

Nebraska CORPORATIONS FAIL TO PAY

Number of Omaha Companies Back with Corporation Tax.

ADDED PENALTIES FOR DELAY
Judge Tullis, whose wife is said to live in Omaha, shoots himself while despondent over blindness.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Walker Smith, who has charge of the corporation tax in the office of the secretary of state, is compiling the list of corporations which have failed to pay their annual tax and the list will be certified to Governor Schallenberger tomorrow. If the tax is not paid by September 1 there is added a penalty of 10, and if not paid by November 20 the charter of the delinquent companies are cancelled.

Some of the big corporations of the state have so far failed to pay and in this list are several in Omaha. Among these are the following:
Nebraska Construction Company, Bradford-Kennedy Co., Real Vincent Grain Company, Bergers Automobile Company, Baker Ice Machine Company, Columbia Automobile Company, City Trust and Safe Deposit Company, H. F. Casey Lumber Company, City Garage Company, Gayety Theater Company, A. Hoop, Howard Stone Works, Leim Hardware Company, Colt Manufacturing Company, McCord Brady Company, Mercantile Incorporating Company, Marshall Paper Company, Millard Hotel Company, Irving A. Medlar Co., National Refining Company, Orchard & Wilhelm, Omaha Tent and Awning Company, Omaha Milk Co., Omaha Can Company, The Pabst Company, Payne, Bostwick & Slater, Neal Institute, Riley Sisters, Sherman-McConnell, Hambley Automobile Company, Halston Amusement Company, M. E. Smith Co., Sweeney Publishing Company, Teschuck Real Estate Company, Waterloo Creamery Company.

In addition to those named there are many other corporations in Omaha which have failed to pay the tax and hundreds of corporations out in the state which are delinquent.

Endorsed Judge Mills.
The Nebraska State Railway commission has joined with others in endorsing the candidacy of Judge Ira B. Mills, chairman of the Minnesota Board of Railway Commissioners, for a place in the new court created by act of the late congress to pass appeals from the rulings of the Interstate Commerce commission. The law provides for the creation of a court of five members to be appointed by the president.

Chairman Hosenetter Busy.
Chairman Hosenetter of the republican state committee has been working overtime the last few days and in addition to having the headquarters cut up into working rooms he has installed several clerks and has held conferences with a number of politicians from out in the state. Several were in today to discuss the political situation and the reports they brought have encouraged the chairman to believe he will have plenty of assistance in conducting a red hot campaign.

Alliance Still Wants School.
The suit of the Commercial club of Alliance wherein it seeks to prevent the location of the new normal school at Chadron has been appealed to the supreme court from the district court of Lancaster county. The Commercial club of Alliance lost out in the lower court. It is argued that Alliance was the only town in the state which complied with the law and filed its proposition with the State Normal board in the time limit prescribed. Alliance first secured an injunction to prevent the normal board from locating the normal school at Chadron, but this was dissolved and work on the school is now in progress. It was the intention of the board to open school there this fall in a building acquired by the state, but Governor Schallenberger objected to creating a deficiency for that purpose, so the matter was dropped.

New Question for Nebraska Court.
It is up to the supreme court to decide whether a district judge has authority to disburse "without prejudice" a complaint charging a party with first degree murder. Attorneys for the defendant contend that when the case was dismissed that was the same as though the defendant had been tried and found not guilty.

Staged and Robbed at Auburn.
SOUTH AUBURN, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Jacob Deits of Bury, Neb., was slugged and robbed here Wednesday night. He came into town on the Crete train, changing cars here for Omaha. It was necessary to wait over some nine hours. Thursday morning about 6 o'clock he was found near the produce house of Kirshbaum & Son, unconscious. His money had been taken, but his watch remained on the person. No one was identified as the violence were to be discovered, but the physician declared it to be his opinion that practically the same process had been followed with him which resulted in the killing of John Ruby last week. It is now thought that Deits will recover. Public sentiment is on keen edge, and it will go hard with those who may eventually be found to be responsible for these criminal depredations.

Crossett Shoe

"MAKES LIFE'S WALK EASY"

THE young man's shoe of the season.

One of the most popular of the new Crossetts.

Glove top—
Short vamp—
High heel—
Extra heavy stitching—
Seven buttons—and this is a button season.

