Last week it was wedding engagement which furnished first topic of conversation among society people. This week it is more announcements, consequently more weddings which calls for, and receives, atten tion. As September progresses it becomes more and more apparent that that summit of social interest, the wedding, is to be scaled by Omaha society, quite frequently this autumn. This notwithstanding the fact that many of the weddings in pros pect will be quiet celebrations.

Prominent among the announcements just Eva Smith, daughter of Brigadier General and Judgo and Mrs. Troup. Frederick A. Smith, commanding officer of the Department of Missouri, and Mrs. Smith, to Captain A. LaRue Christie, aide to General Smith.
