Indian Creek to Be Bound in by Concrete Walls

Improvements Started that Will Add Thousands of Dollars in Value to Property of the City.

The channel of Indian creek from Bryant street to the Northwestern railway was officially fixed yesterday for the first time in the history of the turbulent stream.

The widening process is due to the fact that the banks become lower as the grade becomes flatter and the channel is thus given the required area all of the way.

The council met to consider the petition of Adolph Beno and others for the establishment of official lines to permit the construction of concrete retaining walls in the block on North Main street and Scott street.

During the session of the committee the council was advised by City Solicitor Kimball that the city was liable for water service furnished by the waterworks to all public buildings, parks, etc.

Wool Warehouse Filled Up

Committee from Commercial Club Inspects Warehouse and Finds it Full—See Chance for Omaha to Become Center.

While sheep have been breaking all records by the way they have been pouring into the South Omaha market, wool has also been coming along at a rapid clip.

A committee on the Omaha Commercial Club yesterday afternoon visited the warehouse of the Omaha Wool and Storage company at Twenty-eighth and Gold streets and found the building filled almost to its capacity.

The dramatic interpretation of the "Tosca" song from "Carmen" by Signor Alessandrini and Signor Manza's cornet solo in a selection from Meyerbeer's "Africana" were the two outstanding features in the concert given last evening in the Auditorium.

From the first it has flourished, and on Friday the huge building, which measures 300 feet in length, 100 feet in width and 24 feet in height, contained nearly 2,000,000 pounds of wool.

October 1, the entire capacity of the warehouse, 5,000,000 pounds, will be exhausted.

Mr. Deiferder, vice president of the company, who is also president of the Wyoming Wool Growers' association and vice president of the national association, is most enthusiastic about the chance of Omaha becoming the wool market of the west.
