

Nebraska BUILDING AND LOAN REPORT

Secretary Royse Says Figures Show Gain in Stockholders. BOTH CLASSES ARE JOINING

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Secretary R. Royse of the State Banking Board has completed his annual report of the building and loan association business of Nebraska for the year ending June 30. Thirty associations were doing business at that time. The report to the banking board shows a gain of $466 in the number of borrowing stockholders for the year, the total number being 19,025. The non-borrowing shareholders increased from 21,770 to 25,674, a gain of 3,904. The total number of stockholders of both kinds increased from 43,790 to 44,699, a gain of 909. At the end of the fiscal year the following facts are noted: Amount of real estate loans in force $15,943,822.83

Condition of Associations. Secretary Royse said in his report to the banking board: "During the year the Home Building and Loan association of Beatrice went into voluntary liquidation, wound up its affairs and quit business. "The remaining members of the Schuyler Building and Loan association, which was in process of voluntary liquidation, found it necessary to place it in the hands of a receiver to properly wind up its affairs, and upon receipt by the State Banking board of a request for such receiver, the necessary steps were taken to have one appointed and placed in charge of the association. "I am pleased to congratulate you upon the growth and condition of the building and loan associations under your supervision, as shown by the abstracts, summaries and comparisons on preceding pages of this report.

"It is no longer a question of the performance of the building and loan association as a part of the financial interests of the state, and the proportion to which the aggregate resources have attained clearly indicate the importance of watchful supervision in their affairs and administration. This is peculiarly true because of the fact that a class of people are affected who can ill afford losses from mismanagement or dishonest conduct of their affairs. "There is no doubt but the present building and loan law has had much to do with the development of these institutions, giving them power and privileges enabling them to appeal to the people for support. "I am not ready at this time to point out any material changes to be made in the present building and loan law; however, it will naturally follow that with the rapid increase of business abuses will develop, and restrictions become necessary that are apparently not needed at this time.

"The past period of prosperity, marked by rising values everywhere, has been a great stimulant to this line of business. The crucial test of stability will come during a period of financial depression and falling prices. Such a period will probably bring out any weaknesses that may exist or any lack of provision for proper supervision. "On the whole I am inclined to submit this report to you without special comment or suggestion, as the general summary indicates a very satisfactory and gratifying condition generally."

Wassmund Withdraws. H. F. Wassmund, sr., of Rushville, candidate for senator on the populist ticket in the Fourteenth district, withdrew from the race today. W. E. Haley is the democratic nominee.

Interurban Survey Delayed. The survey authorized by the Lincoln Traction company directors for an interurban route between Lincoln and Auburn will not be undertaken for some time yet. It was not desired to start the survey at a time when surveyors would have to go through fields of growing crops, because of the damage and expense that would be necessary and as the season went by it was finally decided to put off the survey until such a time as little damage will be done by the surveyors in going through fields. President Sharp of the Traction company holds that the outlook for interurban construction in Nebraska is anything but flattering under conditions as they are. Promoters of interurban roads usually figure on a loss for two or three years after the construction of a road, he says, and where they will not be allowed to earn 5 to 7 per cent on the investment after it begins to pay they are not likely to show much eagerness to invest. A preliminary survey between Lincoln and Auburn, it is figured, would cost in the neighborhood of $6,000. This would not only show a probable route for the road, divided into sections, but would also show the character of the country, population and production for a strip of five miles on either side of the road.

Sloan Opens Fight with Two Speeches

Makes Political Addresses to Large Crowds at Luskton and at McCool.

MCCOOL, Neb., Oct. 3.—(Special.)—Charles H. Sloan, republican candidate for congress in the Fourth district, opened his formal campaign in the neighboring towns of Luskton and McCool in York county. The afternoon meeting was held at Luskton. A large crowd of farmers were present and business was practically suspended by the merchants, giving Mr. Sloan a crowd composed almost entirely of voters, which taxed the capacity of the Grand Army hall.