Distinctiveness is the keynote of all the new Crossett models.

$4 to $6 everywhere.

Louis A. Crossett, Inc. Maker, North Abington, Mass.

Haydens' are selling agents in Omaha, Nebraska, for the Crossett shoe.

Nebraska BURKETT LAUDS ROOSEVELT

Nebraska Senator Says Taft is Carrying Out His Policies.

SITUATION NEEDS SUCH MAN
President is Great Constructive Statesman of Judicial Mind Who Has Fully Met Nation's Needs.

FULLERTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—In his speech before the senate, Burkett paid a high tribute to the far-seeing statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt and to his great judgment of men in his selection of William H. Taft as his successor. The senator pointed out how anxious Theodore Roosevelt must have been that his policies, which he knew the American people had accepted, should have been carried into execution by his successor.

"Every hour that I live," said the senator, "the more respect and appreciation I learn to have for the genius and far-seeing wisdom of that great man, Theodore Roosevelt. As a judge of men and measures I think he has never had a superior, and as one who could grasp situations and master intricate problems, he never had an equal. He had the affection and confidence of the people to the end of his administration and his was the dominating voice in selecting his successor. He knew from experience what there was to be done in the next four years and with his unerring judgment he selected from the large list of available material the proper man to do it."

Good Foundation Laid.
"In his seven years as chief executive Roosevelt had gathered the materials for a new public life and a new legislative program. He had laid the strong foundation of popular approval of the policies that he advocated. Without that foundation no man could build a superstructure of legislation that would carry his policies into effect. For seven years he had educated the people upon civic righteousness and private virtue. He had thrown open to their gaze the mendacity of corporate greed and the selfishness pointed out the evils that beset the government and that hampered the lives and liberties of the people. He had convinced the people that with the industrial and commercial evolution there must be progressive legislation. He brought home to the great American mind as it never had been done before that as partnership had succeeded individuals and corporations had succeeded both and all in turn were to be succeeded by dignified aggregations of capital and industrial combinations of men."

Taft, the Great Architect.
"At the end of seven years he had won the people not only to his policies, but likewise to his remedies, and with that material lying about him ready for construction and with the end of his administration drawing near, he looked about for a constructive statesman of the great republic. He did not lack for material to choose from. There was Cortelyou, wise and experienced in the work of the chief executive and the paragon of energy; there was Fairbank, great lawyer, great statesman and experienced in the work of the chief executive in the art of making laws; there was Root and La Follette and Hughes and a score of others. But the man of the hour and for the four years to come must combine legal learning, judicial temperament, constructive genius, progressive ideas, sympathy with the work to be done; and in addition to it all a personal charm and a harmonizing capacity that could unite men of many and different ideas, that legislation might be accomplished. The man for the job, said Roosevelt, is William H. Taft, and the American people elected him. And in my judgment when Roosevelt reads the record of the first eighteen months—law, long and short, the telegraph and telephone law, an express law, a commerce and trade law and a postal savings bank law, a new statehood law and twenty or thirty other great laws for the solution of these industrial problems for the people's benefit, and can feel that he names the man who has brought it about, he can add another laurel to his already enormous crown of the people's affections."

Big Crowds at Dawson Fair.
LEXINGTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Dawson county fair opened with the first day's attendance over 2,000. The exhibits are the best ever brought to the fair. The second day's attendance was the best in the history of the association. There were 2,000 automobiles from the farming districts and neighboring towns.

Business Changes at Holdrege.
HOLDREGE, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Three of the city's business firms changed management this week. The large building being the transfer of the J. A. Hanson automobile garage to C. Engstrom, the Burlington agent here. Mr. Engstrom will not have active charge of the concern, but will place it in the hands of an expert from the east.

Big Find of Bogus Coins.
CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—A gang of counterfeiters and some other lawless characters were recently seen passing through the city in the hands of a man who became frightened of detection and buried their unlawful currency deep in the ground. This is the question that was presented when John Stuart recently unearthed a quantity of spurious coins and some sheets of metal from which the bogus coins were minted. Mr. Stuart had been hauling some dirt for Earl Badger from along by the Burlington track south of town, digging away a ridge along the right-of-way. At a depth of about three feet he came upon a quantity of the dollars, very much resembling the genuine, but upon close examination plainly spurious. There was also a quantity of metal, very much resembling rabbit metal.

