LINCOLN MEN FOR HAYWARD
Over Hundred Leading Citizens Form Big Boosters Club.
OUT FLATFOOTED FOR CANDIDATE
Republicans Recent Policy of Opposition and Will Put in Today in Activity in Today's Own Town.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Aug. 15.—(Special.)—Resenting the disgraceful campaign which has been conducted by the "Lincoln men" against William Hayward, the business men of Lincoln today adopted resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Hayward. These men will turn out to the polls and register a protest against dirty politics by voting for Hayward. The resolutions adopted with the names of the men who signed them are as follows:

"Do it resolved, That we have not forgotten the noble fighting record of Mr. William Hayward for fidelity to Lincoln and her interests. In the permanent location of the state fair, in the contest for the republican party, in the university matter, and in every effort for the betterment of Lincoln we know that he has been devoted in his service rendered effectively and earnestly.

"We further recognize that in congress our city will need a man who is big enough, strong enough and well enough equipped to cope with any antagonistic conditions which may arise, and we know that William Hayward is such a man and know him to possess the ability and the experience required of our congressman.

"From an acquaintance of many years since he has resided in our city as a student in the university, as an officer in the volunteer and in the National Guard, and as the campaign manager for the republican party, we have learned to recognize his sterling honesty, clean character, high sense of honor and ability to make good wherever placed. We recognize him as a friend of Lincoln and all her people and interests and commend him for the able support of our citizens at the coming primary as candidate for the republican nomination for congress."

Brian States Position.
His attention being called to an item in the Albin News, to the effect that the editor did not know how L. G. Brian stood on the question of the issuance of federal licenses to sell liquor in dry territory, Mr. Brian said:
"If I am elected to congress I shall favor legislation, which shall prohibit the issuance of a federal license or the selling of federal liquor stamps in dry territory. I suppose every citizen is opposed to this. I would never be in favor of giving a license to sell liquor to a bootlegger. If a community votes dry then I certainly should object to the government making it possible for a bootlegger to do business there. I was never asked about this question before as I did not know that any one favored having federal liquor licenses to bootleggers.

Osborne Held in Connection with Fremont Murder
Blair Man Alleged to Have Been Seen with Dead Man—Can Remember Nothing of Movements.

FREMONT, Neb., Aug. 15.—(Special Telegram.)—Drunkness is the excuse given by George Osborne of Blair for his poor memory of his movements in the Fremont railroad yards Friday night when John Hector was murdered. Osborne remembers his visit in Fremont up to a point where he is alleged to have talked with Hector and another man, in which conversation he suggested to Hector that the two go down to the yards after the saloons closed and continue drinking. Of this conversation, or of any such meeting Osborne can remember nothing, according to his testimony before Sheriff Bauman and County Attorney Cook this morning. He admits walking through the railroad yards Friday evening to catch a train for Arlington, but he remembers no details of his trip.

Osborne was arrested at Blair last evening and brought to Fremont by freight, reaching here at 3:30 o'clock this morning. He will be held for the inquest tomorrow. Osborne is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Osborne of Blair and has been in police court for drunkenness and fighting on several occasions.

What became of $100 which Hector had in Hooper Thursday is one question of the case. Marshall Crawford of that village claims the peddler had near that amount then, but he had only 15 cents when the body was found Saturday morning.

Postmaster of Fullerton and Former County Judge Suddenly Stricken.

FULLERTON, Neb., Aug. 15.—(Special Telegram.)—J. W. McClelland, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Nash county, died suddenly here early this morning of heart failure. He was postmaster of this city at the time of his death and had served as county attorney, as county judge and had been a member of the school board. He was also for many years the local correspondent of The Bee.

