

FARMS RICHES HOMES REAL ESTATE

ON THIS PAGE ARE REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES

REAL ESTATE FARM AND RANCH LAND FOR SALE Idaho—Continued. IRRIGATED LANDS. FOR FRUIT and farm purposes, water is abundant and ripens are perpetual.

Bargain in Idaho Farms Improved Irrigated and Sub-Irrigated Acre, Dairy and Grain Farm—60 per Acre. 10 Down and $5.55 annually to 1915.

AD R. E. LOANS 5% to 6% PRIVATE MONEY—NO DELAY. GARDNER BROS., Third Floor New York Life, Phone Douglas 952.

YOU must get rich, if you do get rich by using the same methods that have made other men rich. You can't make your own efforts count for enough to get very far ahead of the biggest fellows that you know; much less of those who simply have a head.

NINE TON ALFALFA TO THE ACRE You get this in the Twin Falls country of southern Idaho, 240,000 acres of the most fertile land that lies out of doors.

MINNESOTA. EASTERN MONTANA LAND. Three sections of Dawson county land in one block at a bargain if taken in the next thirty days.

MISSOURI. IN MISSOURI. City, 25 acres southeast of Kansas City, 25 acres fine bottom land, excellent balance four pastures, nicely watered.

MISSOURI. Southern Missouri lands, best values for your money; good crops, mild climate, good water.

MISSOURI. Beautiful Vernon county, Mo. farms for sale, 100 miles south of Kansas City, second largest livestock market in the world.

NEBRASKA. BARGAIN IN FARM. For 60 days special bargain immediate possession if desired. J. T. Campbell, Litchfield, Neb.

NEBRASKA. 400-ACRE well improved Greeley county farm, all good, with 100 acres for quick sale. Easy terms.

NEBRASKA. W. W. MITCHELL, Board of Trade Bldg., Omaha, Neb. LAND INVESTORS, ATTENTION!

Would you buy 100 acres level second bottom land with black soil, 20 miles from Omaha, at $5 per acre, if you believed it would double in price in 3 to 5 years? If so ask us for description. $2.50 cash required.

J. H. DUMONT & SON, "Phone: Douglas 884, 100 Farnam St."

REAL ESTATE NEBRASKA—Continued. BARNYARD—10-acre tract, suitable for poultry, large barn and outbuildings; all new, small farm, farm implements, cow, poultry, incubators and brooders, two miles northwest of Benson, $3,000. Tel. Benson 285. No trades.

NEBRASKA. 200-ACRE ranch for sale near Alliance, Neb.; nearly all corn land. O. P. Wyland, Harlan, Ia.

WASHINGTON COUNTY. 40-acre fruit farm, well improved. Ask for price and terms.

CASS COUNTY. 100 acres gently rolling land; all tillable except 5 acres timber; fair improvements. A rare bargain at $15 per acre.

C. R. COMBS. Rooms 307 and 311 Brandeis Theater Bldg., Phone D. 3915.

OKLAHOMA. 200-ACRE ranch for sale near Alliance, Neb. Nearly all corn land. O. P. Wyland, Harlan, Ia.

OREGON. ADVANTAGES OF OREGON. 32-page book explaining what each of the 34 counties is adapted for; gives amount of government land open to homestead in each county, map attached 21x28, showing new railroad and towns, including eastern and central Oregon in different colors; issued March 1, 1910; latest map in U. S.; gives homestead and desert claim laws, how to secure 320 or 160 acres free; also general description of Oregon. Mailed 25c. Nimmo & Runey, 313 Hamilton Bldg., Portland, Ore.

SOUTH DAKOTA. THE IDEAL HOME OF 60 ACRES, situated in the Big Horn valley, four miles south of Castlewood, the county seat of Hamlin county, South Dakota, 40 acres of deep black soil, ready cultivation; 100 acres in pasture and 10 in the beautiful spring-fed stream, with its sylvan scenes and sparkling waters, deep and pure and filled with fish and game in season.

FARMS IN THE CORN BELT. An improved quarter section in Gregory county, S. D., 4 miles from Burke, 60 acres of improvements; 30 acres under cultivation. Price $20 per acre.

MONEY MAKING 400-acre corn farm out from Sioux Falls; nine-room house, two stories, bath, electric, gas, and water; 40 other buildings; large grove, orchard with 100 trees; 100 acres of land, all cultivated; fenced and cross fenced; telephone, rural mail; 40 per acre under price for acre, sale price never bettered. Write me at once. R. A. Silvia, owner, Sioux Falls, S. D.

