WHAT THE LAND SHOW IS DOING

Bringing Together Buyer and Seller and Teaching Inexperienced What They Mant Need to Know When Taking Up Farming.

The "Back to the Soil" movement is growing palpably atronger in the crowded cities of the east and the people are evidently beginning to awaken to the advantages of prosperous farm life, and are yearning for knowledge regarding agriculture and its possibilities.

The big land exposition held at Chicago last November was one of the most sucduring its short season of sixteen days was visitors. This form of exposition known as the Land Show is undoubtedly an excellent institution from many standpoints, and by its means the people of the crowded sections are able to learn interesting facts concerning the development and colonization of the seath, southwest, middle sind far west, and to section southwest, middle sind far west, and to section southwest, middle sind far west, and to section southwest in the south, southwest and openings in the value for by the institution Mayor of recently reclaimed land in the many sections of the rate of the previous decade has not been maintained.
