suit by those awful men in Iowa and Indiana? These were the questions which surged from the bosoms of thousands of good men and women who loved little Virginia. There was no doubt it must be true. Mr. Bryan, who united himself to Miss Court Option, one of our beloved maidens, had practically deserted her, and for what?

To follow the man who despises her; a beneficiary of the state treasury shortage; Gilbert M. Hitchcock.

ANDREWS TAKES OF TARIFF

McKinley law for the fiscal year of 1894 was only $131,000,000, while under the Wilson law for 1898 the revenue was $150,000,000. If the volume of revenue should be used as a basis of argument the conclusion would follow that the Wilson tariff was a revision upward on the McKinley tariff. Here is another instance: In 1897 the volume of revenue under the Wilson tariff was $175,000,000, while the first year—1898—the revenue under the Dingley law was only $150,000,000. This would argue that the Dingley tariff was a revision downward on the Wilson tariff.

"Note the extremes under the Dingley tariff," Mr. Andrews continued. "It yielded $36,000,000 under its first full year and in 1897, the maximum year, it yielded $122,000,000. The same law and the same rates of duty prevailed, but there were widely different volumes of revenue. These differences are accounted for upon the basis of fluctuations in the volumes of national and international trade."

Compared with Dingley Law. During the last fiscal year the total receipts from customs was $22,755,000. During that year the Dingley law was in force from July 1 to August 8, and consequently both the Dingley and Payne tariffs must be considered in connection with the revenue that year. It is asserted with absolute accuracy that the Payne tariff is a revision downward. The only question of debate that can possibly exist among republicans is the extent to which the downward revision was carried.

Of course democratic revision would have probably carried that tariff farther downward to the point of financial and industrial paralysis for the entire country. The democrats who have assailed republican tariff legislation and are now leading the crusade against it are the men who were responsible for the Wilson tariff. Let the republicans present their facts. "It is possible that our opponents have forgotten the failure of their policies as applied from 1898 to 1907. Surely the voters of this country have not forgotten the financial and industrial depressions of those years. Yet the democratic leaders ask the people to abandon their present policy to follow the democracy again into the realm of disaster."

EFFECT ON PRICES

"Much has been said concerning the effect of the tariff duties on the increases of the retail prices of merchandise to American consumers. Many people have erroneously declared that tariff duties are the direct cause of such increases. In response to such criticism I invite attention to three very common articles of merchandise—sugar, coffee and tea. The sugar schedule has been bitterly assailed, while silence has prevailed concerning coffee and tea. What are the facts? During the fiscal year 1909 we imported nearly 4,000,000,000 pounds of unrefined sugar whose foreign value was $62,000,000 and upon which we collected $65,000,000 in revenue. The average foreign market value of that sugar was 25 cents per pound. The average rate of duty per pound was 1.4 cents. The resulting pound of unrefined sugar cost the American importer, duty paid, 37 cents. As shown by reliable statistics from commercial agencies, the average selling price of all grades of sugar to consumers throughout the United States was 5 cents per pound. With that tariff duty the selling price to the consumer and 27 cents per pound as the actual cost to the importer, duty paid, there was left 1.3 cents per pound, out of which all transportation charges are to be paid, all expenses of refining and all profits to importers, trusts, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers. The facts show that the consumer paid 25 1/2 per cent advance on the import cost of sugar."

IMPORTATION OF COFFEE

"During the fiscal year 1909 we imported 1,640,000,000 pounds of coffee whose foreign market value was $79,000,000, the average rate of duty was 1.4 cents. The resulting pound of coffee cost the American importer, duty paid, 37 cents. As shown by reliable statistics from commercial agencies, the average selling price of all grades of coffee to consumers throughout the United States was 5 cents per pound. With that tariff duty the selling price to the consumer and 27 cents per pound as the actual cost to the importer, duty paid, there was left 1.3 cents per pound, out of which all transportation charges are to be paid, all expenses of refining and all profits to importers, trusts, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers. The facts show that the consumer paid 25 1/2 per cent advance on the import cost of coffee."

DEMOCRATIC THEORY EXPLODED

"The average import cost of tea on the free list for 1909 was 15.3 cents per pound. After searching diligently for some time I have failed to find a single dutiable article of merchandise that sells to the American consumer for an advance equal to that on tea and coffee. There what becomes of the democratic theory that trusts will be destroyed by placing articles of merchandise on the free list? "We assert in the light of this and other facts that the control of corporate power and wealth is just as important in dealing with business under free importations as it is in dealing with business under dutiable importations. "Under the present administration careful investigations are made with respect to the violation of the anti-trust laws and guilty parties are being brought to justice and the business affairs of the country are being gradually leveled according to the rules of equity, consumers, purchasers, merchants, manufacturers and all. We have never had under any administration with which I have any acquaintance a more intelligent, efficient, just enforcement of anti-trust laws than we have under the administration of President Taft. "The course the hand is not called out to play 'Hail to the Chief' every time some important event occurs in connection with this work. Nevertheless the business proceeds with a firmness and intelligence that will thwart evil designs against the public and safeguard business everywhere. As a loyal republican I am anxious to see not only two but six more years of such effective work under the administration of President Taft."

