OMAHA, Sept. 12, 1916. OMAHA, Sept. 12, 1916.
Wheat responded readily to the early bidding, which ran values up the from Saturday's closing prices.
With light receipts at primary points, inquidation seems over for the time.
Cooler temperatures over the corn belt torced values higher and should unfavorable weather set in a sharp advance is predicted.

able weather set in a sharp advance is predicted.
Wheat was helped some by the strength in corn and higher receipts. Liquidation is less pronounced and with the higher presence of cash wheat, a reaction is predicted from these levels.
With lighter receipts than were expected, and a very unfavorable weather map which shows frost in Bouth Dakots, and predictions of frost in Nebraska and lowa tonight, corn traders easily advanced prices be to it higher.
Primary wheat receipts were 1.891.000 but

This Vicinity. OMAHA, Sept. 17, 1910.

Another wave of fecidedly cool weather spread Jown over the upper valleys and eastern ftocky mountain slope during Sunday afternoon and night, and temperatures eastern Rocky mountain slope during Sunday afternoon and night, and temperatures are much lower this morning in the upper lake region, upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and west to the mountains. Freezing temperatures prevail in western Minnesots, North Dakota and eastern Montana, and killing frosts are reported south as far as the northeastern perilon of South Dakota. The cool wave is accompanied by an area of high pressure over the upper valleys, and conditions are favorable for cooler weather in this vicinity tonight, and frost is predicted for the eastern portion of Nebraska. The area of high pressure will probably move eastward over the valleys during the next twenty-four hours, and a rising temperature in this vicinity Tuesday will follow the cooler tonight, with fair tonight and Tuesday.

To partisans of an upward turn for wheat the most significant factor was that northwestern receipts today were less than one third as large as a year ago. Bearish news, such as the breaking up of the drouth in foreign seemed to be more than offset by the effect of firmness in the corn market here. Cold weather in the north was the reason for the strength in the coarse grain. December wheat ranged from 20c %c %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00%, and closed %c %c to %c up, at $1.00%, $0.00% that was desirable seiling at good, steady to strong figures.

Strong weight lambs sold straight for feeding purposes at $5.25 and better, strings with killing tops moving at and around $6.55. Light feeding ambs of good quality ranged from $6.00,05.25. Feeding sheep sold at the same strong prices that prevailed last week as a rule, best kinds going at a very narrow spread as compared with fat stock quotations.

Inquiry from packers was equally brisk and prices well sustained all along the line. Fat lambs sold straight at $6.70 and wethors brought as much as $4.40, indicating a market easily firm with last week's close. Good fat ewes sold around $3.50,04.00, but sorting for fat classes was a little more pronounced valued at $57.00, part of a consignment of