County Division in Carter County.
ANSLEY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The question of dividing Carter county on a plan to make five counties will be voted upon at the general election in November. The proposed new counties will be Arbor county, with Callaway the principal town and probable county seat; Albion county,

Nebraska HALF-MINUTE STORE TALK

The Store Everybody Is Talking About

King-Swanson Co.
The Home of Quality Clothes

The Superlative Degree of Tailoring Excellence Was Reached When Our Fall Suits Were Finished

Poor tailors are legion, Good tailors are plentiful—but masters of Tailoring are scarce. It requires master tailors to make such Garments as we sell and it certainly was a burst of tailoring inspiration that modeled and fashioned our Fall Suits.

We say without fear of successful contradiction that they stand today the most perfect examples of tailoring art ever produced.

You must see them—You must examine them—You must try them on. You must—your own interests demand these things of you before you pay out a cent for a Fall Suit.

$10 and up to $40.00

Fall Overcoats, Rain and Slip-On Coats in Bewildering Variety

This change to cooler weather foretells the need of outer Garments—It is hardly cold enough for Winter Overcoats, but just right for one of the coats enumerated—A better or bigger line than ours hasn't ever come to town—and not a last year's coat in the lot.

$10.00 to $25.00
BEAUTIFUL SILK LINED OPERA COATS
$25.00 AND $30.00

with Coonto the principal town and probable county seat; Corn county, with Sargent the principal town and probable county seat; Rose county, with Ansley the principal town and probable county seat. The most in the county would be either Merna or Anselmo, depending on which has the most push and enterprise.

JOSEPH V. MOORE KILLED; TRACTION ENGINE EXPLODES
Workman at Leigh Suffers Fatal Accident While Filling Boiler with Water.

LEIGH, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—While filling the boiler of a traction engine of which he was engineer, Joseph V. Moore was killed by an explosion. The men in the threshing crew had stopped for lunch and were behind a hay stack or they would have been injured, as the machine was blown to fragments.

Moore was working on the farm of John Calley. He was born at Schuyler, and his parents live at Bolivar, Mo.

St. Paul Boosters' Trip.
ST. PAUL, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The first trade and booster excursion undertaken by the St. Paul Commercial club was made yesterday. The train consisted of sixteen automobiles.

Indian Fair on the Rosebud Reservation
Sioux Make Arrangements to Hold Unique Exhibition and Series of Sporting Contests.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Not to be outdone by their white brethren, who in the states of the northwest and west hold annual state fairs, the Sioux Indians belonging on the Rosebud reservation have concluded arrangements for a fair, which in its way will far surpass those held by the whites in any of the states.

The fair will be held at Rosebud agency, commencing September 22 and concluding on the evening of September 24. It will have numerous unique features not found at fairs given by the whites. The names of the officers of the association which is to hold the fair are unique in themselves, being as follows: President, Ralph Earle Feather; vice president, Samuel High Bear; secretary, John Moore; treasurer, Daniel Good Voice; manager, Reuben Quick Bear.

Among the sporting events will be a square race, cowboy race, potato horse race, buggy trotting race, pony races, colt races, saddle horse races and races of various other kinds, including foot races between different sets of competitors. In addition there will be roping and tying contests, and in these the expert Indian cowboys will be able to show their skill.

Numerous prizes will be given to encourage the Indians in farming, stock raising and in improving their allotments of land and their homes. The district farmers will report the names of Indians under their charge who had the best cultivated fields this season and the three having the best fields will be given prizes. Three prizes also will be given the best Indian women housekeepers. Prizes will be given the best students in the reservation schools and to those who make the best exhibits of garden truck and farm products.

Persistent advertising in The Bee is the road to Big Returns.

CLIFTON
CLIFTON, 24 in. high BEDFORD, 24 in. high

The New ARROW Notch COLLARS
Sit snugly to the neck, the tops meet in front and there is ample space for the cravat.

McC-2 for McC. Claret Peabody & Co., Makers

A HOUSEHOLD REQUIREMENT
Our Steel Cut-Sifted MOCHA MIXTURE
35c, 3 lbs for $1.00

W. L. MASTERMAN & CO.
"The Coffee Man"
313 So. 11th St.
Branch at Public Market, 1610 Harney.

Prize Offer Special Copy
The Daily Newspaper Club

offers a series of prizes for the best advertisements as to the value of newspapers for a National advertising campaign.

