Winter, Wis., Continues in State of Siege

All Able-Bodied Men in County
Sworn In as Deputy Sheriffs—
Miss Dietz Goes to Hospital.

WINTER, Wis., Oct. 3.—Myra Dietz, the 10-year-old daughter of John Dietz, who shot Saturday when Sheriff Madden and deputies fired on the Dietz camp, was being driven to this town, carried on a cot to the baggage car, bound for Chippewa Falls hospital.

John Dietz is expected here any moment. Sheriff Madden's order of martial law is still in force, although he is not attempting to prevent the telegraph company from sending press dispatches as he did Saturday.

COLDERAY, Wis., Oct. 3.—Every able-bodied man in Winter and the surrounding country has been sworn in as a deputy sheriff and Winter and all roads approaching the town are guarded by men armed with rifles, fearing an attack from John Dietz.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 3.—Governor Davidson, remained silent today on the Dietz case. He holds the position that authorities on the ground are the ones to deal with the trouble.

"Cut 'er loose, Father Samson, we are coming 100,000 strong!"
This was the message received by the official representative of Ak-Sar-Ben Monday morning out of a sky that wept for joy at the outpouring of the great horny handed sons of toil—horny handed, because of contact with the guiding wheel of the automobile.

The trains Saturday night and Sunday night and Monday morning were loaded to the guard rails and in addition a large delegation was lined up at the station at Lincoln, by reason of the blunder of an employe of the Burlington, who announced incorrectly the time of the departure of the early train.

Governor Says Grace When Asked; Wishes He Had Not

"Going the rounds now is a story of the campaign in which Governor Schallenberger was the hero, which, whether true or not, is good enough to publish," said a friend of the governor. Here is the story: "The governor was out in a little town of the state and was being entertained by one of the prominent citizens, who had most of the other prominent citizens as his guests for dinner. When all were seated around the well-laid table the hostess said: "Governor, will you please ask the blessing?" "The governor blushed, dropped his head, mere to hide his embarrassment, than in reverence, and mumbled out a prayer in the presence of at least three ministers. "The executive concluded he had done fairly well to impress these people that he was not wholly at sea in the matter. "At breakfast there only appeared the governor and the family of his host. "Will you ask the blessing, governor?"

POLICE FIND CLUE IN BOMB HORROR

Three Men Are Known to Have Pur-

of Explosives.

DETECTIVES ARE NOW ON TRAIL

Attorney Accompanies Sleuths to San

SEVENTEEN SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Council Authorizes Employment of Fifty-One Additional Officers and Increases the Reward Offered.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 3.—Stirred by the fact that the bomb explosion which wrecked the Times plant and killed twenty-one men, and subsequent attempted dynamiting outrages, has created an emergency with which the police force is finding itself unable to cope, the city council passed an emergency ordinance at a special meeting today which authorized the appointment of forty additional patrolmen, ten sergeants and one lieutenant.

These men will be used to hunt down and imprison or drive out of the city, men who have been known to express commination of acts of violence and others who have been in trouble with the police department since the labor troubles began in Los Angeles several months ago.

A proposal also was discussed to raise the city's reward for the detection of the bomb conspirators from $10,000 to $25,000. It was determined to make the reward $10,000 for the detection of each conspirator.

The city's reward was augmented today by an offer from the County Board of Supervisors of $10,000 or $25,000. The amount will be fixed at a meeting of the supervisors later today. It was the intention of the county officials to make the county offer of reward equal to that of the city. Hence it probably will be $10,000 for each dynamiter convicted.

Seventeen suspects arrested.
Seventeen men are now in the city jail booked as dynamite conspirators. However, the best clue so far obtained came from the offices of the Giant Powder company in San Francisco, where it is said that men named Bryson and Morris and another man purchased 500 pounds of explosives similar in power and kind to that found in the infernal machine discovered at the home of F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association.

Chief of Police Galloway and all his subordinates maintain silence regarding this clue, but it is regarded as so important that men from the local detective bureau, accompanied by an attorney, left for San Francisco last week to aid in the hunt for the three men who are said to have come south aboard a boat with the explosive.

Major Alexander appointed a committee of seven men today to receive contributions for the relief of the families of the dead employes of the Times. The appointment was authorized by a resolution adopted by the council.

Bodies Probably Consumed.
Chief of Detectives Planner photographed every twisted piece of steel brought from the wreckage of the Times building with the purpose of showing the photograph to experts on explosives and determining, if possible, the kind of explosive used in blowing up the building. It is doubted if the bodies of any more victims will be recovered, as it is believed they were consumed by the flames.

The police believe that five men were directly concerned in placing the bomb that wrecked the Times building and in constructing the time bomb under the Zeehandelaar home and the infernal machine found at the residence of Governor Otis.

According to the detective files men were seen near the home of Zeehandelaar Friday afternoon. Two men, it is alleged, appeared and casually inspected the premises. Later they were joined by three others and the five left a short conversation and left, giving no direct directions. A person living in the neighborhood is said to have noticed the men and later, when the bomb was found, notified the officers. It is understood the police have a fair description of the men and every effort is being made to trace their movements from the Zeehandelaar home Friday afternoon.

It is believed by the police that the men planted the explosives at the Times office, at General Otis' home and at Mr. Zeehandelaar's residence within the period of one hour.

The entire police force is working twelve hours a day and will be worked on this schedule until conditions become normal. Central police are kept in reserve at the central police station and two motorcycle officers are held on duty in emergency calls. Everything is being done to maintain order and protect property.

General Otis again inspected the wrecked Times building today. He was accompanied by two officers in plain clothes, who kept close to him.

Statement by General Otis.
General Otis today issued a statement regarding the disaster, in which he said: "More than all else I do I deplore the sad loss of life. I, with my co-workers in the Times property, can endure the physical loss which the destruction of the building involves with its expensive plant of modern printing machinery. We can stand this loss with comparative complacency and with the courage and endurance of men who know what it is to meet ordinary disasters of business life. But we are overcome with sadness by the fact that so many of our loyal and faithful workmen were slain by the hands of conspirators and assassins, for their infamous deed was in fact, an act of assassination. We can repair the physical damage done and restore the great property destroyed, but we cannot restore life taken away. And this is the great burden which weighs on our hearts in the face of this frightful calamity."

"The work of physically rehabilitating the Times, already begun before my arrival home yesterday afternoon by my brave, efficient and faithful associate, Harry Chandler, will be continued until the establishment is once more complete, fully-furnished and equipped for the war, which we are determined to prosecute so long as life lasts, in defense of the great principles for which the Los Angeles Times and its responsible owners stand, and will continue to stand.

"I want to express here, at the very
