DENIALS COME FROM OFFICIALS
Dealers Indicate Report is True—Franchise Question Playing Part in Consideration of Purchase.
 An interesting rumor has been afloat in real estate circles for the last few days connecting the street railway company with a project to acquire ownership of the handsome and valuable tract of property in the northwestern part of the city known as Walnut Grove and converting it into a riverfront park, with amusement features somewhat after the fashion of Massena. Inquiries among street car officials elicited no confirmatory information, but appeared to excite some interest. Questions propounded to the resident agents representing the owners of the greater part of the property were met with positive declarations that there was "nothing doing." Despite these denials the rumor is persistent in real estate offices, where some details are even advanced.
 One statement is that the street railway company contemplates the purchase of the property and the extension of the Twenty-eighth street car line along the river bank and back to Broadway via Third street. This statement is positively contradicted by the street car men, who say that the company is not engaged in wasting money by building loops that can give but one way service at best.

 The property comprises about fifteen blocks, lying far above the highest high water mark recorded by the river observers. The river forms the boundary line along the entire north and northwest side, and it is about the only bit of river frontage remaining out of the control of the railroads and other big corporations. The land was acquired by L. W. Colby during the hysterical boom of 1877. He platted it and made it a part of the city. The boom bubble burst before any of the lots were sold and Mr. Colby planted nearly the whole tract to young walnut trees. These have thrived prodigiously and the little shrubs have now become stately and beautiful trees.
 The title to the property passed from Mr. Colby and the only tract is now under control of the C. W. Squire company. Some of the lots have been sold and handsomely improved. For the purpose of holding its purchased Lake Manawa and East Omaha charter the street railway company has been operating three cars daily on the line. The service has been of the most perfect character, the single car has constituted the equipment of the line often running but a few blocks and then leisurely rolling back. People living in the Walnut Grove addition have received practically no benefit from the service on account of its irregularity. But since the car company has assumed to be operating under the Manawa franchise, better service has been given and the car frequently runs clear to the bridge and always comes to the junction of Pearl and Broadway. In real estate circles the statement is confidently made that this line, which is more than a mile long, is to be operated on a good service basis and made to encourage the development of that part of the town.

WARRANTS WERE YESTERDAY MORNING placed in the hands of the police detectives for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gilkison charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with the annual publication of the Jennie Edmundson Memorial hospital. The warrants were based on information filed in police court by the hospital authorities. Hospital people that Mrs. Gilkison is the woman who has been soliciting advertisements which she alleged were to be inserted in the annual report of the hospital association and collecting in advance upon the contracts secured from business men. It is asserted that Gilkison assisted in this work and that at least one of the spurious contracts was made by him. Among the business firms so far discovered to have been victimized are Groneweg & Schoeninger, W. A. Maurer, the Council Bluffs Savings bank, J. F. Wilcox, the Euple-Sugar-Hill company, Schmolzer & Mueller, City National bank, Menary Nursery company, the John Henn company, Peterson & Schoeninger, J. B. Long & Co., Keys Bros., Edson E. Damon and Louis Cutler, and it is believed there are others.
 On many of these contracts advance payments were secured, amounting from $1 to $5. Some of the advertisers paid in checks drawn in favor of the hospital, and some of the checks have turned up endorsed by the Gilkisons. The annual report booklet has been out some time and the hospital authorities say they have authorized no persons to solicit business for it or make collections.
 Gilkison has been about town more or less for the last two years. When he first came here he secured financial accommodations from several business and professional men to buy the Weekly Times, then a labor paper. He endured a good deal of financial grief, which involved some of his acquaintances, and a year ago last September the paper failed for lack of ability on the part of Gilkison to pay the printers' bills. It was taken over and reorganized, and Gilkison left town. He returned and attempted to promote an "Eagles" street carnival, but was removed from its management. He then secured a Mr. and Mrs. Gilkison have resided at 26 East Pierce street. They have not been found at their home, although three of their children are there. The officers say they have been out of town for several days.

 J. W. Farrier, a former Council Bluffs lawyer and justice of the peace, who left here seven or eight years ago to engage in educational work in the Philippines, has returned for his home. He has been leaving for the islands. He brought home a wonderful collection of curios, the product of years of collecting in the islands. Mr. Farrier has made a great success of his educational work, and is financially and otherwise, and will return after a short visit here.