REQUIREMENTS
COPY Must be submitted by October 1st, 1910.

SIZE All advertisements to be made up 70 lines D. C., and to be submitted in the rough (pen or pencil) with layout attached, type sizes and illustrations to be indicated.

SUBJECT The use and value of newspapers in a publicity campaign, effectiveness, lowness of cost, value or repetition, influence on the retailer, etc.

PRIZES
First Prize $25.00
Second Prize 15.00
Third Prize 10.00
Ten Prizes 1.00 each, and honorable mention.

Advertisements winning prizes to be the property of The Daily Newspaper Club—and any others that are desired will be purchased.

AWARDS
Awards will be made by the Executive Committee, and printed in the papers composing The Daily Newspaper Club.

The Daily Newspaper Club
E. J. PRESTON, General Manager,
403 Pulitzer Bldg., N. Y. City.

Persistent Advertising is the Road to Big Returns. The Columns of The Bee Are Best for Advertisers.

Nebraska BURKETT LAUDS ROOSEVELT

Nebraska Senator Says Taft is Carrying Out His Policies.

SITUATION NEEDS SUCH MAN
President is Great Constructive Statesman of Judicial Mind Who Has Fully Met Nation's Needs.

FULLERTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—In his speech before the senate, Burkett paid a high tribute to the far-seeing statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt and to his great judgment of men in his selection of William H. Taft as his successor. The senator pointed out how anxious Theodore Roosevelt must have been that his policies, which he knew the American people had accepted, should have been carried into execution by his successor.

"Every hour that I live," said the senator, "the more respect and appreciation I learn to have for the genius and far-seeing wisdom of that great man, Theodore Roosevelt. As a judge of men and measures I think he has never had a superior, and as one who could grasp situations and master intricate problems, he never had an equal. He had the affection and confidence of the people to the end of his administration and his was the dominating voice in selecting his successor. He knew from experience what there was to be done in the next four years and with his unerring judgment he selected from the large list of available material the proper man to do it."

Good Foundation Laid.
"In his seven years as chief executive Roosevelt had gathered the materials for a new public life and a new legislative program. He had laid the strong foundation of popular approval of the policies that he advocated. Without that foundation no man could build a superstructure of legislation that would carry his policies into effect. For seven years he had educated the people upon civic righteousness and private virtue. He had thrown open to their gaze the mendacity of corporate greed and the selfishness pointed out the evils that beset the government and that hampered the lives and liberties of the people. He had convinced the people that with the industrial and commercial evolution there must be progressive legislation. He brought home to the great American mind as it never had been done before that as partnership had succeeded individuals and corporations had succeeded both and all in turn were to be succeeded by dignified aggregations of capital and industrial combinations of men."

Taft, the Great Architect.
"At the end of seven years he had won the people not only to his policies, but likewise to his remedies, and with that material lying about him ready for construction and with the end of his administration drawing near, he looked about for a constructive statesman of the great republic. He did not lack for material to choose from. There was Cortelyou, wise and experienced in the work of the chief executive and the paragon of energy; there was Fairbank, great lawyer, great statesman and experienced in the work of the chief executive in the art of making laws; there was Root and La Follette and Hughes and a score of others. But the man of the hour and for the four years to come must combine legal learning, judicial temperament, constructive genius, progressive ideas, sympathy with the work to be done; and in addition to it all a personal charm and a harmonizing capacity that could unite men of many and different ideas, that legislation might be accomplished. The man for the job, said Roosevelt, is William H. Taft, and the American people elected him. And in my judgment when Roosevelt reads the record of the first eighteen months—law, long and short, the telegraph and telephone law, an express law, a commerce and trade law and a postal savings bank law, a new statehood law and twenty or thirty other great laws for the solution of these industrial problems for the people's benefit, and can feel that he names the man who has brought it about, he can add another laurel to his already enormous crown of the people's affections."

Big Crowds at Dawson Fair.
LEXINGTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Dawson county fair opened with the first day's attendance over 2,000. The exhibits are the best ever brought to the fair. The second day's attendance was the best in the history of the association. There were 2,000 automobiles from the farming districts and neighboring towns.

