LIGHTING SCHEME DISCUSSED Des Moines Man Tells How the Plan is Carried Out at That

Place. A. C. Frisk, clerk of the department of streets and public improvements in Des Moines, under the commission form of government, is in Omaha investigating the work of the gas commissioner. His letter to Omaha officials states that he came to neavy receipts, make a daily report of the sheep and mind trade nardly necessary. Yesterday's big run was well cleaned up at generally steady figures, leeders taking fully three doubles to every double sorted for packers. Good ewes, both feeders and breeders, are selling especially well, as inquiry from country buyers seems to center on this class of stock.

Another liberal supply was posted today, but most of the business was transacted after the hoon hour, as usual, the delay buing due to late arrival of sinpinents and necessary sorting. Early offerings carried a big percentage of lambs and were principally feeders. The volume of demand for good feeders continues keen and broad, nowever, and opening saies bore figures fully as high as those paid recently. Barring more or less uneveness on common and trashy grades, it is not a very difficult task to obtain prices easily steady on the general run of stuff, flesny lambs and good ewes moving more readily than the poorer classes.

Fat sheep and lambs are still relatively for the done in departments to ome the business streets is a problem solved in Des Moines, "Eathy figures, leeders taking "Extra lights for the business streets is a problem solved in Des Moines, "said Mr. Frisk, "by setting up ornamental electrometric than the cost by contribution upon the merchant along the way. Sometimes there are men who refuse to come in and pay their share and then the lights are omitted in front of their places of business. Sooner or later, however, they are apt to come into the scheme and help. We are now discussing the possibility of having the city pay for the electricity that is used. At present the merchants pay for both the stands and the current."
