Second Trial of Damage Suit—For the second time this year the damage suit of Ureac Artobrook, administrator of the estate of Thomas Artobrook, is being tried before Judge Kennedy in the jury division of district court. Mrs. Armstrong seeks heavy damages for the death of her husband, who died from injuries sustained in an accident which she charges was due to carelessness of employees of the stock yards company. Johnson Accepts Reduction—Acceptance of justice seems a foregone conclusion from $1,000 to $600 in the case of Elmer A. Johnson against James A. Ish, was filed in district court by Johnson Tuesday. The case was one for personal injury damages growing out of a fight. Judge Sears reduced the verdict and said that Johnson would accept it if he would overrule Ish's motion for a new trial. The acceptance makes it necessary for Ish to pay the judgment or else appeal to the supreme court. Dangerous Target Practice—On the complaint of George Barna, who lives at 1118 Leard street, Paul Urebelly, a Hungarian laborer of 165 North Eleventh street, was arrested last night on the charge of shooting with intent to kill. It seems that the men had some words, and according to Barna's story, that Urebelly had fired twice at him. Urebelly claims that he was only shooting at a target. For a little harmless target practice, however, the neighborhood of Eleventh and Nicholas was pretty badly frightened. Barna will appear against Urebelly this morning in police court. Taylor Gets Verdict—Daniel E. Taylor wanted too much pay for his services as salesman and the American Radiator company was willing to pay him too little, according to the jury that settled their differences in district court Tuesday morning by returning a verdict for Taylor in the sum of $25.86. Taylor demanded $500 from the radiator company on the ground that it had failed to pay him as much wages as it had agreed to pay in an oral contract which provided for a sliding scale increase in salary from year to year. The defense was that no contract was made and if it was made it was invalid for the reason that the law requires all contracts that cannot be completed in a year to be in writing. ALLEGES LETTER CAUSED HIM TO LOSE JOB AND PROMOTION Charles A. Epps Seeks $20,000 Damage Suit Against Charles C. Burdge for Libel. Asserting he had been thrown out of a good position, his excellent chances for promotion shattered and his reputation as a business man brought into serious question by reason of a letter written to his employer by Charles C. Burdge, an Omaha collector, Charles A. Epps, a former agent for the Singer Sewing Machine company, began a $20,000 damage action against Burdge in district court yesterday. Epps alleges that he was discharged by the singer people as a result of their receipt of the letter from Burdge. Two vacancies in higher positions existed at the time the letter was written, according to Epps, and for promotion to one of them he was in line. Officers of the company, after Burdge's letter was received, discharged him, he says. BLACKSMITH TELLS OF REST Patrick Manning Returns After Twenty-Five Years and Explains His System. Patrick Manning, the man who left Omaha twenty-five years ago after a long career as a blacksmith and said he was through working, returned to the city Tuesday morning on a visit and said he had kept his word. Mr. Manning gives it as his idea that a man can do as much work and make as much money in five years as he could in fifteen years if he works hard enough, and in that case he is entitled to say off for the difference of time. SAN FRANCISCO ENDORSED Commercial Club Finds it Was for Western City All the Time. RESIGNATIONS NOT ACCEPTED Club Rejects Unanimously the Resignations of McCord and Bruce and Gives Them a Vote of Confidence.

The Commercial club has endorsed San Francisco for the exposition. The resignation of W. H. McCord and E. E. Bruce from the executive committee are unanimously rejected and the two men given a vote of confidence.

The above is the net result of the meeting of the executive committee Tuesday noon.

This comes about in a somewhat complicated way. It is held that the public affairs committee through the letters of its members submitted by E. E. Bruce favored San Francisco by a vote of 19 to 3 with 3 neutral. This is now declared to have been the report of the public affairs committee made two weeks ago. It was moved at the time by H. H. Baldridge that the "report of the committee be adopted." This carried and it was officially announced that the executive committee had endorsed New Orleans.

Then came the motion at last Tuesday's meeting to reconsider. This carried, and is now declared to have been done by order of Mr. Cole. Therefore the original action stands.

By this somewhat roundabout way the club officially is recorded to have endorsed the western city.