DREDED frontier lands, relinquishments town property, business chances and detail information regarding the Standing Rock Indian reservation. Reference, McIntosh State Bank, address, Great Western, Dakota & Lead Co., McIntosh, S. D.

SECTION OF Gregory county, South Dakota, land for sale. This section has timber, running water, feed crops, lots of hay, 90 acres broken, 150 acres in good crops, all fenced, one-half mile from school, this has almost all kinds of wood, and six miles from another; good soil and raising section in Gregory county, South Dakota. Call on or write to Charles Milner, owner, McIntosh, S. D.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY. Do you want to buy a good house? We have it just from the government. We have a lot of these, 100 to 200 acres, and about 20 of them with about 20 buildings now completed in the town on a street that has six city blocks, with excellent water. This townsite includes a school, a church, a hotel and several other buildings. We have a fine stream of water running through it. We have a fine stream of water running through it. We have a fine stream of water running through it.

W. W. MITCHELL, Board of Trade Bldg., Omaha, Neb. LAND INVESTORS, ATTENTION!

REAL ESTATE TEXAS. FOR SALE—500 acres in Linn county, Texas, 30 acres better stock raising land, situated within 5 miles land station 2 1/2 miles. Address Owner, P. O. Box 67, Rockton, Cal.

TEXAS School Lands—Several hundred thousand acres coming on market monthly as ranchmen's leases expire, for sale by state. It is 25 per acre, terms, one-fourth down, balance four years; good farming and fruit lands. Send for postage for further information. Journal Publishing Company, Houston, Tex.

WISCONSIN. 50 ACRES LEVEL LAND, 25 cultivated, balance pasture, 5-room house, large barn, chicken house, spring and trout brook on farm, 2 miles from town, all improvements, $1,500, easy terms. Tom O. Mason, Island City State Bank, Cumberland, Wis.

WYOMING. 20,000 ACRES JUST OPENED. Carey Act lands at Wheatland, Wyo. Obtain a home now that is sure to produce and double in value before you can get water now on the land. Also selling choice farm and stock raising land. Cheyenne, Great alfalfa and grain crops grown here every year. Healthiest climate, pure water. Send for postage for further information. Special State Agents, Cheyenne, Wyo.

SAFETY RAZORS. GILLETTE blades resharpened. We dozen to half dozen. Write for price list to Hawley & Co., Box 16, Omaha, Neb.

SWAPS. $3,500 Stock General Merchandise. 30 miles from railroad, 50 a day business, located on 30-acre well improved ranch, 200 acres at cost and rent ranch with bids, for $3,000 a year. Take good residence in exchange for stock.

W. W. MITCHELL, Board of Trade Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

FOR SALE—Show cases, tables, plate glass cases, partition, wire screens, trucks and other goods. Inquire at the E. F. Smith Co.

SWAPS. 2-ROOM HOUSE and large lot, one block from car line in council bluffs, Ia.; clear, price, $1,000. Will trade for clear land. NOWATA LAND AND LOT CO., 608 New York Life Bldg., Phone Red 1969, Rockton, Cal.

OFFERED FOR SALE. Furniture. BARE burner, large size, nearly new. Call 2555 Spaulding St.

WRITING desk, gold leaf parlor suite. Furnishings used only short time; good as new. Massive brass beds, box springs, hair mattresses, mahogany leather rockers, pedestal dining table, library table, dovetail oriental and domestic rugs, portieres, bric-a-brac, imported paintings, piano, mirrors. Call at once at 328 Chicago St.

NEARLY new Pauline's Malleable range, used about a year, cheap at $25.00. Harney 607.

COMPLETE set of office furniture, desk, chairs, rug, etc. E. F. Smith.

NEW 400 range, used only a few months, will sell for $25, if taken at once. Harney 115.

DINING room, living room, bedroom, kitchen furniture, rug, refrigerator; 5x7 camera; very reasonable price. 225 Howard St.

PARTY leaving city will sacrifice Baby Grand piano for sale. Care of Rev. M. D. Powell, Manchester, Tenn.

HIGH grade Emerson piano, new, Tel. B. 2003.

Typewriters for Rent ALL MAKES. $15 Farnam St., Omaha.

SECOND-hand typewriters sold, repaired. Central Typewriter Exchange, 1607 Farnam Co.

