

DUNDEE AGITATES FIRE AID

Residents of Village Have Scheme to Make Bargain with City.

BOARD WILL WINK AN EYE

if Dundees Will Contribute $500 to Firemen's Benefit Fund, Engineers Will Cross-Line, Though Not Legally Bound.

Residents of Dundee are beginning to agitate again the question of fire protection for their village. As the suburb is situated on a hill and at some distance from the water mains that supply the thickly settled portions of Omaha, Dundee always has had some difficulty with water pressure and its only fire protection is a dilapidated hose cart that stands in a shed on Forty-ninth street.

The present scheme which is being quietly talked of among the Dundee fathers is for the property owners of the suburb to make some yearly contribution to the fire funds of Omaha and thus earn a right to some protection.

Wappich Favors Scheme. William P. Wappich, member of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners favors the scheme and says that the board would sanction some sort of arrangement, although no legal contract could be made.

"We could never contract with Dundee for the use of our fire department," says Mr. Wappich, "because the taxpayers of Omaha who support the department are the ones entitled to the service and if Dundee people do not want to come into the corporation they have no claim upon it. But we are human and if Dundee was suffering from the need of firemen the nearby companies would very naturally respond just as we would send help to South Omaha or Council Bluffs in a time of great danger."

"But the Dundee people could make the thing easier if they would contribute say $50 to $500 every year to the firemen's relief fund. The board, would, I think, sanction such an arrangement and the firemen, although they would be technically going outside their territory in crossing the line of Dundee, would be well satisfied to do it as a return of favors. The board would offer no objection I am sure as long as the company continued to consider Omaha as its first responsibility."

"At present there are no engine houses anywhere near, but soon one will be built to cover the part of Omaha between say, Farnam and Cass and west of Fortieth street. This house will be close to Dundee and could manage to answer all important calls. Of course Dundee people could not expect the same service that Omahans get or that every little thimble blaze would bring an engine, but they could not get service for themselves for less than a $5,000 investment and $1,000 a year for maintenance and they would be well satisfied for what they could get with a contribution of a few hundred to the good cause of the firemen."

Short Measure Men Disguise as Old Farmers

Work a Slick Scheme in Their Efforts to Beat Unwary Housewives.

The housewives of the city are being cheated by potato dealers, according to John Grant Page, inspector of weights and measures, and the peddlers who want to be crooked even try to make themselves look like farmers. They are getting potatoes into the city by the carload and then putting them into farmer's wagons instead of peddler's carts and in the part of the arguerist are working off short measures on housewives who do not suspect men who look as if they might have raised the potatoes themselves.

"And even when we catch a short measure man," says Mr. Page, "it is almost impossible to get housewife to go into police court and testify against him. All that is necessary is that the woman who bought the potatoes shall swear that she bought them of a certain man and did not change the quantity before I tested it for correct measure."

"They dislike to go into court so, of course, I am unable to do anything at all. I can't get a man punished without a trial and the evidence against him."

"I have a word of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs. M. I. Esford, Poolesville, Md. For sale by all druggists.

SEEKS PAY FOR SECURING EVIDENCE AGAINST RAILROAD

Woman is Allowed Fifteen Dollars for Her Services for Three Months.

Fifteen dollars for three months' work was awarded Mrs. Mary C. Howard in her suit against Mrs. Dora E. Green in county court Thursday. Her suit was for $100 for services rendered in securing for Mrs. Green evidence upon which to base an action to recover from the Burlington railroad relief fund for injuries sustained by her son, an employe of the road. According to her testimony, she worked tirelessly for three months and after Mrs. Green had won the action by the strength of evidence secured by Mrs. Howard she refused to compensate her.

Judge Leslie, in ruling, said that Mrs. Howard was entitled to some reward for her efforts, but was not entitled to as great a reward as she thought, since she was not well equipped nor familiar with such work.
