LAST WORK ON COURTHOUSE

Contracts for Elevators and Electric Wiring Finally Let.

HIGH BIDDERS GET BOTH JOBS

County Board Has Preference and Lets Work to Firms that Furnish What It Has in View.

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Includes 'General construction', 'Hollow tile', 'Air purifier', etc.

Contracts for elevators and electric wiring for the new county building were awarded to the Otis Elevator company and the Johnson Electric company of Omaha by the Board of County Commissioners last evening.

High Bids Get Work

In neither case was the contract awarded to the lowest bidder. The original bid of the Otis Elevator company was $30,920; the Kimball Elevator company's bid of $24,000 being the lower.

The bids for electric wiring were practically the same as those opened, and rejected by the board three weeks ago, being as follows: Unity Electric company, St. Paul, $19,983; Johnson Electric company, Omaha, $11,267.

Mystery in Wiring Contract

When the bids on wiring were opened three weeks ago Commissioners Johnson and Bedford favored awarding the contract to the Johnson company.

The elevator and wiring contracts are the last to be let.

MEN'S PLACE IN CHURCH

Chancellor Urges Talks of Relations as Should Be Membership on Purposes.

The relations that do exist and those that should exist between the pastor of a church and the members of his congregation, particularly the men members, was discussed by Chancellor Samuel Avery of the University of Nebraska Friday night before the Men's club of Westminster Presbyterian church.

"We may admit in a general way that women must supply the more obviously emotional and spiritual forces in religious work," said the chancellor, "and men may be expected to perform the more unemotional tasks. If women must be called the men must catch the winds of the religious seas, the men are the ballast that steadies the hold, and I have noticed that it is the ship with the best ballast that gets along most securely."

Comparatively few men of the business or intellectual type are capable of doing the emotional part of the work. Men are naturally unemotional, especially those of us who are descended from Scotch and English Puritans.

"The man who uses the pastor only as a means of escape from his own life, who would never think of making a great display of his patriotism and who would never talk about it, but would be the first one to volunteer and face danger for their country. This same sort of man would feel ashamed if called upon in public to express his devotion, I would say nothing against the effective man and the man who so openly express his feelings, but the ineffective man has his own work. His religion ought to be just as definite, just as confident, and just as solid as the religion of a man of the emotional type."

"Church membership should be on a basis of purpose, not of abstract belief. Every man who helps in the church work in any way should be considered part of it. Protestant churches have been liable to loss as compared with the other churches because of insistence upon the idea of actual conversion. Many men walk outside the actual membership of the church waiting for a psychological change which in most of their part is entirely impossible."

U. S. GIRLS HAVE MEETINGS

Societies Talk of Halloween and Its Origin.

TWO SMALL PLAYS GIVEN

Boys' Debating Societies Also Assemble Yesterday and Hold Discussion of Various Topics.

Attractive Halloween parties announced the meetings of the girls' societies of the high school yesterday afternoon. Members of the Lincoln Travel club gave the following program: Reading of "Talmage," "Josie Embien; recitation, "Candle Lighting Time," Gladys Lane; reading of essay, "The Origin of Halloween," Gertrude McDonald, and selections from magazines on Halloween, Mae Gaeaster. After the program the society adjourned to the gymnasium, where the girls played games.

The Hawthorne society gave the following program: Theresa Hokanson, description of how Halloween was formerly celebrated, original story by Elizabeth Gould, Margaret Herman gave a weird recitation entitled "That Awful Ghost," Eva Hender and Ethel Reinshreier gave recitations.

In the Margaret Fuller society the members discussed the heavenly bodies. Lila Goodrich recited Eugene Field's poem on the stars. Blanch Blusk gave some interesting facts on the same subject. Irene Johnson told of the "Great Bear Glim Dickey" recited "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," Ruth Dowling gave the Dickens "A Child's Dream of a Star," Ruth Kach talked of the milky way and Margaret Nattinger spoke on the "Omaha High School Zodiac."

The Francis Willard society had perhaps the clearest program and its members gave the following: Margaret Weyman, recitation; Lila Caley and Helen Johnson, readings on "The Old-Time Halloween"; Eleanor Gillan, piano solo; original stories, Elizabeth Fullerton and Elizabeth Feldhuser, Rhoda Lincoln gave a recitation on the founding of Halloween, Ida Brodsky played a beautiful piano solo.

The girls in the Priscilla Aiden society gave their program in two parts. In the first Helen Cosgrove read an essay, Jennie Hilsop and Adeline Gibbs gave a clever dialogue, entitled, "A Touch of Humor." Lois Howard gave a reading and Madeline Elson a recitation. As the second part of the program the girls had a little play, Irene Loomis gave the prologue.

