CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Week end buying based on fear of an oversold condition in the wheat market here rallied prices today. Probability that the week's increase in the visible supply will fall 1,000,000 bushels short of the gain a year ago was another help for the bulls. The close showed a net advance of $60% to $600c. Corn finished $600c to $600c to $600c. Latest figures for provisions varied from 275c gain to a loss of 15c.

oats up %c to %uffec. Latest figures for provisions varied from 77%c gain to a loss of lac.

Most of the demand for wheat apparently came from shorts but there was also a little investment buying of a better sort than recently. One of the causes was that the receipts at primary points were much smaller than a year ago and the shipments somewhat larger. For the week primary receipts were nearly 4,000,000 bushels under those of the corresponding time twelve months ago. There was a steadily enlarging trade, too, in cash wheat at higher premiums. Moreover, foreign markets were steadier than had been anti-cipated, although, world shipments are now estimated to be greater than yesterday's forecast. The close was firm at the best prices of the session. December ranged from 26% 256%c to 57%c, with last transactions % 26%c up at 27c.

Strength in corn today was looked on as a natural reaction from the declines in the week. December fluctuated from 48%c to 49%c, and closed firm at % 26%c net higher at 48%c. The cash market was week. December and closed 49% 649% c. The higher at 49%c. The cash market was weak. No. 2 yellow closed at 51%661%c. In outs a better tone was apparent. December sold between 32%c and 32%c, closing 366%c above last might at 23%c. The provision trade was a jerky, uncertain affair, with a stronger tendency. Final quotations were loc nigher to loc lower for pork; loc to 10%12%c up for lard, and with riba at an advance of 75%27%c.

Inless Outlet in Guise of Export Demand or Militing Demand Transpires Wheat Will Continue to Fall.

OMAHA, Oct. 1, 1910.

A week-end rally was expected in wheat after having been liquidated so severely. Traders all concede that bearian conditions still exist. Without some outlet for the accumulated stocks in the way of an export and milling demand prices will work still lower.

There appears to be no builts news to prevent corn from selling lower despite the regular decline of the jast two months. October 1 is here and no accident has occurred to the growing crop and this creates very bearish feeling. Wheat firmed as was expected and Liverpool showed a firmer tone. It is thought that milling demand may improve now that values have had some advance, but the conditions are bearish and only temporary advances are probable.

With some prospects of the weather turning unfavorable and covering by shorts who felt the break had discounted the bearish conditions and light offering from the country gave corn some show of strength.

Primary wheat receipts were 1,052,000 bushels and shipments were 1,052,000 bushels and shipments were 1,052,000 bushels and shipments were 1,052,000 bushels. The country gave corn some show of strength.

The corn crop has passed beyond the danger of frost and promises a record yield. Cereals generally are settling down to a basis that will permit liberal exports later on, when Europe will buy more freely of foodstuffs than at present. This is at present in its relation to our foreign commerce and it may also be said rather that the revival of the Euopean demand for American raliway bonds is likewise important, as it will help to liquidate our foreign indebtedness.

The advent of cooler weather over a wide expanse of territoy caused a somewhat bet-howing.

The steel trade still lacks improvement from a democratic standpoint, although there has been some increase in export business. The railroads are still holding off. The equipment companies are feeling the lack of orders from the railroads to CATTLE—There were no cattle of any consequence here today, but for the week receipts have been very large, footing up about 42,600 head. Receipts for the month amount to 175,800 head, the largest in the history of the trade. Considering the heavy receipts of cattle the market has been in very fair condition throughout the entire month.

that broke the world's record, the hig barn was practically empty today. Yesterday's clearance was complete and nothing fresh was received this morning, as is usually the case on a Saturday.

Monday was the big day of the week, over 65,000 head of sheep and lambs showing up, mostly feeders. The volume of demand from country sections was broad enough to absorb the big and of receipts, however, and white company feeders had by your terrete. Yesterday's while common feeders had to go at bargain figures and good kinds at logist declines, trading was active throughout. Since Monday, the market has gradually improved on all classes of stock so that late improved on all classes of stock so that late days found prices in much the same notches as they were a week ago. Good feeding ewes are selling, if anything, a little higher, best ones quotable up to $4.0, or better. Light lambs are still running very freely, of course, but feeders seem to be taking more kindly to this class of stock than they did last week and in-between grades are selling to very good advantage. The spread has to very good advantage. The spread has narrowed somewhat, $4.7508.25 embracing the bulk of sales, with lights at the low figures and fleshy grades at $5.00 and better. A review of the trade in fat stock is hardly necessary. The percentage of good killers has been very small each day and harkers have been only too willing to perpackers have been only too willing to pay steady prices for anything that would dress large wholesaiers is consumed within the city and is retailed to the public through the grocery stores. However, there has grown up recently a very hearty bread trade outside the city and local wholesaiers are beginning to make a strong bid for the business of a considerable part of western lowa and eastern Nebrasks.

The retailing business is mostly in the hands of the smaller bakeries about the city, who manufacture, as well as retail, their product, and of the smaller grocery stores where is retailed the product of lo-

Since the terrible panic of 1872, previous to which there have been a series of very large import balances, there has been a continuous line of surplus exports, broken only in 1888. During the last tweive years the United States has on an average exported $490,000,000 more merchandise annually than it has imported. These figures are not viewed with complacency by the financial committee.
