RAILROAD AT WAR ON CITY

Missouri Pacific Gets Restraining Order Against Omaha.

TO BE ARGUED OUT MONDAY

City Proposes to Condemn Property at Fifteenth and Nicholas Streets and Railroad Takes Steps to Prevent It.

There is legal war between the Missouri Pacific Railroad company and the city of Omaha—war to determine whether the city shall condemn the property at Fifteenth and Nicholas streets, upon which is located the freight depot, sidetracks and other appurtenances of the plaintiff corporation.

F. A. Brogan, local attorney for the Missouri Pacific, has secured from Judge Munger of the United States circuit court a temporary order restraining the city and its agents from in any way interfering with the property in question. This order is returnable next Friday, and at that time the case will be argued on its merits.

This action comes consequent to an ordinance passed by the city council July 6, this year, in which it was declared necessary to appropriate the south thirty-eight feet of lots 5 and 6, these lots being a part of the Missouri Pacific depot grounds, also the alley adjacent for the purpose of widening Nicholas street from Sixteenth to Thirtieth streets. The necessity of a viaduct along this route was also declared necessary and a committee of freeholders composed of Otto Harmon, H. A. Hobbs and O. J. Scott was appointed to render appraisal of damages incident to the condemnation of property required by the widening of the street and the construction of the viaduct and its approaches.

The railroad attorney in his petition sets forth the assertion that there is no occasion for the widening of Nicholas street at the point mentioned; that there is no need of a viaduct as called for by the council, and that if the property is question is condemned, it will require removal of the depot and other terminal facilities, much to the damage of the railroad. Stress is laid upon the assertion that the hazard of life and limb is at a minimum under present conditions and that the allegations proposed would only increase the danger of crossings.

The petition is a lengthy document, carrying nearly a dozen typewritten pages, in which, among other pleas, there is a claim that such condemnation as is proposed by the city of Omaha is a violation of section one of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. Attorneys, as a rule, delight to delve into constitutional law, and the case of the Missouri Pacific Railroad against the city of Omaha will offer opportunity along that line.

The property involved was originally owned by the Omaha Belt Railway company, but according to the petition on file in the United States circuit court the Missouri Pacific Railroad company purchased it from the Belt line January 13, this year.

"It Seems All"
 This is quoted from a letter of M. Stock, well known here, who recently used Foley's Honey and Tar for the first time. To say I am pleased does not half express my feelings. It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and was threatened with pneumonia. The first dose gave great relief and one bottle completely cured me." Contains no opiates said by all druggists.