The Browning society did not observe Halloween as the other societies did, but gave a very interesting program, notwithstanding. Rosie Heaton told of conversation in a high school and brought in various amusing incidents as described by the average high school girl. Helen Pogue gave a recitation entitled "As Others See Us." Ethel Fry told the society how "to get a Latin lesson," and Myrtle Hall recited "Merely a Hint." Dorothy Lack read "People on the Street." Gertrude Woltzell read the society's oration.

The Elaine society had an artistic program drawn by Catherine Woodruff. In the program of this society numbers were first given by Marie Cook, Martha Moore and Laura Zimmerman. These were followed by a play, "The Singles Family," in which took part Eleanor Patrick, Mildred Ann, Laura Zimmerman, Ann Purdy, Maren Burchmore, Katherine Crook, Dorothy Carlisle and Katherine Fearon.

Two boys' societies also met. In the meeting of the D. B. S. a debate was taken part in by Fred Rypine, Maurice Peterson, Philip Johnson and Park Larson. Henry Mayer and Alfred Adams were also on the program. In the Athenian society Willard Cooper and Charles Peterson held a debate. Alfred Bittenshouse, Emil Bedock and Max Block were also on the program.

OMAHA AD CLUB HAS BULLY TIME

Is Well Entertained at the Lincoln Carnival by the Lincoln Boosters.

Members of the Omaha Ad club to the number of more than 100 journeyed to Lincoln last night as the guests of the Lincoln Ad club at the carnival conducted by them, and on returning reported "a bully good time."

The party left for Lincoln at 8:35 p. m. over the Rock Island on a special train. Upon their arrival in Lincoln they were met by a brass band, a body of militia and a company of mounted guards and under this escort marched to the Auditorium, where the carnival is being held.

At the Auditorium they were welcomed in a short speech by the president of the Lincoln Ad club and delightfully entertained by a vaudeville program. During the intermissions the Omaha club in turn entertained the house with a number of their songs. After the program they were shown a short street car ride and a tour was taken to the station, where the Lincoln club had provided refreshments for the return trip in the form of 200 bottles of milk and a great supply of sandwiches.

The return trip on the train was a most enjoyable affair. A stage was set up in one end of a car and two red and green spotlights made to serve as footlights. From this a vaudeville program, characterized by one as "polite, refined and fun-gated," was given. Burd Miller, the architect, rendered a few solos of merit on his sweet potato whistle. Laurie J. Taylor gave imitations of the town noted actors and "Jack" Hogan brought down the house, and also the stage, with a clever song and dance sketch. The program altogether contained fourteen distinct numbers of merit. The trip back was made in but thirty minutes, only one hour and twenty-five minutes. The club reached Omaha with 150 bottles of milk to the good.

The Omaha and Lincoln Ad clubs are endeavoring to bring the two cities together, they being the two organizations at present working very strongly along the lines of harmony.

DEMAND AGENTS' CODE BOOK

Attorneys for Mrs. Ida L. Haas Ask District Court to Make Order Against Mutual Life.

Alleged failure of the Mutual Life Insurance company to furnish C. S. Egberter and Joel W. West attorneys for Mrs. Ida L. Haas, with a copy of the company's agent's instruction book to aid them in their preparation of a case against the company resulted in the filing of a demand for the book by Egberter and West in district court yesterday.

The action is one to collect $100 on life insurance policies carried by Mrs. Haas late husband. Since it has been in the courts for about eight years the total sum involved has increased to approximately $3,670.

BROWN AND BURKH SPEAK

Make Addresses at Fremont Before Enthusiastic Crowds.

DAHLMAN TALKS AT LINCOLN

Speaks to Large Audience in German Hall and is Later Endorsed by Judge Oldham—Talks at Havelock.

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—The best attended political rally of the local campaign was held at the opera house last evening. Grant A. Mathis presided and introduced H. H. Oldham, the first speaker of the evening, reviewed briefly some of the work of the attorney general's office in the freight rate case. Mr. Aldrich spoke for an hour on railroad regulation and county option. The question before the people, he said, is "shall the people of the territories rule? He showed from Dahlman's speeches that the democratic candidate did not stand on the platform of his party and commented at some length on the prominent democrats who were opposing him for this reason. Senator Brown also devoted the most of his time to state issues, but briefly reviewed the circumstances attending the passage of the federal railroad law and the attempts of himself and Senator Burkett to secure free lumber.

BIG CROWDS HEAR BURKETT

Senator Makes Addresses in Fillmore and Hamilton.

FAIRMONT, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The hall at this place which held the democratic meeting a few nights ago was too small to accommodate the crowd which gathered to hear Senator Burkett, Congressman Hinshaw, Senator Sloan and others last evening, and so the meeting was held in the new theater, which was filled to overflowing.

