

A "TRIPLE-TRICK" Cooking Demonstration

The "Triple-Trick" Roasts without an oven—without one drop of water and without basting. No waste of fuel to heat your oven and make your kitchen uncomfortable—no waste of time for meat juices to escape—meats begin to roast at once and so retain all their sweetness, natural moisture and delicacy of flavor. The "Triple-Trick" will not only roast meats to perfection, but also potatoes and apples. It will likewise bake custards, beans, escalloped foods and the like. Think of the economy of it.

Here's "Triple-Trick" Combination Roaster, Toaster and Warmer

You've read several lines in The Omaha Bee recently about "Triple-Trick" and perhaps wondered whether "Triple-Trick" was a sewing machine or a boy's game—well, its a woman's invention for woman's comfort.

A Household Billiken

"It makes men fat and healthy who were quarrelsome and thin."

Toasts on ALL stoves; is absolutely sanitary—toasts from four to eight slices of bread at one time in pure radiated heat, and is the only toaster on the market that will keep toast warm.

Warms all sorts of foods, on gas stoves and ranges and hot plates—with little fuel and no danger of burning. Consider the convenience.

Steams foods in mixed current of steam laden and hot dry air which prevents them from becoming soggy or heavy. No other like it. Heats flat-irons, protecting faces and saving enormously in fuel.

Isabel Cornell Gets Verdict.

Peter B. Haight and Emmet E. Webster, doing business under the firm name of P. B. Haight & Co., must pay to Isabel Cornell a judgment for filling 5,000 bottles with cologne, not labeling and wrapping the bottles. The plaintiffs sought to have the judgment of the district court of Douglas county reversed on the ground that the plaintiff did not tell the jury the secret formula of which the medicine was made. The supreme court held, however, that it made no difference whether the plaintiff put in the secret formula or any part of it just so she did the work and the court believed she did so for the district court was affirmed.

A. W. Jeffers, Lawyer.

A. W. Jeffers may now practice law in the supreme court of the state of Nebraska with impunity. On motion of Judge Benjamin S. Baker Mr. Jeffers was admitted to practice in the supreme court at the last sitting of that august body. This makes this very prominent Omaha attorney a full fledged lawyer. In explanation, however, it has been given out that Mr. Jeffers was admitted to practice in the supreme court years ago, but the records

Clashes Its First Order.

The supreme court issued another order in the case wherein the independent telephone system of the state secured a temporary injunction to prevent the Nebraska company from taking over some independent plants it had bought. The new order simply says the temporary injunction is to remain in force until it is either vacated or modified by the court.

Burns Landlord's Property.

"A tenant who willfully and maliciously sets fire to and burns a store house the property of his landlord, of which the tenant is in possession, is guilty of the crime of arson as defined in section 54 of the Criminal Code."

So the supreme court held in the case of the state against Bernard C. Martin of Cedar county. Martin occupied a building in the village of Belden, which belonged to Mrs. F. C. Nelson. The first floor was used as a jewelry store and the upper story as a dwelling. The building was burned and Martin was arrested. His attorneys argued that no crime had been committed, as Martin had the premises leased. The lower court dismissed the defendant. The supreme court held as above.

Railroad Responsible.

In the case of William Otto against the Burlington railroad the supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the district court of Richardson county, which was in favor of the plaintiff. In the syllabus the court held that where a shipper rides on a stock train to care for his stock it is the duty of the railroad company to look after him carefully, and if he is permitted to step off the train on a trestle of which he has no knowledge the railroad is responsible. The plaintiff was taken sick on the train at night and with the knowledge of the conductor he left the train, but it being dark he stepped from the car steps through a trestle and was injured. He was awarded damages.

Money Shortage Unlikely

Banks Provided for Anticipated Scarce Months Ago.

ALL BUMPER CROPS REPORTED

America Will Be Favored by Balance of Trade—Vast Sum in Emergency Currency Available to Avoid Stringency.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—It is unlikely that there will be any shortage of money this fall anywhere in the United States, according to the view of the treasury department. In its opinion the danger mark, if there actually has been one during several months past, has been left astern. The department officials give these reasons for their prediction of plentiful money: Primarily the banks saw what looked like a money shortage several months ago. They knew they could expect no help from the United States treasury such as they got in 1908, and prepared themselves. They have piled up money, piling up reserves and cutting down risky loans and bonds or other securities which might not be easy to sell have been turned into money.

TESTIMONY IN LORIMER CASE

timony was the same as has been given by White in the two trials of Browne.

First Clash of Attorneys.

The first severe clash of the hearing came when Attorney Austrian asked what money was promised White. He replied: "I asked Browne how much I would get from other sources" and he replied, "Oh, about as much more."

Senator Lorimer's attorney objected to this answer, arguing that the "other sources" were entirely outside the case.

"This brings up," he said, "what has been referred to as the 'jack pot.' By the words of the witness—other sources—it is shown that it has no connection with the election of Senator Lorimer."

To which Attorney Austrian replied: "We claim this line of testimony is relevant because we will show that the democratic state senators and representatives who voted for Senator Lorimer, voted for him as a part of a system in which their votes on other measures and their vote for Senator Lorimer were correlated. We are trying to show there was a general state of corruption in that legislature and men there were trying to bribe others."

The committee retired into executive session to consider admissibility of this line of evidence.

White's answer, which was brought on the argument relative to the "jack pot," was:

"I saw Browne May 25, the day before I voted for Lorimer, and asked him what I was to get. He said to me, 'You are not afraid to leave that to me, are you?' I replied, 'No, I am not afraid, but I would like to know.' Then he said: 'You will get $1,000 ready cash, but keep that under your hat, for I am suspicious of that little place above here they call Joliet.' Then I asked him what I would get from other sources and he replied, 'about as much more.'"

The committee considered the admissibility of the jackpot testimony for some time in executive session and upon return-

Questions by Senators.

White said he had heard rumors of what was known as a "jackpot" to be divided among legislators for "strangling, or passing bills. In response to a question from Chairman Burrows, White said:

"I considered it all a part of the agreement—the $1,000 and my share of the 'jackpot.'"

Senator Gamble asked: "Was the money from other sources part of your promise to vote for Senator Lorimer, or did it have an influence on your vote?"

"I think it had an influence," replied White.

"Would you have voted for Senator Lorimer for that $1,000?" asked Mr. Burrows.

"Yes, I think I would," replied White.

Senator Heyburn asked: "This conversation you have related did not mean to you that you would get any more than the $1,000 for voting for Senator Lorimer?"

"No, I did not think so," was the answer.

Chairman Burrows announced the committee would give its ruling later on the formal motion of Attorney Hancey to exclude all testimony relating to the "jackpot."

With the admissibility of the testimony relating to the so-called jack pot still in abeyance, White was asked to relate his later dealings with Browne. The witness testified he was paid $120 by Browne in Springfield and early in June in Brown's house he was given $500.

Letters from Browne to White were read by Attorney Austrian, who then took up the visit of White to St. Louis, July 18, 1908, in response to a telegram, purporting to have been sent by Representative Robert E. Wilson.

Without interruption White testified he met several of his democratic colleagues in the legislature in St. Louis that day.
