Unusual in its coloring and in the gracefulness of the floral expression of these, the wedding of Miss Ruth Moorhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Park Moorhead, and Mr. Frederick Merritt Wing of Chicago, which was celebrated last evening in the family residence, was an event of special beauty.

The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederick T. House, was profusely decorated with southern amilax. A canopy of ferns from which hung white blossoms held by tiny white ribbons formed an exceptionally pretty frame for the wedding party. Preceding the ceremony Miss Julia Coburn of Minneapolis sang a solo, accompanied by Mr. Thomas J. Kelly, who also played the Lohengrin wedding march.

Miss Mary Alice Rogers, who was maid of honor, wore a gown of nasturtium yellow satin draped with white marquisette embroidered with pale green silk, peacocks and crystals.

Mrs. Allen S. Reed, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore white satin with an elaborate over dress of crystal lace embroidered with pearls. Each of the attendants carried a wedding ring bouquet of ferns and deep yellow roses, which was carried over the arm and from this ring was a shower of swanonia, reaching to the hem of the gown.

The bride wore with distinction, a wedding gown of ivory satin, made with yoke of real lace and the bodice elaborately embroidered by hand. A Watteau plait reached from the shoulders to the hem of the square court train.

The wedding veil was of Carramocross lace made in a convent in Carramocross, Ireland, by two young girls who employed several weeks making the exquisite design. The veil was ordered by the bride last summer when she was traveling in Europe. A pretty little note of good wishes to the wearer from the makers accompanied the lace. The veil, which was held by a band-stand, was not worn over the face, but hung in long graceful folds to the hem of the long court train. An old-fashioned bouquet of lilacs of the valley and white orchids was carried by the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony. All the rooms were beautifully decorated with foliage and cut flowers. On the new

Washington Social Gossip

There will be many changes in the diplomatic circle this year. Marquis Gontautouff succeeds Baron Mayor des Planches as Italian ambassador. A new ambassador comes to us from Turkey, Zia Pasha, who succeeds Kiazim Bey, recalled almost as soon as he presented his credentials here to undertake some important work in Constantinople for the new government. There will be a new minister from Sweden in place of Mr. Lagercrantz, who has returned home to accept a portfolio in the cabinet, but no appointment has as yet been made. The legation at present is in charge of Mr. Ekengren, who, with Mrs. Ekengren and their new baby, is back in their Washington home, after a summer passed in Bar Harbor, where the christening of this little Swedish-American baby took place. The new Cuban minister, Dr. Justiz, is little known here, for he succeeded General Garcia-Yebes in April only, and as soon as he had presented his credentials to President Taft returned to Cuba. He is said, however, to be a profound scholar. Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of Representative Champ Clark, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. H. Pitzer, in Colorado Springs. She went to Colorado after her early summer trip to Europe. She has the cordial manner of the westerner and a pleasant way of discussing things. There are few topics which interest women or men which she has not

Personal Notes from Gotham

There is also a Miss Ross, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rivers; Miss Celestine Hitchcock, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr. Mr. Hitchcock, however, is in mourning. There is also Miss Carpenter, daughter of Philip Carpenter, and Miss Irexel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Irexel. There is yet a Miss Acosta not out.

Personal Notes from Gotham

This means a lively time for the younger set. Society of the upper west side was much interested in the large country wedding of Miss Arline Bayliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bayliss, to Milton Wright Griggs of St. Paul, Minn.

The ceremony was performed at Christ church, Port Jefferson, L. I., by Rev. George W. Douglas of Tuxedo, N. Y., and John Morris Greer, rector of Christ church.

The wedding was rather unique in the fact that it was preceded by a large house party at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Bayliss, Belle Terre.

The guests, who came several days prior to the wedding, numbered 150 and the unusual precedent was granted Mr. Bayliss by the Belle Terre club of allowing him to use the club house for all the functions attendant upon entertaining the wedding party.

The best man was Horace Thompson of St. Paul, Minn. The flower girls were Misses Eunice Bayliss and Elizabeth Griggs.

Mr. Griggs is a son of Chauncey M. Griggs of St. Paul, Minn., a graduate of Yale, '10, a member of the Wolf's Head society and also president of the University Track Athletic association.

Miss Henrietta Underhill of Pasadena, Cal., was one of the bridesmaids at the
