

DEFENDS NEW NATIONALISM

Roosevelt Says He is Merely Urging Application of Old Moralities.

MORE EFFICIENCY IS NEEDED

Government Must Cope with Greater Ability Among Business Interests—No Reliance on Good Nature.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Theodore Roosevelt said today that he was not talking revolution in declaring his new political creed. He is not making an appeal to mob rule. In a staunch defense of his doctrine of "new nationalism" he declared that he was merely urging the application of old moralities to modern conditions. At the same time he replied with spirit to those who have been opposing him and hotly denounced newspapers which, he said, attacked honest public men. Colonel Roosevelt's address was delivered at the Suffolk county fair on Riverhead, L. I. He rode about twenty miles in an automobile to and from Riverhead and spoke to a great crowd on the fair grounds.

The colonel's exposition of "new nationalism" came at the close of a speech in which he also denounced dishonest corporations, dishonest men of wealth and political bosses. He made no reference to the New York state political situation.

"I have noticed a good deal of comment on my speech on new nationalism," he said. "All that new nationalism means is the application of certain old-time moralities to the changed conditions of the day."

Wants More Efficiency. "I wish to see greater governmental efficiency because we have to deal with a greater business efficiency. Simple laws are all that are necessary in small communities, when there is no big business and each man works for himself. When you get masses of wealth gathered together and great corporations developing, conditions then become so changed that there must be an increase in governmental activity to control the wealth for business efficiency."

"I would not do any harm to the great corporation, but I do not intend to rely on the corporation's good nature to see that the corporation does no harm to us. I want to see the control of the wealth now gathered for business purposes used so as to favor the honest man, who uses wealth genuinely for the service of the public, and to make the dishonest man feel that he has to do what is right, and if he does not feel it we shall see to it that he does."

"That is my whole creed. That is all there is in it. There is no revolution in it. There is no appeal to mob rule. On the contrary, I recognize mob violence as an enemy of the public good, just as much as lawless wealth. I am against the man who is guilty of the crime of lawless violence, and when it is in my power I shall try to punish him for his misdeed, just as, whenever I have the power, I will join with the great majority to corrupt man of wealth is good—not because he likes it, but because he has to be."

Talks Very Earnestly. Col. Roosevelt spoke with even more than customary earnestness. His words were received with cheers.

"I now want to speak to you as citizens interested in the great problems which concern all of us. I think every citizen of a free democracy ought to distrust above all others the public man whose seeds do not square with his words. That has two sides. It has to do with the politician who makes promises that he does not keep and it has to do with newspapers which say what they know is not true. Mark Twain said that there are 82 different kinds of lies, but the only one which was authoritatively forbidden was that of bearing false witness against your neighbor. There are one or two metropolitan dailies which would do well to print that at the head of their columns and then try to live up to it. I withhold their names, but the omission is easily supplied."

Two Prime Difficulties. "There are two prime difficulties in getting good government. One arises from the dishonest politician. I think the corrupt politician no worse an enemy of the people than the man who lies about the honest public servant. The damage he does is to the public, in so confusing the public by attacking the men who are honest that the public ceases to be able to recognize and war against men who are dishonest. Such a man is of the greatest advantage to the thief. The corrupt politician is no worse than that corrupt politician's mainstay, the newspaper which says what is not true about men in public life. Honesty, truth, courage—you need them just as much in public as in private life."

Concluding his speech, he urged greater respect for manual labor. As for rich manufacturers he believed that the railway man who gets rich by gambling in the stocks of the road he holds in trust should be punished and that it is impossible to punish him under present laws that the laws should be changed.

Kings County Bolts "Old Guard" in New York

Woodruff Dropped for Roosevelt in Scene of Former Acknowledged Power—Griscom Favors Taft.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The first break in the ranks of the "old guard" in Kings county, where Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the republican state committee, has for years been the acknowledged leader, came today with the announcement by Ruben L. Haskell, republican leader of the Second district, that he will support the progressives under Colonel Roosevelt's leadership.

Chairman Woodruff, before leaving for Syracuse tonight, declined to discuss Haskell's decision to desert the old guard.

Lloyd C. Griscom, president of the New York republican county committee, went on record today in favor of an absolute endorsement of President Taft's administration by the republican state convention. This was his answer as a progressive leader to suggestions to the effect that the Roosevelt supporters would be opposed to putting a real endorsement of the Taft administration in the platform.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A formula for obtaining the complete confidence of the most cautious bank president was stated today by Adolph Rothbarth, the hop merchant, who recently confessed that in the last three years he victimized New York banks for more than $100,000. He would be free today if he had not grown careless and submitted conflicting statements to two banks, one of which he sought to borrow to repay the other. The credit men compared and caught him.

AMERICAN BANKERS WILL NOT YIELD TO ENGLISH

Send Cablegram of Defiance to the London and Continental Committees.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—American bankers decided here today that they cannot assent to the plan for guaranteeing bills of lading proposed by British bankers. Instead they asserted their independence, denounced the British proposal as unsound finance and insisted on their own plan of a "validated certificate." Yesterday a committee of London and continental bankers announced their refusal to accept American cotton bills after October 21 without an American "bank guarantee." Today a subcommittee of the American Bankers' association put itself on record, after a long session, in the following cable: "We deeply regret your decision and cannot but feel that it was reached through apprehension. We have accomplished much in securing the validation certificate, thus placing the business on a safe basis. Further consideration of bankers' guarantee is absolutely out of the question, being incompatible with correct banking principles. This is final. The situation could not be changed by our