Tempest in a Teapot. It was announced Tuesday that Mr. Cole's ruling was accepted without demur, but inasmuch as E. E. Bruce resigned during the meeting it looks as if the ruling did not appeal to Mr. Bruce.

Immediately after this a motion was passed by a rising vote rejecting his and W. H. McCord's resignations. How they will receive this is uncertain. Mr. Bruce did not thereafter insist that his resignation stand. The two men were given a "vote of full confidence."

Waiting outside the meeting were Senator W. C. Ralston and C. P. Braslan of San Francisco, and the New Orleans press agent. They wished to be heard, but were not invited to speak.

Mr. Cole had his ruling written out for use in case he were not present. He describes the affair as something of a "tempest in a teapot," and winds up by saying, "Therefore we had much ado about nothing."

The meeting of the committee was to the whole more harmonious than last Tuesday's although some earnest debate went on at times. "Unfair," declared Mr. Bruce at one time.

When the meeting adjourned members of the executive committee looked as if something of a load had been lifted from their shoulders.

The office is also one of the finest railroad homes west of Chicago, having solid mahogany furniture and counter, and is paneled with mahogany half way up the wall. The ceiling is adorned with beautiful frescoes and the final setting of the walls is seen in the onyx basings. A number of novel lighting fixtures put the crowning touch on the new home.

A general rehabilitation is due in this road, a total of five new stations being built through Iowa, the most important of which is the Fort Dodge one. New steel cars are to be put on the Chicago-Omaha line as fast as they can be finished.

Although nothing definite is known as yet, it is rumored that perhaps another of the Omaha ticket offices will be removed from the hitherto popular Franklin street into one of the ground floor offices of the bank building.

Wilhelm Consul Here for Turkey Is Named by the Commercial Club on Request of the Porte.

Charles M. Wilhelm is to be consul for Turkey in Omaha and Nebraska. Mr. Wilhelm was selected for the post by a special committee of the Commercial club which was appointed by the executive committee to name a man, after a request had come from Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor so to act.

Mr. Wilhelm, who is of the Orchard & Wilhelm company, who is of the Orchard & Wilhelm company, who is of the Orchard & Wilhelm company.

BUTLER ORGANIZES BALL TEAM OF ELECTION CLERKS Has Empire, Stars and Quota to Make Up the Full Quota of Club. City Clerk Dan Butler has a ball team of clerks working on the registration returns. His extra force includes Harry Welch, an outfielder on the Omaha Western league team, George Clark, an umpire, Claude Bossett, formerly a professional ball player, and, according to the ball players, "four lady fans."

CIVIL SERVICE DATES ARE SET Examinations for Forestry Clerk and Meat Inspector to Be Held Soon, It is Announced. According to an announcement by the Civil Service commission, examinations for forestry clerks, male, will be held November 22. The salary ranges from $1,100 to $1,300 a year. It was announced that the examinations for meat inspectors had been postponed from November 22 to November 14.

Electric Light Company Gives Bonuses to Men

President Nash Says Strike is Over and the Company Has Full Quota of Employees.

The Electric Light company is this afternoon distributing checks to its employees as a bonus for faithful services, the checks ranging in amounts from $50 to $100, dependent upon the length of service with the company.

"We feel that we would like to show our appreciation for faithful service in a substantial way," said F. A. Nash, president of the company. "The strike is now over and we have our full quota of men at work and will soon start up on all jobs. There are a few service connections around town which were delayed on account of the enormous amount of extra work we had to do in connection with Ak-Sar-Ben festival and carnival. We appreciate the patience of the people of Omaha in putting up with the delays to which we were in a way forced to submit them."

Degree of Honor Women in Session

First Formal Part of the Two Days' Session Was a Reception Last Evening.

An informal reception at the Paxton hotel Tuesday night opened the program of the state convention of the Degree of Honor, the auxiliary lodge to the Ancient Order of United Workmen which convened for a two-day session. The local reception committee of about thirty women headed by Mrs. Mary Sheller of Omaha and the grand chief of honor of the organization, Mr. M. H. Cleaver of Neligh, has been meeting all incoming trains. Five hundred delegates are expected to attend before the convention closes, which will be Thursday or possibly Friday.

