Portugal Upon Verge of Bitter Internal Fight

Clerical Plot Uncovered and Possibility that Military Dictatorship May Be Established.

LISBON, Aug. 22.—(By Way of the Frontier.)—The newspapers today print alarming reports of an alleged plot of the clerical government and the establishment of a military dictatorship.

The Seco says the clerical party's strong and growing dissatisfaction with the liberal policy of the government has culminated in the organization of a revolution to overthrow the administration, seize its members and set up a military dictatorship, the first object of which will be to stamp out the republicans.

El Mundo says that several regiments have joined the movement and that Duke of Oporto, the heir apparent of the Portuguese throne, while at the Casino at Caseres last night, was apprised of this fact and took refuge in the fortress.

The paper says also that alarm is general and that the military and naval forces are under arms night and day. While the government refuses to give out any information either confirming or denying the reports, it continues to take the strongest precautions.

The government is greatly disturbed over the intense activity of the republicans in preparing for the general elections which are to be held next Sunday.

The candidates for office, many of them men of prominence, including officers of the army and navy, have entered every constituency in the country. The authorities have searched the homes of a number of republicans and have found stores of arms and ammunition.

It is known that a quantity of rifles and cartridges were being smuggled into the country across the Spanish frontier and that the republicans now are well armed. It is feared that the elections will be marked by disturbances.

No disturbances were reported during the day.