Mr. Sloan discussed the leading national phase upon the character of the district, which he sought to represent, its leading industries and their relation to the national government, and suggested how such interests should be best looked after by the national representative. He discussed further the important problems of the immediate future, relating to conservation of our national resources and its relation to the farmer. His speech was that of a practical man, speaking to practical agricultural citizens on subjects that came home to them in their everyday life, and was greeted with intense interest and with frequent manifestations of approval. C. C. Smith, candidate for state senator, was present and discussed in an interesting manner the issues of their campaign. After the meeting the party proceeded to McCool, where an evening meeting was held in Woodmen hall. Mr. Sloan and Mr. Smith were greeted by a crowded house, made up of the citizens of that town and farmers for many miles around. A large delegation came over in automobiles from Fairmont, bringing with them the Fairmont band, which played enlivening airs upon the street and afterwards in the hall. Democrats and republicans agreed that seldom in the history of McCool has there been such an enthusiastic political gathering. Mr. Sloan discussed the leading political issues and handled them with special relation to the agricultural Fourth district.

Mr. Sloan referred at length to the measure of good work done by the last congress in crystallizing into law some of the Roosevelt policies, and outlining the work left for the coming congress to perform along those lines. He paid a tribute to the good work of President Taft and outlined the opportunity for further effective political progress, if during the next two years the president should be supported by a friendly progressive house of representatives.

Burkett Plans Strenuous Week

Senator Letting No Grass Grow in His Canvass of State Previous to Election.

LINCOLN, Oct. 3.—(Special.)—After a strenuous trip last week covering every county in the First district and making twenty-seven speeches in five days, Senator Burkett returned to Lincoln early Sunday morning, but was up and away again the following morning for another strenuous week in the South Platte country. The trip last week through the district which he represented in congress for six years was one round of pleasure from a social standpoint, for at every place he stopped hundreds crowded about him and grasped his hand and assured him of renewed support. Many democrats who voted for him for congress were anxious again to vote for him for re-election to the senate, and many new voters of the opposite party assured him of their support. This week he is spending in a trip through several counties and will end up with an evening address at Davy.

Today the senator went to Beatrice, where in the afternoon a conference was held with party leaders and in the evening he spoke in Fairbury, to which place he was accompanied from Jansen, where he spoke in the afternoon, by Congressman Hinshaw and other prominent republicans. Each of these measures the republican party has supported and the democrats have opposed.

On state issues, the senator said that he was not sure that county option was the best method that could be found for handling the saloon problem, but it is the most up-to-date and most advanced method ever tried in this country.

Do Not Show Your Age in Your Complexion by DOROTHY VINN

(From San Francisco Examiner.) What woman would not look young if she had a clear, soft complexion? Perhaps the most wonderful skin treatment is one of the most simple. Dr. Takka Quoido, Japan's famous skin specialist, gives San Francisco women the following advice: "Yes, we never grow old in Japan—I mean the woman's faces never show age. All Japanese women use mayatone dissolved in witchhazel, and massage the solution thoroughly into the face, neck and arms once or twice a day. This treatment is absolutely harmless even to a baby's skin and gives wonderful results, removing all manner of facial blemishes. It also prevents the growth of hair. You never saw a Japanese woman with hair on her face. "Take a small original package of mayatone and dissolve it all in eight ounces of witchhazel, and you are supplied with this aid to youth."—Adv.

HALF-MINUTE STORE TALK. Bait is used by fishermen to decoy the unwary fish into taking something he really doesn't want—the hook. Some merchants use the same principle. They fill their show windows with juicy bargain—merchandise to tempt the passerby. When he enters he is told that the garment he likes will not fit or that the price is a mistake—but that they have others, and he is usually sold something he really doesn't want. This is called "window bait." This store doesn't use bait. You can actually buy the garments in the windows at the prices marked—and we are extremely careful to display only those kinds of which we have a full range of sizes for all men.

Nebraska Her Great Crops and Wealth Send these figures to your friends in the East. They will interest them. The first railroad to build in Nebraska was the Union Pacific; that was in 1863. Today the Union Pacific covers 3,411 miles of splendid roadbed, safeguarded by an automatic electric system of signals. More than 26,000 freight and passenger cars and 1,000 monster locomotives are required to meet the public demands. An army of men receives millions per year in wages. Such activities are important factors in the building up of a State, and Nebraska needs prosperous railroads as the Union Pacific needs the support of the people of Nebraska. We have a book on Nebraska and its resources which will be mailed to some friend in the East for the asking. Please send us his address. Every Union Pacific ticket office is a bureau of road information. Make your wants known there, or write to me. GERRIT FORT Passenger Traffic Manager OMAHA, NEB.
