

OUR MEN TO BE FEATURED

Thousands of Troops Will Throng the City Next Week.

ALL ARMS ARE REPRESENTED

General Smith and Staff to Emphasize Educational Value as Well as Spectacular Movements During Coming Week.

Fighting men and men of the hospital and signal corps will be on view for the delight and education of the people of Omaha and surrounding country the coming week. While the display features of the army encampment are not to be lost sight of, or belittled, General Fred Smith and his staff insist that the educational element must not be overlooked. They believe it is a good thing for the regular army men to mix with the citizens, and that it is even a better thing for the civilians to give some studious attention to the make-up and possibilities of the military arm of the government.

The schedule of exercises, exhibiting drills, maneuvers and in fact all movements of the troops, are primarily planned to interest the observers, underlying it all is the lesson of discipline, long training, obedience to orders, clean living, regular hours, manliness and pride of country.

In the mass the men of the regular army today are a credit to the service, and of a class considerably higher than was formerly the case. Many are in the ranks with a determination to make soldiering their profession, and in time a fair proportion will probably rise to the positions of officers.

From the following program of the military features provided for the various days it will be seen that those who care to may get not only entertainment, but matter for study on their visits to Fort Omaha:

Following is the program for the maneuvers at Fort Omaha:

Federal Jury Returns Ten Indictments

Dismisses Case Against James Maney, Who Had Been in Jail Long Enough.

Because it was thought that sufficient punishment had been meted out to him while waiting for his trial in the Douglas county jail, the federal grand jury Friday morning failed to indict James Maney, charged with selling liquor on the Winnebago reservation.

Maney was arrested June 7, and not being able to furnish bond, has spent the time since then in jail. He was released and allowed to go back to the reservation upon his promise to be good.

Ten indictments were returned by the federal grand jury Friday morning against men charged with similar offenses. Upon the testimony of Angus Little Snow of the Assiniboin tribe of Indians and George Lameroux of the Sioux tribe, both wards of the United States government, indictments were returned against the following men, accused of selling them intoxicants: George H. Hershey, Park City; Hans Kruse of Valentine, Neb.; Floyd Jones and Alexander Baehorn of Merriman; Edward D. Perry of Cody; Thaddeus Jolley of Valentine; Frank Rockwell and Louis Jones of Chadron, and Vernie Lounsbury of Kilgore.

An indictment also was returned against W. M. Ritterbusch of Long Pine, charging him with sending obscene letters through the mail. Mrs. Fannie Ritterbusch, the indictment states, was the recipient of the letters.

COMMISSIONERS AFTER AUTOMOBILE SPEEDERS

County Attorney is Instructed to Bring Action Against Two Who Went Too Fast.

Determined to put a stop to the practice of automobileists of using the public streets and roads for race meets, the county Board of Commissioners Friday afternoon directed County Attorney J. P. Reiter to start action against George F. Reiter, manager for H. Kimball, automobile dealer, and Lee Westover, for violating the speed laws. Assistant County Attorney Magnay began actions against the men in county court Friday. Warrants for arrests were issued.

Heim and Westover, who is said to be a Dakotan, are alleged to be the two men who held a race on the Center street road leading from Omaha to Millard Wednesday afternoon. One of the machines made six miles in seven and a half minutes, it is said. The cars swayed from one side of the road to the other, according to witnesses, and ordinary travelers, full of fear, drew into the sides of the road.

Commissioner Pickard introduced the resolution instructing the county attorney. All the commissioners favored the action.