WAY TO CIRCUMVENT HORSE FOUND BY LANE
Clever Dick at Last Must Remain in His Stall, for Human Ingenuity Has Tricked Him.
 Police Patrol Driver Elmer Lane has at last contrived a scheme that Dick, the bright and mischievous horse, appears to be unable to fathom when he wants to liberate himself from the stall. Lane found it impracticable to change the location of the pulley rope that released the stall door latches and let the horses run to their places under the harness. This was the rope Dick would patiently work until he could reach and release the fastening. Lane thought he had the problem solved when he moved the rope several feet from the stall and left the end dangling in the air seven feet from the floor. When Dick found he couldn't reach it he snorted in disgust, and the blast of air set the rope swinging. This gave the horse an idea and when Lane went upstairs Dick blew at the rope in rhythmic blasts until he caught the swinging end in his teeth, pulled the levers, liberating himself and then snorting and dropping the suspended harness to the floor.
 When Lane came down to investigate the uproar Dick was the happiest horse in Council Bluffs, and Lane says the creature actually showed him how the trick was worked. Lane then got a section of rubber hose and ran the pulley rope through it. Now Dick can get at the rope at all without affecting the rope, and Lane believes he has successfully circumvented the horse.

Mrs. George Foster Seeks Husband, Who is Later Found Under Arrest at Gravity, Iowa.
 Yesterday afternoon a woman, who said her name was Mrs. George Foster, went to the office of Chief of Police Froom and asked assistance in finding her husband, who had been missing since the first week in October. Mrs. Foster said she was living with her infant child at 738 South 18th street. She showed the chief a letter from her husband dated at Newmarket, Ia., October 5, and another from Marceline, Mo., October 12. The chief recalled the fact that in the newspapers for the last few weeks there had been appearing accounts of the arrest of a George Foster at Bedford, Ia., on the charge of horse stealing at Gravity, Ia., and that he had confessed to the theft. He read the story to the woman, but she said that it could not possibly be her husband. She then gave a minute description of the missing man, including his clothing, and the chief wired to the sheriff at Bedford for confirmation. A telephone message last night left no doubt about the identity of the man at Bedford.
 A singular coincidence is recalled by the fact that on October 17, relatives of R. L. Foster at Newmarket came to the Council Bluffs police station and asked assistance in finding R. L. Foster, who had been missing from his home there since October 5. His relatives said he came to Council Bluffs with a cartload of apples, stopped at the Kiel hotel on the night of October 7, and then disappeared, leaving his apples on tracks here. The chief put it to the test and the two Fosters are in no way related and are unknown to each other. R. L. Foster has since been located.
 The Foster under arrest at Bedford told the officers there that he had a wife and child, but refused to tell where they were living. The horses were stolen on the night of October 5, the day after the Fosters left Newmarket to become missing, each unconscious of the existence of the other.

Cummins at Marshalltown.
 MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Senator A. B. Cummins opened the republican campaign in central Iowa in a great speech here this evening, in which he urged upon all republicans, no matter what might have been their differences and disagreements within the party, to unite in support of the entire state, congressional and local tickets. He pleaded eloquently for the cause of republicanism and declared that there are such fundamental differences between the parties that no man should hesitate.
 The senator repeated and reiterated his well known views and those of the republicans of Iowa, in regard to the tariff and the issue which confronts the people as between the protective system and the revenue tariff system.
Claimants for Bechelet's Estate.
 MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—No sooner had it been announced in a local newspaper that Thomas Cahill, an old eccentric Irish bachelor, who died Friday, had left his property, amounting to $2,000, to the Sisters of Mercy, who own St. Thomas' hospital, where he died, than a second will appeared. As a result there will be a contest. The latest will to make its appearance was made by Cahill on September 2, and by it all of his property was left to pretty Grace Kruse, an Ackley, Ia., girl, who was then nursing at the hospital, being a student in the training school for nurses. The will by which Cahill left his estate to the Sisters of Mercy was made the day before his death. Contest is to be brought on the ground that he was unduly influenced and not in possession of his faculties.

STATE OF NEW YORK

 ROCHFORD, N. Y.
 Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.