Business Changes at Holdrege.
HOLDREGE, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Three of the city's business firms changed management this week. The large building being the transfer of the J. A. Hanson automobile garage to C. Engstrom, the Burlington agent here. Mr. Engstrom will not have active charge of the concern, but will place it in the hands of an expert from the east.

Big Find of Bogus Coins.
CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—A gang of counterfeiters and some other lawless characters were recently seen passing through the city in the hands of a man who became frightened of detection and buried their unlawful currency deep in the ground. This is the question that was presented when John Stuart recently unearthed a quantity of spurious coins and some sheets of metal from which the bogus coins were minted. Mr. Stuart had been hauling some dirt for Earl Badger from along by the Burlington track south of town, digging away a ridge along the right-of-way. At a depth of about three feet he came upon a quantity of the dollars, very much resembling the genuine, but upon close examination plainly spurious. There was also a quantity of metal, very much resembling rabbit metal.

County Division in Carter County.
ANSLEY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The question of dividing Carter county on a plan to make five counties will be voted upon at the general election in November. The proposed new counties will be Arbor county, with Callaway the principal town and probable county seat; Albion county, with Coonto the principal town and probable county seat; Corn county, with Sargent the principal town and probable county seat; Rose county, with Ansley the principal town and probable county seat. The most in the county would be either Merna or Anselmo, depending on which has the most push and enterprise.

JOSEPH V. MOORE KILLED; TRACTION ENGINE EXPLODES
Workman at Leigh Suffers Fatal Accident While Filling Boiler with Water.

LEIGH, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—While filling the boiler of a traction engine of which he was engineer, Joseph V. Moore was killed by an explosion. The men in the threshing crew had stopped for lunch and were behind a hay stack or they would have been injured, as the machine was blown to fragments.

Moore was working on the farm of John Calley. He was born at Schuyler, and his parents live at Bolivar, Mo.

St. Paul Boosters' Trip.
ST. PAUL, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The first trade and booster excursion undertaken by the St. Paul Commercial club was made yesterday. The train consisted of sixteen automobiles.

Indian Fair on the Rosebud Reservation
Sioux Make Arrangements to Hold Unique Exhibition and Series of Sporting Contests.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Not to be outdone by their white brethren, who in the states of the northwest and west hold annual state fairs, the Sioux Indians belonging on the Rosebud reservation have concluded arrangements for a fair, which in its way will far surpass those held by the whites in any of the states.

The fair will be held at Rosebud agency, commencing September 22 and concluding on the evening of September 24. It will have numerous unique features not found at fairs given by the whites. The names of the officers of the association which is to hold the fair are unique in themselves, being as follows: President, Ralph Earle Feather; vice president, Samuel High Bear; secretary, John Moore; treasurer, Daniel Good Voice; manager, Reuben Quick Bear.

Among the sporting events will be a square race, cowboy race, potato horse race, buggy trotting race, pony races, colt races, saddle horse races and races of various other kinds, including foot races between different sets of competitors. In addition there will be roping and tying contests, and in these the expert Indian cowboys will be able to show their skill.

Numerous prizes will be given to encourage the Indians in farming, stock raising and in improving their allotments of land and their homes. The district farmers will report the names of Indians under their charge who had the best cultivated fields this season and the three having the best fields will be given prizes. Three prizes also will be given the best Indian women housekeepers. Prizes will be given the best students in the reservation schools and to those who make the best exhibits of garden truck and farm products.

Persistent advertising in The Bee is the road to Big Returns.

CLIFTON
CLIFTON, 24 in. high BEDFORD, 24 in. high

The New ARROW Notch COLLARS
Sit snugly to the neck, the tops meet in front and there is ample space for the cravat.

McC-2 for McC. Claret Peabody & Co., Makers

A HOUSEHOLD REQUIREMENT
Our Steel Cut-Sifted MOCHA MIXTURE
35c, 3 lbs for $1.00

W. L. MASTERMAN & CO.
"The Coffee Man"
313 So. 11th St.
Branch at Public Market, 1610 Harney.

Prize Offer Special Copy
The Daily Newspaper Club

offers a series of prizes for the best advertisements as to the value of newspapers for a National advertising campaign.

