You'll find your opportunity in the new west

Daniel Webster's mistake

One day in 1843, while addressing the United States senate, he pictured that portion of country, which we know today to be full of natural resources, many being already developed, as being nothing more than a burden to the nation, then in her infancy. The following is his description of this wonderful section:

"What do you want of the vast and worthless area; that region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts, of shifting sands and whirling wind, of dust, of cactus and prairie dogs? To what use could we ever hope to put those great deserts and those endless mountain ranges, impenetrable and covered to their very base with eternal snow? What can we ever do with the western coast, a coast 3,000 miles, rockbound, cheerless and uninviting?"

The Western Land-Products Exhibit to be held in Omaha January 18 to 28, 1911

Will show what use has been made of this worthless (?) area, and what the possibilities are for its future. In 1909 Nebraska's cereal crop alone was valued at $165,979,000. In this same year this state produced $4,914,000 worth of potatoes and $13,650,000 worth of hay. In 1909 there were thousands of settlers in the irrigated sections of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington, who received as high as $1,500 and $2,000 clear profit from a single acre of ground. This exhibit will consist of real live exhibits that will show you what others have done and the man in charge will be full of information as to the localities awaiting thousands who may have the same opportunities as those who have gone before.

The Omaha Bee and The Twentieth Century Farmer

wish to convince the people about the wonderful possibilities of the west, and they are backing up the Western Land-Products Exhibit because they realize that an exhibit of this kind will show people more of the real truth about this wonderful section than any amount of pure talk; and their real interest in the upbuilding of this empire is due to the fact that they realize that it is upon the west that Omaha must depend for its future progress and greatness.

Land information bureau

So many of our readers have written us from time to time, asking us for reliable information as to soil, climate and value of land in localities in which they were thinking of locating or buying for investment, that we have decided to establish a Land Information Bureau. This bureau will make investigations and gather data, so that it will be able to either answer inquiries direct, or give parties wanting information the names of reliable persons to whom they can write. When writing, address, Land Information Bureau, The Twentieth Century Farmer, Omaha, Neb.

The Bee aims to print a paper that appeals to intelligence; not to an appetite for scandal and sensation.
