

SCHOOL TEACHER KILLS SELF

Miss Olga Andreen Imitates Her Sister at Suicide.

SHE HAD BEEN KEPT GUARDED

Clings Into the Pantry Window Where the Gas Stove Had Been Placed, and Turns On All the Jets.

Overcome by the long brooding over the suicide of her sister and by an initiative impulse to likewise take her life, Miss Olga Andreen, the young school teacher, succeeded in destroying herself after several attempts at her home, 1501 South Sixteenth street, Monday morning.

For several weeks past Miss Andreen had made frequent efforts to kill herself, it is said, and to guard against the despondent woman's mania, all the gas jets were stuffed so their force would be weak, and the kitchen gas range was removed from that room into the pantry.

Answering the summons, Police Surgeons Johnson and Harris, and the first arriving Mrs. Andreen, but their brief efforts upon the younger woman showed them she had been dead for some time.

So far as it is known Miss Andreen had no serious sorrow other than the memory of her younger sister who took her life two years ago. It seemed she could not thrust the thought of the dead girl from her mind, and in the mental strain gradually fell into the desperate desire to end her life as the other girl had done.

Was Popular Teacher. Miss Andreen had a happy career before the tragic taking off of her sister, two and a half years ago, and in proof of the high popularity she held, was one of the two teachers who were sent on a tour abroad as winners of a local newspaper contest.

Miss Andreen graduated from the Omaha High school in 1897 with highest honors. She graduated from the Pease normal school in 1897, and, after a short enrollment on the waiting list, she received an appointment at the Forest school. After a month she was transferred to the old Dodge street school, which is now occupied by the city and county jails.

Several years ago Miss Andreen was chosen with Miss Clara Cooper as the most popular couple of teachers in the city, and was rewarded with a trip to Europe.

Aged Pioneer Called to Rest Mrs. Mary E. Gratton, Who Has Lived in Omaha Since 1868, is Dead.

Mrs. Mary E. Gratton, one of the earliest residents of Omaha, and the first president of the Nebraska Woman's Christian Temperance union, died at Des Moines Sunday afternoon.

The aged woman had a host of friends. She was one of the charter members of the Westminster Presbyterian church and for a long time was secretary of the 44th street mission.

The body will be brought to Omaha this afternoon and held for funeral from the residence of Mrs. Gratton's son, Charles H. Gratton, at 2109 Florence boulevard, Tuesday afternoon. The funeral is to take place at 2:30 Tuesday and interment will be at Forest Lawn cemetery.

The late Mrs. Gratton came to Omaha in 1859. She was married to George Gratton in 1854. Her husband died in 1881. There were three children, one of whom, Anna, died in 1882. William E., of Des Moines, with whom Mrs. Gratton was residing at the time of her death, and Charles H., of Omaha, are the only survivors.

"CHET" CRAWFORD IS RICH Son of Pioneer Theatrical Man Has Accumulated a Million Dollars.

Chester ("Chet") Crawford, son of L. C. Crawford, who once conducted the theater in Omaha, has lately grown rich, according to the statement of the New York Telegram, which says:

"Within the last few days there has returned to New York Chester ("Chet") Crawford, son of L. C. Crawford, of the Chamberlin & Crawford circuit, now reputed to be a millionaire.

"Young Crawford's business success in the two years he has been abroad has been sensational. The foundation of his fortune was laid in roller skating rinks. When the craze broke out afresh in this city, Crawford boarded a steamer for London, organized a stock company, took a lease of the Olympic there and soon was floating over weekly profits of $5,000.

Just at present he is planning the erection of a White City at Marseilles, and after a brief visit in this country he will return to Paris, carrying with him the equipment of several dog and pony circuses."

MILWAUKEE EARNING MORE

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Shows Big Increase.

SURPLUS MAY REACH MILLION Report Just Issued Shows June Earnings to Be Way Up and Annual Report is Promised to Be Considerably Ahead.

Reports from the Milwaukee have just been issued, showing that the earnings of the railroad for June bring the dividend totals of the year to a surplus of from $300,000 to $1,000,000 above that of last year. The increase, according to the report, will hold as being outside the income of $1,800,000 which comes from the charge made against the Puget Sound railroad for the use of plants and for proportionate expenses in the conduct of the Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad.

It is announced that the next annual report will show the Puget Sound railroad making a respectable return on the money invested in it. It is expected the younger line will furnish $4,000,000 interest on the first $100,000,000 of first mortgage bonds turned over to it by the parent company.

Some months ago the Milwaukee filed with the stock exchange an income account for eight months of last year, in which income from investments was given as $4,225,716, against only $1,960,000 for the whole of the previous year. This great gain was largely the result of interest payments from the Puget Sound, but to just what extent it has been impossible to ascertain. If this item for eight months includes only the accruals of that period the investment income for the entire year should approximate $8,000,000, and in that case the Milwaukee would have covered its dividends beyond all question.

New Offices at Salt Lake. The Oregon Short Line has planned a mammoth structure for general office purposes in Salt Lake City, Utah. It will be large enough to house the entire general office and it is now learned that the engineers have received orders to make their plans for a building that will meet the requirements of the big company for many years to come.

Robber Suspect Picked Up Ray Piper and His Wife Forfeited Bonds and it is Supposed Have Gone. Ray Piper, who was only recently released as a suspect in the Johnson kidnap, with his wife was arrested Sunday by Detectives Helffeldt and Donahue. When released last week he was given the chance and advised to leave the city, and when seen by Helffeldt and Donahue the two were immediately brought in. They furnished $25 bonds, which were forfeited Monday, and it is thought that they have gone.