REQUIREMENTS
COPY Must be submitted by October 1st, 1910.

SIZE All advertisements to be made up 70 lines D. C., and to be submitted in the rough (pen or pencil) with layout attached, type sizes and illustrations to be indicated.

SUBJECT The use and value of newspapers in a publicity campaign, effectiveness, lowness of cost, value or repetition, influence on the retailer, etc.

PRIZES
First Prize $25.00
Second Prize 15.00
Third Prize 10.00
Ten Prizes 1.00 each, and honorable mention.

Advertisements winning prizes to be the property of The Daily Newspaper Club—and any others that are desired will be purchased.

AWARDS
Awards will be made by the Executive Committee, and printed in the papers composing The Daily Newspaper Club.

The Daily Newspaper Club
E. J. PRESTON, General Manager,
403 Pulitzer Bldg., N. Y. City.

Persistent Advertising is the Road to Big Returns. The Columns of The Bee Are Best for Advertisers.

Nebraska BURKETT LAUDS ROOSEVELT

Nebraska Senator Says Taft is Carrying Out His Policies.

SITUATION NEEDS SUCH MAN
President is Great Constructive Statesman of Judicial Mind Who Has Fully Met Nation's Needs.

FULLERTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—In his speech before the senate, Burkett paid a high tribute to the far-seeing statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt and to his great judgment of men in his selection of William H. Taft as his successor. The senator pointed out how anxious Theodore Roosevelt must have been that his policies, which he knew the American people had accepted, should have been carried into execution by his successor.

"Every hour that I live," said the senator, "the more respect and appreciation I learn to have for the genius and far-seeing wisdom of that great man, Theodore Roosevelt. As a judge of men and measures I think he has never had a superior, and as one who could grasp situations and master intricate problems, he never had an equal. He had the affection and confidence of the people to the end of his administration and his was the dominating voice in selecting his successor. He knew from experience what there was to be done in the next four years and with his unerring judgment he selected from the large list of available material the proper man to do it."

Good Foundation Laid.
"In his seven years as chief executive Roosevelt had gathered the materials for a new public life and a new legislative program. He had laid the strong foundation of popular approval of the policies that he advocated. Without that foundation no man could build a superstructure of legislation that would carry his policies into effect. For seven years he had educated the people upon civic righteousness and private virtue. He had thrown open to their gaze the mendacity of corporate greed and the selfishness pointed out the evils that beset the government and that hampered the lives and liberties of the people. He had convinced the people that with the industrial and commercial evolution there must be progressive legislation. He brought home to the great American mind as it never had been done before that as partnership had succeeded individuals and corporations had succeeded both and all in turn were to be succeeded by dignified aggregations of capital and industrial combinations of men."

Taft, the Great Architect.
"At the end of seven years he had won the people not only to his policies, but likewise to his remedies, and with that material lying about him ready for construction and with the end of his administration drawing near, he looked about for a constructive statesman of the great republic. He did not lack for material to choose from. There was Cortelyou, wise and experienced in the work of the chief executive and the paragon of energy; there was Fairbank, great lawyer, great statesman and experienced in the work of the chief executive in the art of making laws; there was Root and La Follette and Hughes and a score of others. But the man of the hour and for the four years to come must combine legal learning, judicial temperament, constructive genius, progressive ideas, sympathy with the work to be done; and in addition to it all a personal charm and a harmonizing capacity that could unite men of many and different ideas, that legislation might be accomplished. The man for the job, said Roosevelt, is William H. Taft, and the American people elected him. And in my judgment when Roosevelt reads the record of the first eighteen months—law, long and short, the telegraph and telephone law, an express law, a commerce and trade law and a postal savings bank law, a new statehood law and twenty or thirty other great laws for the solution of these industrial problems for the people's benefit, and can feel that he names the man who has brought it about, he can add another laurel to his already enormous crown of the people's affections."

Big Crowds at Dawson Fair.
LEXINGTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Dawson county fair opened with the first day's attendance over 2,000. The exhibits are the best ever brought to the fair. The second day's attendance was the best in the history of the association. There were 2,000 automobiles from the farming districts and neighboring towns.

