

ANNEXATION PETITION FILED

County Clerk Receives Request to Have Question Submitted.

STRONG RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Settles Forth in Unmistakable Terms the Advantages to Be Gained by the Consolidation of the Two Cities.

Resolutions calling for the submission to voters at the fall election of the question of annexing South Omaha were filed in the office of the county clerk Saturday morning, and the fight for the initial step toward a Greater Omaha is on.

Legality of the petition calling upon the Board of County Commissioners to submit to the voters at the November general election the proposition of annexation of South Omaha to Omaha was brought into question Saturday by City Attorney H. C. Murphy of South Omaha and other South Omaha men who oppose the annexation, when they filed a protest against the petition.

The commissioners deferred action on the petition for one week and set next Friday at 10 a. m. as the time for a hearing on the protest. The action was taken in a meeting of the board as a committee of the whole.

Last night the Greater Omaha Consolidation club met in the Magic City and passed a set of resolutions that are unmistakable in tone. They are signed by the men responsible for the beginning of the agitation, and who insist that sentiment in the packing town leans very strongly that way.

The Greater Omaha Consolidation club of South Omaha, including business men, day laborers, packing house employees, mechanics and clerks, knowing that the sentiment of the people of South Omaha for the consolidation of South Omaha with Omaha by an overwhelming majority, deeming it the part of wisdom and to the best interest of all that the city of South Omaha should be merged with the city of Omaha and form one great metropolitan city, hereby pledge that we will advance the cause of consolidation with all the power we command that the cause may triumph as the honest desire of all of the people of this city.

While the city of Omaha has been advancing in greatness and building up tremendously in the past few years, as a city have been standing still. We now feel sure that we will gain an impetus to a greater way. Following is the text of our resolutions, with those of Omaha and working unitedly for the one end of prosperity for all of the inhabitants of one great city.

We believe that we will gain many business enterprises, more property, location and vast amount of trackage when the great enterprises that are ready to come can advance their location as being in Greater Omaha.

We, being a separate and rival city to Omaha, cannot expect to have enterprises sent to us by Omaha until we are part of the city of Omaha. By mutual agreement, Omaha has manifested its intention to give us every advantage in making the merger. It is adjusted by committee to the satisfaction of all the citizens of Greater Omaha to be embodied in a new charter, including the retention of the public schools, the high school, police, firemen, the present postoffice, a sub-treasury and public library.

Knowing that the courts have held that one city cannot furnish water to another, we cities are doing business in a commercial way, and knowing that we will be without water supply in case we are not consolidated with the city of Omaha, in case the city of Omaha buys the water works, we deem it of vast importance that we should be consolidated with Omaha before such an embarrassing situation confronts us as a city.

A general plan for the consolidation of the cities of Omaha and South Omaha will be presented to the voters for their consideration and we feel sure that the vote for this consolidation of the two cities will be an overwhelming as the sentiment is now in our city.

Believing we have everything to gain and nothing to lose, we ask that the people of South Omaha vote for the consolidation of the two cities in the coming November election.

Humors of Suit. Reports that the persons behind the movement for annexation of South Omaha to Omaha were about to go into district court and ask for a mandamus writ ordering the Board of County Commissioners to proceed at once to canvass the petition for submission of the proposition to the voters, were current about the court house Saturday afternoon after the board had decided to defer action in the matter for a week and hold a hearing on the anti-annexation protest against the petition Friday morning. At 3 p. m. no such application had been made.

Horses in Hole Delay Dancers. Carriage Team Plunges Into Unguarded Trench and Are Held for Two Hours.

Falling into a deep unguarded sewer trench, two lively horses became helpless, bruised and panic-stricken, while a long string of other horse-drawn vehicles, automobiles and cars were held up for two hours after the coronation ball Friday night. The accident occurred at Twentieth and Clark streets at about 1 o'clock Saturday morning, as the guests of the ball were returning home.

Allen Murphy and Robert Gantt, with two young women companions, were in the carriage that suffered the mishap. After protracted efforts to pull the horses out had only resulted in getting one animal partly out, a message was sent to the street car company for a derrick. Meantime cabmen adjusted ropes about the horses and the singletrees of another unattached team, and by this means dragged the animals free. Both horses, trembling and weak with fright, were unfit for work. It was reported Saturday that neither of the horses would die.

Jack-the-Clipper Outdone

Ever since the wearing of false hair has been in vogue, unscrupulous thieves have made a practice of clipping the braids from young women and girls and selling them at fancy prices to makers of hair goods. The very name of "Jack the Clipper" has become a household word, and of insidious hair tremble with fear and apprehension.

But there is a more deadly enemy to the hair than "Jack the Clipper"—the enemy "disease," which hair by hair removes the locks from the proudest heads, and because there is no sudden shock or pain in the attack we neglect to fight this subtle enemy until it is too late to save any but the remnants of once abundant hair.

It is time we awoke to the ravages of this foe, which takes from woman her "crowning glory" and reduces our men to baldness. The weapon is ready to our hand—a weapon which in cleansing the impurities from hair and scalp revives and invigorates the tissue, stops the dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and renews its bright luster. Wavolock is guaranteed to successfully fight diseases of the scalp and hair—it is a real hair and scalp medicine. Wavolock will save the hair you have and will grow new hair.