DRUGS at cut prices; freight paid on all orders. Catalogue free. Sherman & McCann, 217 F. & M. Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

FOR SALE—New and second-hand built and put tables. We lead the world in cheap fixtures, cases, payments. Brunswick-Balke-Whitely, 47 S. 16th St.

W. W. MITCHELL, Board of Trade Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

PERSONAL. BOYD HARVEY. Your brother and sisters are anxious to hear from you. You or your friends should write to A. M. Harvey, Topeka, Kan.

SWITCHES from combings, $1.00. Mrs. E. Mathews, 204 Neville Bldg. D 2823.

MASSAGE AND BATHS. Dr. Hittchenhouse, Room 208 Old Boston Store Bldg., 4th floor, elevator entrance, 130 S. 16th.

MAHONGY upright piano for sale; cost new $150.00; NEWMAN'S; leaving city; by reason of offer refused. Address: U. M. B. General Delivery, Omaha.

WE rent and repair all kinds of sewing machines. 15th and Harney St.

STRICTLY private home for confinement, excellent care; babies for adoption. 813 Davenport St.

Rubber Goods. Large line of Rubber Goods. Special Mail Order. C. A. Melcher, DRUG CO. Service.

MAGNETIC treatment. Mrs. Smith, 422 S. 16th St., Omaha, Neb.

YOUNG WOMEN coming to Omaha as strangers are invited to visit the Young Women's Christian association building at Seventeenth and St. Mary's Ave., where they will be directed to suitable boarding places for overnight stays. Look for our traveler's aid at the bus station.

SWITCHES from combings, $1. Tel. Webster 204.

THE SALVATION ARMY solicits cast-off clothing, in fact anything you do not need. Black Hills, 12th and 13th Sts., 1113 St. for cast of collection, to the worthy poor. Call 'phone Douglas 415 and wagon 311.

HINDOO TABLETS will build, break, strengthen. Dr. BELL DRUG CO.

OMAHA Steamers Inc. Range Bldg.

WIGS and toupees for men. Griffin, 217 F. & M. Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

RAILWAY TIME CARD—CONTINUED. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Overland Limited. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

Rocky Mount. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

Chicago Great Western. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

WESTER STATION—Fifteenth and Webster Sts.

Missouri Local. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Louis Express. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Louis Express. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Louis Express. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Louis Express. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha. Leave Omaha 11:15 am. Arrive Chicago 11:30 am.

Most of them escaped across in the Marais des Cygnes, some going in a small boat while others swam.

The invaders went on into Osawatimie and commenced to pillage and burn it. At the houses in the town, with three of four exceptions, were burned. The invaders left town with twelve covered wagons—the filled with men who had left Brown's lead, and most of the others, filled with the property of Osawatimie citizens, made into plunder by the invaders.

As the Missourians approached the town in the morning, David R. Garrison and George Cutler, who had spent the night in the Carr home west of Osawatimie, attempted to escape to the woods of the Pottawatomie and carry the alarm to the town. They were pursued and Garrison was killed and Cutler wounded and left for dead.

The invaders took seven free state prisoners with them, two of whom they shot. The free state men who escaped reassembled at a log house north of the river and the next day removed to the mountain side where they began the building of another camp.

The loss of the Missourians was not generally known. Reid said that it was two killed and a few wounded very badly, and Frederick Brown and Garrison were killed during the battle and William Williams and Charles Keiser after the battle, on the march.

John Brown did not hope to win against such odds. But he did hope to make a show of defense and he did. Reid never met retribution for his wanton attack on a defenseless town—Kansas City Times.

NOVELTIES IN WALKING STICKS. Useful and Ornamental Shapes and Modern Conveniences in

The newest thing in walking sticks is known as the traveler's cane, this being a jointed stick that can be taken apart and packed in small compass or conveniently carried in a trunk or suitcase. The jointing is made in such a way that when set up the cane is as strong as a solid stick and the joints invisible.

The traveler's cane is made in lancewood and in rattan and with a hook or with a capped top, either style to be found in a variety of forms.

The great majority of all the canes sold are still, as they have always been, round, but there are some novelties of canes of other shapes to men who want something different. These are square canes and canes with the stick in triangular and canes six-sided and eight-sided. In various weights and woods there would be found canes in these unusual shapes in more than a dozen styles, a number that might be extended indefinitely. These are made in the style of handle or in the handle. In pimento or in anokwood, two woods coming from Central and South America, these odd shaped canes are usually made and extended in the handle.