Business Changes at Holdrege.
HOLDREGE, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Three of the city's business firms changed management this week. The large building being the transfer of the J. A. Hanson automobile garage to C. Engstrom, the Burlington agent here. Mr. Engstrom will not have active charge of the concern, but will place it in the hands of an expert from the east.

Big Find of Bogus Coins.
CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—A gang of counterfeiters and some other lawless characters were recently seen passing through the city in the hands of a man who became frightened of detection and buried their unlawful currency deep in the ground. This is the question that was presented when John Stuart recently unearthed a quantity of spurious coins and some sheets of metal from which the bogus coins were minted. Mr. Stuart had been hauling some dirt for Earl Badger from along by the Burlington track south of town, digging away a ridge along the right-of-way. At a depth of about three feet he came upon a quantity of the dollars, very much resembling the genuine, but upon close examination plainly spurious. There was also a quantity of metal, very much resembling rabbit metal.

County Division in Carter County.
ANSLEY, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The question of dividing Carter county on a plan to make five counties will be voted upon at the general election in November. The proposed new counties will be Arbor county, with Callaway the principal town and probable county seat; Albion county, with Coonto the principal town and probable county seat; Corn county, with Sargent the principal town and probable county seat; Rose county, with Ansley the principal town and probable county seat. The most in the county would be either Merna or Anselmo, depending on which has the most push and enterprise.

JOSEPH V. MOORE KILLED; TRACTION ENGINE EXPLODES
Workman at Leigh Suffers Fatal Accident While Filling Boiler with Water.

LEIGH, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—While filling the boiler of a traction engine of which he was engineer, Joseph V. Moore was killed by an explosion. The men in the threshing crew had stopped for lunch and were behind a hay stack or they would have been injured, as the machine was blown to fragments.

Moore was working on the farm of John Calley. He was born at Schuyler, and his parents live at Bolivar, Mo.

St. Paul Boosters' Trip.
ST. PAUL, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The first trade and booster excursion undertaken by the St. Paul Commercial club was made yesterday. The train consisted of sixteen automobiles.

Indian Fair on the Rosebud Reservation
Sioux Make Arrangements to Hold Unique Exhibition and Series of Sporting Contests.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Not to be outdone by their white brethren, who in the states of the northwest and west hold annual state fairs, the Sioux Indians belonging on the Rosebud reservation have concluded arrangements for a fair, which in its way will far surpass those held by the whites in any of the states.

The fair will be held at Rosebud agency, commencing September 22 and concluding on the evening of September 24. It will have numerous unique features not found at fairs given by the whites. The names of the officers of the association which is to hold the fair are unique in themselves, being as follows: President, Ralph Earle Feather; vice president, Samuel High Bear; secretary, John Moore; treasurer, Daniel Good Voice; manager, Reuben Quick Bear.

Among the sporting events will be a square race, cowboy race, potato horse race, buggy trotting race, pony races, colt races, saddle horse races and races of various other kinds, including foot races between different sets of competitors. In addition there will be roping and tying contests, and in these the expert Indian cowboys will be able to show their skill.

Numerous prizes will be given to encourage the Indians in farming, stock raising and in improving their allotments of land and their homes. The district farmers will report the names of Indians under their charge who had the best cultivated fields this season and the three having the best fields will be given prizes. Three prizes also will be given the best Indian women housekeepers. Prizes will be given the best students in the reservation schools and to those who make the best exhibits of garden truck and farm products.

Persistent advertising in The Bee is the road to Big Returns.

CLIFTON
CLIFTON, 24 in. high BEDFORD, 24 in. high

The New ARROW Notch COLLARS
Sit snugly to the neck, the tops meet in front and there is ample space for the cravat.

McC-2 for McC. Claret Peabody & Co., Makers

A HOUSEHOLD REQUIREMENT
Our Steel Cut-Sifted MOCHA MIXTURE
35c, 3 lbs for $1.00

W. L. MASTERMAN & CO.
"The Coffee Man"
313 So. 11th St.
Branch at Public Market, 1610 Harney.

Prize Offer Special Copy
The Daily Newspaper Club

offers a series of prizes for the best advertisements as to the value of newspapers for a National advertising campaign.

REQUIREMENTS
COPY Must be submitted by October 1st, 1910.

SIZE All advertisements to be made up 70 lines D. C., and to be submitted in the rough (pen or pencil) with layout attached, type sizes and illustrations to be indicated.

