NEBRASKA FOURTH IN CORN

Illinois Has Most Acres, but Indiana More Per Acre

LESS GRAIN-EATING ANIMALS

Assertion is Made That Price is Bound to Stay Down Because of the Prevailing Conditions of Demand

Four states are in a class by themselves in producing corn this year, according to an analysis of the government's crop report for October, which has been subjected to a study by the Fraser company to keep abreast of the market.

Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio are the four states which rank in total production of corn in the order given. All of them have over 100,000,000 bushels of corn in the fields this year, Kansas, which has 100,000,000 bushels below the 200,000,000 bushel mark, is sixth in rank. Indiana is fifth with 185,000,000 bushels.

In production per acre Indiana is at the top, but Illinois really leads here when the far greater acreage concerned is considered. Indiana averages 7.58 per acre and Illinois has that, 7.5, Kansas is 7.5, Missouri is 7.5 and Nebraska is 7.5, Iowa is only 7.5.

The table showing the figures is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: State, Acres, Bushels

Increased Production

Omaha grain dealers say that the report is right when it declares that increased production the whole country considered, and decreased consumption in cattle-feeding units means that a low price level is inevitable.

"In four years out of the five preceding this consumption was practically the same, the fluctuations in supply being equalized by corresponding increases or decreases in final stocks carried over. The exception is the year 1907, when something like 250,000,000 bushels was used than during the other years, under review. The records show that this increase in distribution was stimulated by the low range of corn prices, May corn in Chicago ranging between 42 and 50 cents during practically the life of the delivery, the greater part of the year.

In corn prices the low range was maintained last year, but during the last three years actual corn prices were less by about 200,000,000 bushels each year and co-incident with this shortened consumption it may be noted that similar range of the May option was around 80 cents or more."

In conclusion, many foreign buyers are to be seen. They appreciate the fact that this great park is the only place in the world where real greys of any kind can be seen.

Mr. Haynes, who is a St. Paul, Minn., man, manages the stage company which conducts the people through the park, 185 vehicles of different kinds being used in this business. His office is stationed at the Union Pacific entrance to the park at Yellowstone, and from there passengers are taken on a trip of 120 miles through the park, in a five days' trip.
