

SEVERE STORM IN THE EAST

Gale at Baltimore Damages Aviation Field and Machines.

SNOW SPOILS MAURETANIA'S MARK

Large Portion of Pennsylvania is Covered with Six to Ten Inches of Snow—Communication Impeded.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 4.—A storm of rain and wind, commencing intensely played havoc at the aviation field last night. Rain, that with a high wind, compelled a postponement of the day's program, developed into something nearly approaching a blizzard by midnight, at which time snow had been falling for four hours and pedestrians in Baltimore were made uncomfortable. But this was nothing to what was happening at the aviation field. There the wind rose to a velocity of forty miles an hour, and at 11:30 the hangar, in which were stored the American machines, was blown down. In it were two Curtiss machines, two belonging to Draxel and two of Wright's. Half an hour later half of the European hangar went down. In it were Radley's machine, two belonging to De Lesseps and Latham's Antoinette. Other structures on the field also suffered.

Mauretania in Snowstorm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—After making the quickest trip in history across the Atlantic, until almost at the gates of New York, the Cunard liner Mauretania was robbed of a new record by a blinding snowstorm off Long Island coast today. The delay necessitated by reducing speed nullified the efforts made by the liner in its race across the ocean and it did not dock until late at night. The storm which held the city in its grasp all day was responsible for another mishap to the big liner. Coming through the Ambrose channel the vessel swerved from the course and ran aground. It required more than half an hour's hard work by the engine to back it off.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 4.—Snow began falling throughout the Wyoming valley early this morning and continued until tonight. The mountain sides surrounding this section are covered by a fall of more than six inches of snow.

HALETON, Pa., Nov. 4.—The snowfall that started here early in the day developed tonight into a severe storm that impeded railroad and trolley traffic. Snow to the depth of five inches covers the ground.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Snow, the first of the season, fell here tonight. The fall was slight and the flakes were mingled with a cold rain that began at nightfall.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 4.—Snow began to fall here at 1 o'clock and after a heavy gale followed, causing much damage to telegraph, telephone and electric light wires and imperiling the safety of pedestrians.

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 4.—A terrific storm is sweeping across Nome and Norton sound, causing great damage to uncompleted piers on the coast. The Nome sand spit has been devastated and ten homes have been destroyed.

The surf is the highest it has been in eight years and the storm is constantly growing worse. River streets are under water and the waves are being driven over their ashore by the terrific winds. Great damage has been done to shipping tied up for the winter and many boats have been wrecked. No loss of life has been reported.

Secretary Wade on H. S. Way West

New Secretary for Colorado Visits His Former Omaha Associates on Return from Toronto.

B. C. Wade, formerly general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association in Omaha, and now state secretary for Colorado, returned to Omaha Friday from the international meeting of the Young Men's Christian association, held in Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Wade was highly enthusiastic over the results of the meeting, telling how the 1,000 delegates to the convention arranged for the placing of fifty association buildings in foreign countries and the paying of forty-nine secretaries' salaries in these places.

"The branches of the association will be placed in China, India, Japan, South America and other foreign countries," said Mr. Wade. "China asked for twenty-five of the branches to be placed there, but it will only be possible to place twelve or thirteen."

"A great part of the money needed to build the fifty association buildings, costing from $5,000 to $10,000 each, was already raised when the meeting was over. Twelve or thirteen representatives of European countries present at the convention told of the progress there."

Mr. Wade gave the highest praise to Toronto as a convention city, telling of the entertainment the delegates and their many friends received there. From Omaha, where he will remain a few days, Mr. Wade will go directly to Colorado to take up his new work.

TRADES LAUGHS FOR HORSE, LAUGHS TWELVE HOURS

Indiana Man's Merriment Stopped by Shock from Electric Battery—No Bad Effects.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Nov. 4.—Trading a mule for a "snave-tailed" horse appealed to the humor of R. H. Schrappe of this city and he began laughing. He laughed nearly an hour, with the tears rolling down his cheeks and still he did not stop. His friends, becoming alarmed, summoned a physician, but the physician could not stop the hearty "ha-ha."

When six hours had elapsed, and Schrappe was still convulsed with laughter another physician was called and still the horse trader's merriment continued. An electric battery was brought into play and just as the merry laugh had rounded out twelve hours the trader was given a heavy electric shock. The "ha-ha" ceased and Schrappe fell exhausted. It was thought for a time that the man would die, but today he shows no ill effects from his long laugh.

ORKIN'S DOUGLAS STREET STORE MAKES BIG PURCHASE

Buyer Returns & Morton's Well Known Fine Tailored Suit Stock—Stock Sold to Orkin's Douglas St. Store for 50c on Dollar.

Assign Mr. J. B. Orkin, resident New York buyer for Orkin's Douglas street store, showed himself to be wide awake. Just the other day Euxine & Morton, the well known high grade cloak makers of New York failed.

When the news reached Mr. Orkin he immediately got busy and although a large number of other prominent buyers attended the sale, Mr. Orkin made the fortunate purchase, in order to bring the sale to a quick finish, he offered to start 50 cents on the dollar and closed the sale.

The purchase consists of 160 high class tailored suits, they are all perfectly tailored in the very newest styles and made of the finest all wool materials—instead of selling these fine suits at the various regular prices, Orkin's Douglas street store will sell them Saturday in one lot at an average of about half price.

