Trust Companies Report an Increase, While Banks Find Decrease in Their Loan Accounts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 - (Special Telegram.) The marked rise in the st.ck market was the everamenowing development in the financial world during the week. Absorption of stocks invariably tikes place on a market that acts like a buil market. So it was in this case.

market that acts like a buil market. So it was in this case.

The consequences are that bankers, manufacturers and merchants who do not gamble on margins are accust mied to regard the stock market as a useful, although not infailible index of underlying tendencies in money, trade and industry.

That the rise which practically began in one early part of September has been manipulative is patent, but what is more, it has been rewarded with success in that it has begun to appeal to that outside following which makes up the public, so-called. Commission houses in Wall street and all concerns which make a business of carring sureties on margins for customers, have increased their lines lately, especially in the last fortnight.

Increase in Exports.

Increase in Exports. It is more than likely that some of the news of the week helped the task of raising the speculative structure. On this account much must be said of the foreign trade statement for September. This showed exports of record amount for the month as possible almost $100,000,000 in comparison with 1000, to a little more than $117,000,000. As a result, an export balance was reported amounting to $51,500,000, whereas, August showed an import balance of $5.500,000 and the slight import balance for the 00 and the slight import balance for the first eight mouths of the calendar year was converted to an export excess of about overstimulation of cotton shipments on ac-count of the bill of lading controversy, and the cotton movement in the last three months of the year may make less favor-able comparisons with last year on this account.

Captains of Finance Newsdays Consider Public.

LONGER DEFY Since Time Commodere Vanderbilt

Said "Public Be D-d" Different Attitude Has Bren Fostered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—especial to The Best,—There has been a wonderful change in the attitude of our American captains of industry since William H. Vanderfult uttered his famous, shall I call it war cry, "The public be d-d."

Yes, indeed, it may be that some of the gentlemen at the head of our great corporations feel in their hearts with the late Mr. Vanderbilt, but even they are not saying it for publication, while it is cer-late Mr. Vanderbill, but even they are not saying it for publication, while it is certain that the vast majority of the men who conduct our great business concerns and financial institutions have come to resilise that the public has a very real and vital interest in the manner in which they small be considered, and furthermore that the public has the power and the will to exercise it to see that its interests are protected.

Therefore, instead of indignantly or pet-Therefore, instead of indignantly or pet

Therefore, instead of indignantly or petulantly resenting government supervision, the majority of our financiers are anxious merely to have the supervision conducted on reasonable lines so as not to throw labor out of employment. The public has not yet fully realized this modification has taken place, yet it can be stated with absolute confidence, even although the manamorphosis has not been openly acknowledged by a good many capitalists. The most enlightened view today is that the public should be made fully acquainted with the outs and has of modern business methods so as to enable them to form an intelligent judgment as to how far federal or state interference may go without entailing injurious consequences, consequences that would fail not merely upon the comparatively faw individuals in control of the particular corporation conderned, but upon bond and stockholders as well as employes.

some sort of mysterious organization without some sort of mysterious organization with gradually is it being gramped that corporations is for thousands of people whose interests are identical with those of the companies. It is fittle exaggeration to say that the people of the United States are the corporations, There is scarcely an individual in the country, even though he be not an investor or as employe of a corporation, whose welfare is not in some degree dependent upon the prosperity of these combinations.

It is this cardinal fact—the common interest of the corporations and the public—that our men of affairs are sirving to bring home to those who clothe our legislators with authority. The capitalist is seeking to convey and convince the world that he is not an enemy of his country or of the so-called working classes, but that he is not an enemy of his country or of the so-called working classes, but that he is not an enemy of his country or of the so-called working classes, but that he is a necessary (as well as reasonable) when be of the whole economic family.

With the growth of their feeling cornes the reasonable hope that the right remedy of the trust evils will be found and applied.

Owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the corporation of the earlier part of the year it was generally believed that 190 would not be a profitable year to the holders of stock in American believed that 1919 would not be a profitable year to the holders of stock in American mines and metallurgical works. With the closing of the third quarter of the year, however, judging from the figures available, the year, it is believed, will closs with a record of dividend disbursements greater than that for any year in the history of the industry.

Between January 1 and October 1, 121 mines and metallurgical works reporting to the Mining World have paid dividends totaling $55,887.047, as compared with $45,972.272 paid in the same period in 1909 by 103 companies. That the dividend payments of these mines and works are of regular occurrence is proved by the fact that since incorporation they have yielded profits which permitted the disbursement among shareholders of the enormous total of $509,828,144. This is equivalent to a return of 118 per cent on the total cutstanding capital of $600,447,784.