There are men who buy a new cane every month and may come to have a great collection of canes, though men who buy of reasonable number like to keep on hand but a few canes. These are made in the style of handle or in the handle. In pimento or in anokwood, two woods coming from Central and South America, these odd shaped canes are usually made and extended in the handle.

Many fine canes are now shod with ferrule tips of horn instead of metal, the horn ferrule being lighter, making a better balanced cane and being noisier when it touches the sidewalk. A novelty in cane heads is of silver made hollow for use as a cigarette case, the cover fitting snugly over the handle. These canes are also made with an additional compartment for matches.

There are many handsome canes that are comparatively inexpensive, or you may pay $100 for a cane. On rare occasions more costly canes are made with jeweled caps or handles. Canes are often bought for gifts and they are often carried for purposes of protection. These canes are made in a large stock than any other style. In hundreds of varieties, and to such a stock new styles are constantly being added.—New York Sun.

It is Colby's Next Move. The other day Secretary Colburn got a letter from H. R. Colby of Waterloo, Ia., editor of the Kimball Daily Farmer, who has just made a trip through Kansas, Colby sought to have a little good natured fun with the Kansas legislator for the two are great friends. So he wrote: "It so happens that I am in the neighborhood of the streams in the hope of finding some muskellunge, and the people are pulling them up like radishes."

Secretary Colburn got another chance to move, as Colburn's reply will testify: "We should try that kind of jokes on the pulling up of the fish-like radishes, except as to a matter of fact, the fish stick up out of the ground five or six feet. Between the semi-weekly showers the sun cures them in such a way that they make fence posts that are more durable than any other style. It is often necessary in reducing their size of their hardness, requires special treatment for sawing them, which abundance would make them less expensive than poorest cottonwood."—Kansas City Journal.

BATTLE OF OSAWATOMIE. Scene of the Most Memorable Contest in Border War About to Be Dedicated. The field of the battle of Osawatimie, to be dedicated this month by Theodore Roosevelt, is not large. Neither were the forces that struggled against one another there on August 30, 1856. But the battle they fought was the most memorable of the border war.

Captain John Brown, Dr. W. W. Updegraff and Captain Cline commanded the defense and General John W. Reid was in charge of the 400 Missourians who were the invaders. After crossing the Marais des Cygnes at Bundy's ford, four miles northwest of Osawatimie, the invaders approached the little pioneer town about daylight. Martin White, a preacher, acted as guide. Frederick Brown, son of John Brown, had planned to return to Lawrence that day. On his way to a neighbor's home he met Reid and White with a small advance guard.

"Good morning, boys; are you going to Lawrence today?" said Brown, as he saluted.

"Why, I know you," replied White, and taking deliberate aim with his rifle, he shot the son of the abolitionist leader dead. Reid, who was a preacher, acted as guide. The word went rapidly around town and reached John Brown half a mile from town. With Cline and Updegraff, he collected the men as best he could. Learning that Reid had a cannon with him, the defenders decided to abandon the stock house and Brown and his "army"—forty-one men in all—took up their position in the timber along the river, on the south side, facing south. Brown had seventeen men on the right. Updegraff had ten men in the center. Cline had fourteen men on the left. In the Emigrant Aid company's mill, further to the left, there was "Pap" Austin, an ex-regular soldier, equipped with a rifle carrying an ounce ball.

When the free state forces were being arranged in the timber, the Missourians were passing within 600 yards of them. Holmes, a volunteer, advanced toward the top of the hill southwest of the town to reconnoiter, and finding the enemy close fired, wounding an invader shortly before retreated to the free state lines and was pursued by the invaders, who formed a line along the high ground where the John Brown monument now stands. Then they fired three guns, said to be a signal for the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown's men were stationed. The gun was loaded with grape but did no harm, the marksmanship being poor. During this time the free state men kept moving east and returning fire of the enemy. Finally the attackers got disgusted with the cannon, dismounted and made a charge into the timber. Then the main body of the Brown forces to advance. But Brown had no such idea, and if he understood the meaning of the signal, he gave his troops no intimation that he did. He had given strict orders to his troops not to fire a shot until he had given the order to fire. But the sound of three shots was too much for the volunteers and believing that the battle had begun, they commenced firing. Jason Brown was one of the first to fire.

The first attack, which was made on the right wing of the free state troops, was partially repulsed. Then the Missourians brought up their solitary cannon and placed it in a position about 400 yards from the timber where Brown