Senator Burkett arrived while Mr. Hinshaw was speaking and received a great ovation as he passed to the platform. Mr. Smith, republican candidate for the senate, and Mr. Larson, candidate for the house, both addressed the audience. Congressman Hinshaw, in his address, spoke very enthusiastically of the progressive work of Senator Burkett, as he has witnessed his work personally and showed the audience very plainly how the people were being deceived by the misrepresentation of votes of the senator on the tariff bill.

Senator Sloan spoke for a few moments on state and national issues and met with a hearty reception from the people of his home county.

Senator Burkett then addressed the large audience for over an hour, reviewing the work of the republican party in congress and predicting great things to be accomplished should the next congress continue republican.

Very little Dahlman sentiment exists here and words of praise for Mr. Aldrich, republican candidate for governor, is heard on all sides. The Hitchcock matter is taking considerable of the enthusiasm out of his followers and at the present rate there will not be much for Mr. Hitchcock to expect from Fillmore county.

After a cold ride by automobile, Senator Sloan and Congressman Hinshaw arrived here at 9 o'clock this morning from Aurora and addressed a record-breaking morning crowd of over 250. Both gentlemen delivered addresses which were greeted with applause and left an impression that the republican issues this year were the issues to support. Just one lone Dahlman button could be seen in the crowd, and the general sentiment here seems to be that with the two leading candidates of the democratic party on the CAMBRIDGE, Neb., Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Cambridge defeated Oxford here today in a one-sided game, 29 to 0. Oxford was outclassed, but played to the finish.

GREAT WESTERN INCREASES REVENUE IN RECENT TIME

Earnings Much Bigger Since Reorganization, but Expenses Also Have Mounted Higher.

The first annual report of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company for the ten months ending with June 30, 1910, shows a total revenue of $10,717,282.50, compared with $10,717,282.50 for the same period in 1909. The increase of $1,071,282.50 over the same ten months ending June 30, 1909, was due to an increase of $1,071,282.50 in the revenue, but because of increased expenses of operation the income netted by no more.

DAHLMAN ROASTS PROFESSORS

Favors University Money, but Insults Faculty of Politics.

LINCOLN, Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—To an audience of more than 1,000 voters assembled in the German hall here last night, under the auspices of the United German societies, Mayor James C. Dahlman of Omaha discussed county option and other issues of the campaign. He received frequent applause during his address and he had the full sympathy of the crowd from his opening statement.

Probably his greatest applause came when he announced that he favored liberal appropriations for the state university, but he wanted it distinctly understood that as governor he would use his influence to see to it that the professors attended to their school duties and did not spend so much time in politics. The cheering which followed this statement lasted for several seconds.

The mayor received great applause when he announced that he would veto a county option bill if elected governor, and the legislature passed the bill in doing this he said he would not be acting as a czar because if he is elected a majority of the people show that they oppose county option.

Following the speech by the mayor, Colonel Holtzer of Polk county rushed to the platform and made a train in behalf of Dahlman, announcing that he was one of the pioneer populists of the state.

Judge Oldham and other prominent democrats occupied seats on the platform and in the audience were many advocates of county option. Judge Oldham spoke endorsing Dahlman.

LEADING FRUIT MAN DEAD

Hugh D. Foy Expires at Home in Omaha After Illness of Four Weeks.

Hugh D. Foy, fruit dealer, known all over the United States, for the last thirteen years a resident of Omaha, succumbed to a four weeks' illness at his home, 252 Harney street, yesterday afternoon. At the time of his death Mr. Foy was general eastern agent for the Lamoneta company of Santa Paula, Cal.

Mr. Foy was born in New York state in 1842. He came west twenty-five years ago and engaged in the fruit business, continuing until his death. At different times he served practically all the largest fruit concerns in the west. He was a member of the Omaha Commercial club. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

This Enoch Arden Has Second Wife

Iowa Man Puts Really New Frills and Trimmings on Old Story.

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Enoch Arden, No. 873, turned up in Waterloo today in the person of Glasgow Garland. He is the Iowa man who puts a few new frills and trimmings on the old story.

Mr. Garland did not come to dispute the married life of his old wife and her new husband, an act often accounted a "new" version of the Tennyson poem theme. For Garland has a new wife of his own.

He came to see his children, because after an absence of twenty-four years he was impelled by a desire to see his first offspring. Mr. Garland was 35 when he left without a word and is now 59. He found his wife married and his children, of course, adults, with families of their own for the last eighteen years.

Mrs. Garland No. 1 long mourned for him, supposed him to be dead. She worked hard to support her children and live the married life in the Iowa man was induced to marry partly at least on the children's account.