SEED TESTING IS BEGUN

Experts at Lincoln Station Are Prepared to Give Opinions Upon Samples.

Farmers and plant growers who want seed tested for their purity and germination qualities can get aid from the experiment station of the Nebraska Seed Laboratory. The laboratory, which is located at Lincoln under the direction of G. M. Wilcox, works in conjunction with the United States Government Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural experts. The work is done free of charge by the government inspectors and they will test and report upon samples that are sent to them.

American Safe Deposit Vault People Install New Safes.

One thousand new safe deposit boxes have just been installed in the American Safe Deposit Vaults in the Bee building. Mr. F. C. Hamer, president of the company, made a special trip to Pittsburgh in order to hurry the delivery of the boxes for which there is a popular demand.

The American Safe Deposit Vaults are an independent organization and the only safe deposit vault in Omaha not connected with one of the banks. The time was when the people of the west had very little use for safe deposit boxes, but times have changed and there are a large number of people who buy mortgages and bonds and others who keep money in their safe deposit boxes, so that the safe deposit vault of today is built for the accommodation of many hundreds of small depositors. Formerly safe deposit vaults were built only for the rich, but now they are built especially for those of modest means. In order to meet these demands the American Safe Deposit and Trust company have spent thousands of dollars on new boxes.

Franklin Would Have Been Amazed

if his vision could have extended far enough into the haze of evolution to foresee the ultimate triumph of incandescent electric lighting—the General Electric Mazda Lamp.

The sage old philosopher flew his kite during a thunderstorm, and by means of a key attracted and discovered electricity, but evolution decreed that modern inventive genius should discover an incandescent lamp that is revolutionizing artificial light.

The G.E. Mazda Lamp gives nearly three times the light of the ordinary carbon incandescent—and costs no more to operate. In addition to this it gives light of a vastly superior quality—a clear white light like sun rays.

Everywhere people are having their houses wired for electric light, since the invention of the G-E Mazda Lamp. It has made electric light as cheap as it is convenient.

Come in for a moment today and let us prove to your entire satisfaction that there is no longer a possible excuse for you to be without the greatest of all household conveniences—electric light.

WILSON ANALYZES PRICES

Secretary Says that Food Cannot Come from Europe.

CITY PEOPLE SHOULD USE CARE

Equilibrium Would Soon Be Established if Small Percentage of Dwellers in the Towns Would Become Producers.

ROME, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Secretary James Wilson of the United States Department of Agriculture was the chief speaker at a republican meeting held here this evening. He divided a discussion of the tariff and the high cost of living into three heads, speaking first from the standpoint of the political historian, second, the political economist, and last a farmer for the nation at large. He said, in part:

"When the republican party was organized there were no home markets for the products of the farm, because a large percentage of the people were engaged in agriculture. It became evident that industries should be diversified. It cost too much to take our products to foreign countries and left but a small margin for the producer. The republican party urged the building up of factories and shops so that we could have markets nearer by. The theory was that the manufacturer and the working people should have protection to the extent of the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad.

Result Under Cleveland.

"This has always been the republican policy. Free homes have been given to the people and our manufacturing system has become the greatest on earth. These policies have built up a great market within our country. During the administrations of President Cleveland the bars were let down and the tariff duties were low. The result was that our mills could not compete with those of foreign countries. Our workmen were thrown out of employment and the farmer lost his market because idle men could not buy goods."

"Now the cry is raised again that we reason, fairness and impartiality. Above all, he emphasized, it should be borne in mind that, important as local issues may be, the ability of the national administration to carry out its pledges and to cope with the problems that are presented to it is now to be fortified or weakened.

The last administration rendered a service of incalculable value in bringing the public mind to a realization of the questions and problems with which this country is confronted. It is needless at this time, he pointed out, to urge that a condition of things had arisen which called for a strong hand and an unwavering personality, such as Colonel Roosevelt's, to bring them to public attention for answer. So much having been done, public sentiment having been created, he said, when it was for the government to formulate those promises and to cast them into permanent shape.

Bigger, Better, Buser—That is what advertising in The Bee will do for your business.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Braving the first snowstorm of the season, Albanians turned out in force tonight to greet Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, and to listen to a discussion of national issues by Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor in President Taft's cabinet. It was the first big republican rally in Albany during the present campaign. William Barnes, Jr., leader of the old guard forces, was present. Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who also played an important part in the old guard's fight against direct nominations, was one of the speakers tonight in behalf of a strong man. Secretary Nagel was the first speaker.

"I do not come here authorized to say this or that thing," he said by way of introduction, "but I am here to speak my own mind on national issues. The result of it is bound to be of great importance to the nation. If you ask me about 1912, I say that is not the question, because our country has a president who is not staying awake nights to try to find out what nominations are to be made in 1912."

Secretary Nagel said he had not seen or heard anything to make him depart from the conviction that in a political campaign, in which the policy of the country is involved, it is best to stay with the discussion of principles and to steer away as far as conditions permit from an argument of personal controversy. While in a measure manifestations of agitation in different parts of the country are unavoidable, the secretary said, it nevertheless is for those who realize the importance of publicity to do what they can to have every occasion, so far as may be, determined with
