, who did not even pause to see the condition of the victims of the collision. He followed them to Lothrop street where the auto turned east and stopped after making the turn.

The bigger man of the two got out of the machine and, rushing at Jacobson, who had slowed up, pulled him off the machine and hit him on the face. He then jumped a fence and escaped in the darkness. The auto proceeded east on Lothrop street and it is surmised that it picked up this man at some prearranged point.

BOARD TO PAY FOR BRIDGES

County Commissioners Reach Partial Agreement with Papillion Drainage District.

An agreement has been entered into between the Board of County Commissioners and the Papillion drainage district, under which the board will construct bridges and culverts over ditches which cross Douglas county roads. The district agrees to pay for the work by September 15. The $700 assessment against the county and the district junction suit which has been appealed to the supreme court are the two points which yet remain unsettled between the county and the district.

BAD BUTTER CONFISCATED

Uncle Sam's Men Get a Big Lot from Marshelltown.

CONTAINS TOO MUCH WATER

Manufacturers May Have the Butter Back After Removing the Impurities and Paying Tax and Penalty.

"Folks can get plenty of moisture in butter, sometimes, even if they cannot get it from the skins," remarked Internal Revenue Agent Reed, as he proceeded to wrap up written notations around a job lot of tin cans on his desk.

The cans contained samples from four lots of tub butter taken in charge by one of the field agents of the department, at Marshelltown, Ia., Friday. The tubs contained in all 2,250 pounds of butter. On examination the butter was found to contain from 17 to 21 per cent of moisture, which is illegal. The moisture content of butter may not legally exceed 16 per cent, and the best butter contains only 9 to 12 per cent.

In the case of a seizure of this kind, the government collects a tax of 19 cents a pound on the butter and a manufacturer's tax of $600 on each individual lot of adulterated stuff. In spite of this, some men in the butter business are continually taking chances with Uncle Sam's field agents if they get away with a shipment or two of the overloaded butter—whether cottonseed oil or water be used—they can afford to pay the $600 and the 19 cents a pound and still be ahead of the game, with butter selling along at its present high price. Some dealers have been frank enough to whisper this view to government men, and then have a good laugh.

May Have Butter Back.

Where adulterated butter is seized the owners can reclaim it, after paying the penalty, take out the excess water or other adulterant, under the supervision of a government agent, and then dispose of the legitimate product; or they can let it remain in the hands of the government agent, when it will be sold after a certain time for what it will bring. Carload lots have been seized on the eastern and western coasts very recently, and only a few days ago one carload of suspected butter was released in Omaha, after proper reparation had been made to the government and the stuff worked over.

The overloaded butter seized at Marshelltown was the product of creameries in that vicinity. Internal Revenue Agent Reed says the Omaha butter makers are all complying pretty strictly with the law. Other parties sometimes buy the product of Omaha creameries and proceed to increase the quantity by injecting water or cottonseed oil, but the legitimate creamery men take a hand in stopping this practice wherever they can locate the offenders.

ICE CREAM CONES SEIZED

On Complaint of District Attorney Marshall Confiscated.

ALLEGED CONFECTION IS IMPURE

District Attorney Howell Gets Order from Lincoln and Has 150,000 Cones Seized—In First Step in Government Action.

The first step toward stopping the shipping of adulterated ice cream cones into Omaha was taken late Friday afternoon. On request of the secretary of agriculture, United States District Attorney Howell went to Lincoln and secured an order from Judge T. C. Munger for the libeling and seizure of a shipment of ice cream cones made by the Star Water company of Oklahoma City to the Waterloo Creamery company of Omaha.

The cones, to the number of 150,000, were stored in the custody of Kennedy & Parsons, at 1017 North Seventeenth street, where Deputy Marshal Henry P. Haze and a representative of the Department of Agriculture found them Saturday morning and took them in charge. In a case of this kind it seems there is nothing to do but destroy the cones, which are alleged to contain boracic acid as a preservative. This is the first case of a libel being placed on ice cream cones in this district. District Attorney Howell says similar seizures are being made in other parts of the country, and the intention of Secretary

Wilson and his staff seems to be to discourage the putting out of any cones containing a preservative. The Oklahoma City concern appears to be a large shipper of the cones now under suspicion.

NEGRO IN FIGHT ON STREET CAR

He Causes Trouble Over Fare and Gets Thrashing and Arrest in Short Order.

As a result of an altercation with the conductor of a North Twenty-fourth street car, Clay Johnson was a badly beaten spectacle at the police station Friday night. It was reported the negro held out a handful of silver money to the conductor, telling him to take a fare from it. When the conductor declined to do so and insisted that the negro hand over a single coin, the latter grew troublesome and abusive.

The motorman later joined the conductor and the two administered a sound thrashing to the passenger. Johnson was brought before Judge Crawford Saturday morning and his case was continued until August 17.

TWO MEN CAUGHT IN THEFT

Steve Maloney Arrests Suspects Making Off with Two Baby Buggies from Store.

Detective Steve Maloney arrested Smith and John Donovan when they attempted to make off with two baby buggies from the Beach & Rynspan store Saturday afternoon. The men at first declared they were delivering the perambulators, but at the station later confessed they had stolen them.