SURPLUS IN BEADLE FUND

Suggestion that Money Be Used for State of First Governor of South Dakota. HURON, S. D., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The report presented to the State Teachers' association by the committee in charge of the memorial fund for the erection of a statue to General W. H. Beadle in the first capital building at Pierre, gave $450 as the amount on hand. This exceeds the cost of the statue nearly $200. What disposition of the surplus will be made has not been determined upon. Suggestions, however, were made that it be devoted to a statue in honor of A. C. Mellette, the first governor of South Dakota. Others urged that a duplicate of the Beadle statue be procured and placed on the campus of the normal school at Madison.

STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS IN NEW YORK HALTED

Recognition of Expressmen's Union Brings Situation to Renewed Deadlock. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Union recognition, the rock on which it was apprehended the years movement in the express strike might split, today appeared to be a stumbling block in the way of effective preliminary negotiations between companies and men. Two of the companies still held out against treating with the strikers, except as former employees. The men declared while they do not demand a "closed shop," they must insist upon recognition of their organization. This state of affairs has brought the situation to a renewed deadlock and the outlook for peace which was so promising yesterday seemed decidedly poor today. A conference at which the whole situation was canvassed was in progress this afternoon between the three leaders of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and International President Tobin. The conference was behind closed doors.

Doctors Feast and Crack Jokes at Their Banquet

Members of Alumni Association of Nebraska College of Medicine Have Social Reunion.

With a good fellowship meeting the members of the Alumni association of the Nebraska College of Medicine cemented the effects of their first annual alumni week into a lasting association to work for the growth of the school in the future. Their session was held at the Hotel Home. Dr. C. W. M. Poynter of the class of 1893 was the toastmaster of the occasion and he made the first speech for prolonging the good work started by the alumni in this first meeting. "I have been in several post-graduate courses in eastern schools and know that the University of Nebraska is as good as any of them. The fact that it is one of the seven or eight American schools that admit scholars into the British Isles schools proves this."

NEBRASKA MAN CLAIMS ESTATE

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Thomas Steward of Marshall, Neb., is said to have a claim to the estate of the late Dr. J. M. Steward, an heir of Thomas Cahill, an eccentric old Irishman, who died recently at St. Thomas hospital, leaving a large estate and two wills. By the first of these he left all the property to Miss Grace Kruse, a pretty nurse who nursed him during the first weeks of his illness. The second will he left all to the Sisters of Mercy. Steward says he is a nephew of Cahill's and that he came to this country with his uncle, with whom he lived in Marshall county for several years before differences separated them. Steward says Cahill had a sister living in Ireland when he left that country twenty-eight years ago.

PHOTOGRAPH AT FUNERAL

MASON CITY, Ia., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—A photograph at a funeral service is certainly a novelty, and yet, in carrying out the wishes of Oliver Andrews, whose funeral was held here at 10 o'clock yesterday, it was used, and, according to his request, "Work for the Night is Coming," a male quartet was played. And it was so beautifully rendered that there was no criticism offered by anyone. Mr. Andrews was the man who ordered his coffin and the style of trimming and everything in connection with the funeral. Among the speakers at his death, he was a highly respected citizen and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

NEW NATIONALISM NOT SOCIALISM

The colonel explained his doctrine of "new nationalism," giving his usual definition of it as the application to new conditions of the old nationalism. He expressed his disagreement with the United States Supreme court in the "take shop" case, and his criticism of ex-Judge Simon Baldwin, democratic candidate for governor of Connecticut, for his decision against the workingmen's compensation act. Colonel Roosevelt explained that he sought was an equal opportunity for all men. "My opponents call that socialism," he said, "but it is the antidote for socialism." These conditions which throw men in the street, he said, are the result of a fifty for a life of pauperism, are wrong," he continued. Genuine popular rule and absolute honesty, he asserted, were necessary to overcome them.

PROGRESSIVE AND REASONABLE

WEST LIBERTY, Ia., Nov. 4.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived at 1 o'clock and made a short speech in behalf of Charles Grik of Davenport, republican candidate for congress. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 4.—Antonio Rodriguez, of Las Vacas, Mexico, aged 25 years, was burned at the stake tonight by a mob at Rock Springs, Tex., following his confession that he shot and killed Mrs. Lena Henderson, wife of a ranchman yesterday, because she "spoke mean" to him. Rodriguez was arrested this morning when he applied at a ranch near Rock Springs for food. The forming of the mob began early in the afternoon, and by night several thousand persons had gathered. Later the crowd stormed the jail structure at Rock Springs, overpowered the guard and took Rodriguez some distance from the city to an already prepared pyre. Without a show of emotion and offering little resistance, Rodriguez was bound to the stake and the torch applied. When his body was completely incinerated the mob dispersed and a dispatch several hours later from Rock Springs reported conditions as practically normal, with no further disorder anticipated.