Tuesday morning two important committees, the revision of laws committee and the conference committee, were busy with important business. The conference committee is meeting with a committee from the state lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen to discuss the relations between the two organizations. The programs of the meetings will include a number of literary features and musical numbers and exhibition drills by the various degree teams.

Fears Husband With Shotgun

Woman Secures a Restraining Order to Keep Husband Away from House.

Fearing that her husband, Daniel Golden, would execute an alleged threat to shoot her with a rifle if she did not return a portion of the money she had in the bank, Mrs. Lydia Golden went into district court Tuesday and secured an order restraining him from visiting her home, 1222 Cuming street, and from molesting her in any way. She also secured an order for divorce.

According to the story recited in her petition, Mrs. Golden's husband deserted her about a year ago and she began earning her living by conducting a rooming house. Sunday he went to the house, excited a rifle, and swore he would shoot her if she did not share her money with him, she says.

Raymond L. Klots started an action for divorce against Lucille R. Klots in district court Tuesday.

Greek Charged With Conspiracy

Athanasios Gliatotis is Arraigned for Alleged Transportation of Contract Labor.

On a warrant charging conspiracy to violate the immigration laws, Athanasios Gliatotis, a Greek labor contractor, was arraigned before Federal Commissioner Anderson Tuesday morning. Deputy Marshal H. B. Hanes arrested Gliatotis at South Bend, where he was in charge of a gang of Greek railroad laborers.

The case was postponed to November 23. Gliatotis is alleged to have transported laborers into the United States under contract, which is a phase of pedonage. It is alleged, which is prohibited by American laws.

PLAIN MAN BURDETTE HERE

"I Am Neither Poet, Editor Nor Minister," He Says. HAS THEORY ON BOMB AFFAIR

Robert T. Burdette of California Mistaken for Robert J. Believes Bomb Setters Were Outsiders—Has Safety Device for Engines.

"I am neither a poet, editor, humorist, clergyman nor lecturer," said Robert T. Burdette of Los Angeles to a reporter who, seeing the name on the Rome hotel register, jumped to the conclusion that the other Robert Burdette of Los Angeles was a guest of the hotel. This other Burdette is Robert J. Mr. Robert T. Burdette is president of the Pacific Railway Supply company, which sells safety devices to railroads.

Mr. Burdette is in Omaha stopping off on his way home from Washington, where for three weeks he attended a hearing before the Interstate Commerce commission on the recently enacted safety appliance law.

Mr. Burdette begged off discussing the hearing and was seemingly more interested in the bomb outrage in his home which occurred while he was in Washington. He is inclined to believe that the attack on the Times had its origin in another town than Los Angeles.

As between New Orleans and San Francisco and the exposition, Mr. Burdette declared himself not violently partisan, but he added that he had read with interest of Omaha's activities in the matter.

Mr. Burdette has with him a model of a safety device which his company has patented to prevent boiler explosions in both stationary and railroad engines.

"The device is based on the principle of water seeking its own level. The contrivance is attached to the boiler and a tube connects the main boiler with the safety appliance. When the water in the boiler rises to the danger mark, and low water is of course the chief cause of boiler explosions, then water from the safety appliance runs into the main boiler, steam replacing it. The water tube of the safety device incloses a chamber full of mercury, which the steam instantly heats and causes to expand. This expansion can take place in only one direction and this is against one end. Thereby a valve is opened which in an oil gas burning engine causes the supply of oil to the fire to shut off instantly. In a coal burning engine a stream of water is thrown on the fire by the same mechanism. In both cases an alarm whistle is blown.

"The device has been tested most stringently," said Mr. Burdette, "and though I am not trying to advertise it by talking, I may say that it works without flaw. Boiler explosions from low water are an absolute impossibility when this device is used."

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

erwoman, came to the police station this morning to issue a warrant for the arrest of the driver and to have her child's injuries treated. She gave a good description of the driver and was able to tell the name of the firm whose wagon he was driving at the time. He will probably be arrested this afternoon and charged with reckless driving. The child's hurts are not of a dangerous nature.