Politically few men in this part of the county created as great an influence as Mr. McClelland. He is survived by a wife and two children, P. J. McClelland and Miss Emma McClelland. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. Marie Schipper, 78 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Byers, 1200 O street, Sunday morning. The men in Frederick in 1877 one of the party said that he had a porcelain mug with a picture upon it of Washington, and under it the inscription "George Washington, Esq., General-in-Chief of the United States Army and Marshal of France." Col. Kimmel said he would write to his friend, Mr. G. W. P. Curtis, the then surviving member of the Washington household, and ask him if it were true that Washington was an officer in the French army. Mr. Curtis promptly responded that it was true and gave the proofs. It became necessary to give Washington this commission in order to confer upon him authority over the Count de Rochambeau, who was an old lieutenant general, and who could only take orders from a marshal or the king in person. When the French troops were to be sent to America the difficulty about the command arose, and it was settled this way upon the suggestion of Col. Laurens, the special ambassador to France. Mr. Curtis does not seem to have been mentioned in any of the standard "Lives of Washington." But Mr. Curtis' evidence is strong, and the fact that Virginia is presenting to France a statue of a high French official is most interesting.—Baltimore Sun.

Dr. Jean Whinnery Dies in Far East; Cause Unknown
Omaha Passed Away July 29 in Line of Duty—Family Just Now Informed.

Dr. Jean C. Whinnery, eldest son of Dr. J. G. Whinnery of Omaha, died July 29 in the Philippines. Information to this effect was learned here yesterday for the first time by relatives. A telegram to the War department at Washington brought little additional information except that Dr. Whinnery "died in line of duty."

Dr. Whinnery's father, Dr. J. C. Whinnery, will not know until today of the death of his son. Dr. Whinnery, ar, has been living on a homestead in the northwestern part of the state, and it was not possible to reach him by wire. But he was due to meet his wife at O'Neil today and the news will then be given to him.

It is probable that Miss Gertrude Whinnery, a sister, who is in the Philippines, is also ignorant of her brother's death. Miss Whinnery accompanied her brother, who is a contract dental surgeon of the army, on the islands on his last trip, and herself entered upon work as a government school teacher. Her station was 500 miles from her brother's, both being in the island of Luzon.

Dr. Jean C. Whinnery was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and became connected with his army immediately upon finishing professional studies. He had planned to give up army work as soon as this term was ended and to come to Omaha to reside.

A disturbance that has prevailed for several days over Japan will move eastward and reach British Columbia, Washington and Oregon by the end of the week.

WASHINGTON WAS A MARSHAL
First President of the United States Held Commission in the French Army.

The presentation by the state of Virginia to the republic of France of a reproduction of Houdon's famous statue of Washington is interesting in many ways. The commission of Virginians who will make the presentation to the French minister of foreign affairs will have a pleasant duty to perform. Washington was not only held in the highest esteem by the French people during his lifetime and in the intervening years, but there is good authority for the belief that he held a commission in the French army as an officer of the highest rank—that of marshal. In a forthcoming history of Frederick county, Md., the evidence in support of this is given. This evidence is in the form of a letter from Mr. G. W. Park Curtis to Col. Anthony Kimmel, of Frederick county. In a conversation between several gentlemen in Frederick in 1877 one of the party said that he had a porcelain mug with a picture upon it of Washington, and under it the inscription "George Washington, Esq., General-in-Chief of the United States Army and Marshal of France." Col. Kimmel said he would write to his friend, Mr. G. W. P. Curtis, the then surviving member of the Washington household, and ask him if it were true that Washington was an officer in the French army. Mr. Curtis promptly responded that it was true and gave the proofs. It became necessary to give Washington this commission in order to confer upon him authority over the Count de Rochambeau, who was an old lieutenant general, and who could only take orders from a marshal or the king in person. When the French troops were to be sent to America the difficulty about the command arose, and it was settled this way upon the suggestion of Col. Laurens, the special ambassador to France. Mr. Curtis does not seem to have been mentioned in any of the standard "Lives of Washington." But Mr. Curtis' evidence is strong, and the fact that Virginia is presenting to France a statue of a high French official is most interesting.—Baltimore Sun.

Prize Chickens Plentiful.
MASON CITY, Ia., Aug. 15.—(Special.)—It is highly gratifying to hunters in this part of the state that this dry season has played into their hands. Prairie chickens have had a splendid opportunity to lay their eggs, set and hatch their young. There has not been a hard storm this summer to destroy the eggs or nest or interfere with the growth of the little chickens. From all parts where there is prairie, reports come in that chickens are thicker this year than they have been for years.
