DEMOCRATIC FRAUD FOUND McVann Will Argue Bean Case

Rubber Band is Discovered Which Shuts Off Aldrich Vote. Protest of Omaha Commercial Club Against Rate from Coast Comes Up Today.

So Arranged that the Voter of a Straight Republican Ticket Cannot Record His Vote for Aldrich.

Tampering with the voting machine in the polling place of the third precinct of the Fifth ward, Sixteenth and Locust streets, was practiced by Dahman adherents to prevent the recording of Aldrich votes when supposedly straight republican tickets were voted Tuesday morning. In how many other precincts the same scheme was worked and how many Aldrich votes were lost as a result is not known.

By means of a rubber band the individual lever over the name of Aldrich in the republican candidates' row was so fixed that after it was thrown down by the pulling of the party lever at the left end of the row it would fly back to the position the levers held before the voter had touched the machine.

A republican voter pulling the party lever would think he was voting for all the candidates of the party, as he would be if the band were not attached to the Aldrich individual lever; but with the band attached the Aldrich key held up so that no vote for Aldrich is registered. A vote for a candidate for any office counts two against the opposing candidate ordinarily, being a vote for one candidate and a vote against the other. The use of the band, therefore, makes one vote for Dahman whenever a republican tries to vote a straight republican ticket, because while the voter has not voted for Dahman neither has he voted against him.

Robert Morrison, a real estate dealer with offices in the War block, observed the band on the machine in the third precinct of the Fifth ward and reported the matter to the judge in charge of the election in the precinct, M. F. Sears, until recently a clerk in the city and county treasurer's office, did likewise. The judge denied knowledge of the matter and said he had no way of knowing it unless told. It appeared that the way republicans could protect Aldrich from the effects of this trick was to have the judges examine the machine after the casting of every vote.

LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—As usual, the democratic nominees for congress and state officers were elected without exception in today's election. COLORED VOTERS HAVE AUTO

Voting Center Maintained for Three Weeks Most Colored People Live.

The colored voters had a voting center of their own and an automobile that was dedicated to the sole purpose of bringing colored voters to the polls. The central working point which was maintained by the Lincoln club was at 1924 Cumming street, and from there the workers went forth to gather in the votes in the Fifth, Sixth and Eighth wards, where the colored people are most numerous.

FREEHOLDERS HARD AT WORK

Dan Butler Had Assistants Swearing In Democrats Fast.

THEY KNEW TOTAL STRANGERS

Rubber Band Found in One Precinct Holding Down Aldrich Vote So that His Name Was Scratched—Investigation Promised.

Two hundred men were crowded into the office of the city clerk Tuesday morning swearing in their right to vote. The procedure was something like this:

A somewhat wheezy looking individual would come up to the counter and ask the clerk if he could swear himself in and he would give the number of the ward and precinct in which he wished to cast the vote. The clerk would sing out the precinct number and two freeholders waiting at the side would step forward.

"What's your name?" asks the clerk of the voter.

"Roskelewsky," or "Dougroffoff," the citizen answers.

"Now, Mr. 60-and-80 and Mr. Thus-and-That," says the clerk, "do you solemnly swear that you know that this man lives in your precinct and has lived there long enough to be eligible to vote?"

The freeholders nod and the vote is sworn in. In scarcely any instance had the freeholder ever seen the voter before and his knowledge of the man's eligibility was absolutely nil. It is said they got the usual pay for democratic election officials.

Fred D. Weed, H. J. Pinkett and John O. Yeiser were interested spectators of the proceedings and democratic City Clerk Dan Butler became seriously angry with Mr. Yeiser and Mr. Pinkett because they were taking the names of men who seemed to be sworn in without much regularity.

"Stand back against the wall or I'll throw you out," shouted Butler, but Yeiser dared to throw back the challenge and no personal encounter has resulted as yet.

Plot to Scratch Aldrich. Mr. Pinkett is collecting information with a view to contesting the Douglas county vote. He has evidence of a deliberate attempt in the fourth district of the Fifth ward to fasten down the Aldrich name on a voter before he had sworn in.

Mr. Pinkett also has evidence of a number of cases in which freeholders who had never seen a voter before had sworn in his eligibility and it was keeping tabs on his practice that got him into disfavor with the Dahmanistic city clerk.

Mr. Otto Paul, Milwaukee, Wis., says Foley's Honey and Tar is still more than the best. He writes us, "All those that bought it think it is the best for coughs and colds they ever had and I think it is still more than the best. Our baby had a bad cold and it cured him in one day. Please accept thanks."

CENTENARIAN VOTES AT HAZLETON, PA.

Ranson Young, Who Became Hundred Years Old Tuesday, Casts Republican Ballot.

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 8.—Perhaps the oldest voter in the state cast his ballot today at Hazleton, Butler township. He is Ranson Young, who became 100 years old today.

The aged man was taken to the polling place in an automobile and he put in a straight republican ballot. Mr. Young has voted at every election since he was 21. "Boys, this is my last ticket," he exclaimed plaintively as he was helped from the booth. It was too feeble to mark the ticket himself and a friend put the "X" in the column for him.