SUBJECT The use and value of newspapers in a publicity campaign, effectiveness, lowness of cost, value or repetition, influence on the retailer, etc.

PRIZES
First Prize $25.00
Second Prize 15.00
Third Prize 10.00
Ten Prizes 1.00 each, and honorable mention.

Advertisements winning prizes to be the property of The Daily Newspaper Club—and any others that are desired will be purchased.

AWARDS
Awards will be made by the Executive Committee, and printed in the papers composing The Daily Newspaper Club.

The Daily Newspaper Club
E. J. PRESTON, General Manager,
403 Pulitzer Bldg., N. Y. City.

Persistent Advertising is the Road to Big Returns. The Columns of The Bee Are Best for Advertisers.

Nebraska BURKETT LAUDS ROOSEVELT

Nebraska Senator Says Taft is Carrying Out His Policies.

SITUATION NEEDS SUCH MAN
President is Great Constructive Statesman of Judicial Mind Who Has Fully Met Nation's Needs.

FULLERTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—In his speech before the senate, Burkett paid a high tribute to the far-seeing statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt and to his great judgment of men in his selection of William H. Taft as his successor. The senator pointed out how anxious Theodore Roosevelt must have been that his policies, which he knew the American people had accepted, should have been carried into execution by his successor.

"Every hour that I live," said the senator, "the more respect and appreciation I learn to have for the genius and far-seeing wisdom of that great man, Theodore Roosevelt. As a judge of men and measures I think he has never had a superior, and as one who could grasp situations and master intricate problems, he never had an equal. He had the affection and confidence of the people to the end of his administration and his was the dominating voice in selecting his successor. He knew from experience what there was to be done in the next four years and with his unerring judgment he selected from the large list of available material the proper man to do it."

Good Foundation Laid.
"In his seven years as chief executive Roosevelt had gathered the materials for a new public life and a new legislative program. He had laid the strong foundation of popular approval of the policies that he advocated. Without that foundation no man could build a superstructure of legislation that would carry his policies into effect. For seven years he had educated the people upon civic righteousness and private virtue. He had thrown open to their gaze the mendacity of corporate greed and the selfishness pointed out the evils that beset the government and that hampered the lives and liberties of the people. He had convinced the people that with the industrial and commercial evolution there must be progressive legislation. He brought home to the great American mind as it never had been done before that as partnership had succeeded individuals and corporations had succeeded both and all in turn were to be succeeded by dignified aggregations of capital and industrial combinations of men."

Taft, the Great Architect.
"At the end of seven years he had won the people not only to his policies, but likewise to his remedies, and with that material lying about him ready for construction and with the end of his administration drawing near, he looked about for a constructive statesman of the great republic. He did not lack for material to choose from. There was Cortelyou, wise and experienced in the work of the chief executive and the paragon of energy; there was Fairbank, great lawyer, great statesman and experienced in the work of the chief executive in the art of making laws; there was Root and La Follette and Hughes and a score of others. But the man of the hour and for the four years to come must combine legal learning, judicial temperament, constructive genius, progressive ideas, sympathy with the work to be done; and in addition to it all a personal charm and a harmonizing capacity that could unite men of many and different ideas, that legislation might be accomplished. The man for the job, said Roosevelt, is William H. Taft, and the American people elected him. And in my judgment when Roosevelt reads the record of the first eighteen months—law, long and short, the telegraph and telephone law, an express law, a commerce and trade law and a postal savings bank law, a new statehood law and twenty or thirty other great laws for the solution of these industrial problems for the people's benefit, and can feel that he names the man who has brought it about, he can add another laurel to his already enormous crown of the people's affections."

Big Crowds at Dawson Fair.
LEXINGTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Dawson county fair opened with the first day's attendance over 2,000. The exhibits are the best ever brought to the fair. The second day's attendance was the best in the history of the association. There were 2,000 automobiles from the farming districts and neighboring towns.

Business Changes at Holdrege.
HOLDREGE, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Three of the city's business firms changed management this week. The large building being the transfer of the J. A. Hanson automobile garage to C. Engstrom, the Burlington agent here. Mr. Engstrom will not have active charge of the concern, but will place it in the hands of an expert from the east.

Big Find of Bog