W. H. CONGILL VERY ILL
Member of Railway Board Suffers
Third Attack of Paralysis.
PHYSICIANS HAVE LITTLE HOPE
W. J. Bryan Principal Speaker at
Session of Farmers' Congress—
Additional Resolutions on Liquor Question.

(From a Staff Correspondent)
LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—W. H. Congill, state railway commissioner, who was stricken with paralysis Saturday afternoon while attending a baseball game, is still unconscious. As this is the third attack and he has remained unconscious since Saturday, physicians do not hope for his recovery. Mr. Congill has served two years as state railway commissioner. He was elected on the democratic ticket for a period of six years. His home was at Holdrege when he was elected. His death at this time will necessitate an appointment by the governor, the appointee to serve for one year until the general election next fall.

Farmers Hear Bryan.
W. J. Bryan held the principal place on this morning's session of the National Farmers' congress. He had been asked to talk on any question which he considered most important to the farmers' attitude and place in national life and the questions of issue which are vitally important to the agricultural classes. His talk of more than an hour received the closest attention and frequent applause. He covered about political subjects largely, but presented them in a non-partisan manner, giving both sides of the question and emphasizing his own views. Among the topics treated were initiative and referendum, the income tax amendment, bank guarantee, direct election of United States senators, gambling in stocks and grain by big manipulators, states rights and the liquor question. Part of these subjects had already been dealt with by the congress in resolutions.

Jake Reimers Was Tired of Life
Farmer Who Held Corn Too Long Hangs Himself to Windmill, Though Prosperous.
NELIGH, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Jake Reimers, living twenty-three miles north of Neligh, was found hanging from a windmill on Saturday evening. He was dependent over his loss from holding his corn over. He owned a quarter section of improved land and had a credit of $45 in the Security bank of Creighton. He had no relatives in this county. Mr. Reimers left a note in his own hand writing saying, "I am tired of living and hang myself. Got two brothers in Germany; let them know. William Reimers, George and Catherine, Holstein, Germany."

Rouse of Omaha preached and Hon. C. A. Anderson and Prof. J. E. Taylor made addresses, presenting and accepting the keys. Mr. Anderson stated that the canvass for funds to build the church began eight years ago and that all the money had been raised and the building was being dedicated without any debt. No collections of any kind were taken at any time during the day.

CHIROPRACTOR SENTENCED
BROKEN BOW, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—After being out nearly two days and one night, the jury on the case of C. F. Wilson, chiropractic adjuster charged with practicing medicine without a certificate, brought in a verdict of guilty. The case was bitterly fought, every phase of it being threshed out thoroughly, and the best legal talent appeared on both sides. Judge Hostetler sentenced the chiropractor to pay the maximum fine of $200 with costs. Mr. Wilson, through his attorneys, will make an appeal to the supreme court at once.

Farmer Builds Automobile
Not a Part of the Machine Came from a Factory.
HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Tony Ockina, a farmer living ten miles southeast of Hastings, today drove to Hastings in the strangest automobile ever seen in this city. The car is entirely of his own making, except that the parts were taken from various machines and vehicles. The body is from a spring wagon and the wheels from a binder. For the steering wheel he appropriated the brass wheel of a box car. The motive of power is supplied by a three and one-half horse power stationary gasoline engine. There isn't as much as a screw in the affair that ever saw the inside of an automobile factory.

SLAYER'S BODY FOUND IN VAT
Local Police Discover Corpse of Murderer Here.
WILL CLEAR UP AN OLD CASE
Bertillon Description Leads to Finding of Body of John Flash, Charged With Killing Officer, in Creighton College.

Coincident with the receipt of a Bertillon description of John Flash, wanted for murder in Chicago, was found Monday in a pickling vat at Creighton college. All the information possessed by the local police is to the effect that Flash came to Omaha in his flight from Chicago after complicity in the slaying of Policeman Meila in that city, and died from natural causes here September 12. Detective William T. Devereux was commissioned to view the body at the Creighton college, and with the aid of the Bertillon measurements and photograph, made an official identification. This action finally clears up the records of the case which has been puzzling the Chicago police since the murder, which occurred April 25. Flash in company with three other men, Stefan Zacek, Joseph Pribila and Steve Ort, were accused of killing the Chicago police officer when he attempted to break up their plundering expedition the night of April 25. Flash escaped and is supposed to have come to Omaha and died of natural causes here last month. Zacek committed suicide in his cell shortly after arrest. The letter from Chief Clancy of the Chicago detective department says that a jury side now set on the cases against Pribila and Ort. He says that evidence has been very strong against them and that he has no doubt that a verdict of guilty will be returned. Flash, who is believed to be the man whose corpse was found in the pickling vat, was under an indictment of first degree murder.

Voting Machines Arrive in Omaha
Come by Express from the Factory in Jamestown, New York.

While the county commissioners have been quarreling over the question of getting voting machines for the November election, Commissioner Fred Bruning has taken the initiative in ordering seven machines from the Empire Voting Machine company of Jamestown, N. Y., and they were sent post haste by express. Deputy County Clerk Dewey was informed of the shipment and Mr. Bruning's telegram by letter and called up the express offices to find that upon four of the machines express duties of $12 would have to be paid and a proportional amount upon the other three. They were expressed, although there was plenty of time between now and November 1 to have them sent by freight. It is understood that three of the machines were ordered by Councilman Brucker and Funkhouser as committeemen on supplies for the city council and other councilmen are asking where they received their authority to make the purchase. The fact that neither side can get around now is that the seven machines are here and must be paid for at full value with express charges of more than $200 thrown in.

Officers Peeved
Visiting army officers were somewhat plucked over the lack of attention given them in a social way during their recent visit in Omaha. To those who were here for the first time this was not so noticeable, but to those who were here last year the lack of attention was most apparent. The complaint is that no opportunity was given them to meet the young people of Omaha before the Ak-Sar-Ben ball at any sort of a reception. It was different last year, when a large reception was given at the Field club. Then the Omaha club was open and many informal affairs were given there. This year the club is closed for repairs. Cards to some of the other clubs were sent to the officers, but they came late in the week. Last year General John C. Cowin opened his home for a reception, but this year there were no private receptions at any homes of leading citizens. Samson maintains that he did what he could by keeping up an officers' club at Fort Omaha during the time of the encampment and in seeing that the officers were well cared for at the Ak-Sar-Ben ball.

Pigeon Flies with a Train
Bird Making Regular Trips Between Stations on Arkansas Railroad.
The pigeon that for the last month or more has been running with the Iron Mountain crews between Malvern and Arkadelphia has extended its runs and now makes the trip from Walco to Gurdon, a distance of thirty-four miles. A brakeman who made the trip over the division this week reported at the Union station that the pigeon made the down trip with his train, joining the crew at Walco, and leaving them at Gurdon, which was the furthest point south it had been known to go previously.
