The steel frame work has reached the sixth story and the mixing of concrete is now under way. Mill Men to Meet—A general meeting of all the field forces of the Burlington passenger service men is to be held December 6 at the La Salle hotel in Chicago. The meeting is an annual affair, over 100 of the passenger men attending, and discussing new methods of service and handling of the public. Carr Goes Back to Idaho—Edison K. Carr, recently arrested by Captain Hase of the United States marshal's force on the charge of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes, and who is wanted in Idaho to answer that charge, will be taken to Boise City within a day or two, an order of court to that effect having been issued. Captain Hase will probably make the journey as officer in charge. Special Milk Cases—Proof that Omaha is really the world's butter market, is in the fact of the new cream car service that was supplied by the Burlington railroad for this kind of trade all summer for this city only. Special cars were attached to the regular trains to carry the cream and milk along to the Omaha markets and this kept up all summer in the best season of carrying milk. The invention has proved a success and it is announced will be used again next summer. Real Estate Men to Meet—The Omaha Real Estate exchange will hold its first meeting under the new administration Wednesday. The official order of business will include announcement of committees by the new president. The unofficial order will be remarks, either laudatory or congratulatory, directed toward former President Wead and E. G. From there Mr. Chase goes to Hiawatha, Kan., with a number of Kansas city bankers, traveling in a special car, and will speak at the banquet there of Group I, Kansas Bankers' association on Thursday evening.

MOTHERS HOLD MEETING AT Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY. Mothers of Members Will Hear Talks—Next Week to Be Prayer Week. On Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association building, a mothers' meeting for the mothers of the boys in the boys' department, was held. The meeting was addressed by E. F. Denison and William M. Horton. Emphasis was laid by the speakers upon the importance of surrounding boys with wholesome influence. Later the mothers were given an opportunity of seeing a gymnasium class of boys in action in the gymnasium and in the swimming pool, and then a general inspection of the Young Men's Christian Association building. It is expected that these meetings will be held from time to time during the winter. Mr. W. W. Lockwood, the general secretary of the Shanghai China Young Men's Christian association and the representative of the Omaha association, will be in the city Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. On Friday evening he will be present at a meeting of the Oriental club, a club interested in promoting the foreign work of the association. On Sunday afternoon he will address a meeting of boys at 3 o'clock and at 4 o'clock he will be the speaker at a big meeting of men, held in the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium. All men are invited to be present at that meeting. In the morning he will speak at the regular church service at Calvary Baptist church and in the evening will speak at the regular evening service at the First Methodist church. Mr. Lockwood was for several years the assistant secretary of the local association when it was located in the old building on sixteenth and Douglas streets. He has been in China for the last seven years. On Friday evening at 8 o'clock there will be an illustrated lecture given in the Young Men's Christian association auditorium. The lecture being entitled "Along the Overland Trail." It will be a vivid description of the overland trail from Omaha to the Golden Gate, including the cowboy country, Great Salt Lake, Yellowstone National park and other places of interest. Mr. J. W. Eyrin is the speaker. His lecture, which is very interesting, is made much more realistic by the aid of excellent colored stereoscopic views and motion pictures.

Fat People Want Rest. Overfat men and women long for rest from many things: from the burden of their flesh, from dieting, from exercise, from outdoor life, from the fear of death by suffocation, from that feeling of shyness that comes from being fat, from the tired of the weary, from the life they are forced to lead. Many have found relief by means of a medicine called Marmola Prescription. Many more will find that by taking after each meal and at bedtime a pleasant little Marmola Prescription Tablet the excess fat will be consumed and the general health vastly improved. These tablets are absolutely harmless as the original Marmola Prescription ingredients in the same proportion, therefore no dieting or exercise are necessary. A reduction of a pound a day is not too much to expect from them, and you will not develop wrinkles or thinness with the loss of flesh. The economy of this method of harmless reduction is apparent when you learn that a recovery supply of Marmola Prescription Tablets may be obtained for a little money. The little fat reducers are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail to the Marmola Co., 323 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich., at the price for a large case is $10.—Advs.

OWN PETARD HOISTS TROUP

"Infernal Machine" Causes Judge More Than Hour's Delay. IS ASKED HOW HE LIKES IT. Judge Who Ordered Voting Machines Used Is Not So Keen About Them, Following Morning's Experience. Hoist with his own petard! Alexander C. Troup, judge of the district court, the man who made voting machines necessary in the election, Judge Alexander C. Troup does not now think so highly of voting machines as he did when he handed down his decree. Judge Troup went to his polling place, the Third precinct of the Seventh ward, at 8:30 in the morning. At 9:45 he resumed his walk down town. He had not been lingering around the polling place for the fun of the thing, but because he had to. A few men stood in line ahead of Judge Troup when he reached the scene and he chuckled to himself. "Aha! I'll be quicker in a minute or two. It's so much quicker than marking a paper ballot." But the line did not advance with any startling celerity and the judge did not move toward the machine as fast as an aeroplane goes. After standing for about fifteen minutes, Judge Troup inquired of the man ahead, "What's the matter?" "Don't know," said the man; "ain't it the deuce to have to wait here all morning. I never did think much of these machines. Do you?" Judge Troup did not answer. A little later word came down the line that the machine was out of order. "Are we going to be kept here all day?" demanded Judge Troup with indignation. "I've got some work to do in my office down town."

Wanted Some More. Judge Troup then waited some time. Then he waited some more time. Finally, the expert who had been wrestling with the machine stepped out of the booth and the line moved forward. For several minutes Judge Troup voted and Judge Troup got "on deck." The frowning lines which had wrinkled the judicial brow had now been ironed out and his countenance again wore that placid judicial air which so well becomes him. Judge Troup stepped forward on the vote just ahead left the booth. "Hold on, there!" said this man, "there's something the matter with this fool machine. I never did think much of these voting machines. What do you think about 'em, judge?" By a violent effort and after considerable swallowing, the person thus interrogated restrained his feelings and no word escaped his lips. But the close observer could have seen a bright red color, significant of heat, rising above the judicial collar. Ensnared a little delay—only thirty minutes of so—and then Judge Troup voted. It is declared that he yanked the lever over so violently that it was almost snapped off. The first line of this little but veracious narrative is "hoist with his own petard!" The phrase has its origin in warfare and refers to a mine or sapper who gets blown up with the mechanism intended for someone else. A petard is thus an infernal machine. While waiting, Judge Troup was heard to say something about "these infernal machines." But he did not refer to the military kind.

MORE MACHINES GIVE TROUBLE. Voters Have to Wait Until Expert Appears to Saw Off Lock. Sawing off of the register lever lock on one of the machines in the First precinct of the Twelfth ward was made necessary early Tuesday morning by an error of an election judge in attempting to open the lock with the wrong key. Before the machines can be used for voting several of their parts must be unlocked. For each lock there is a separate and different key. The judge inserted the wrong key in the lever lock. It refused to work and efforts of the judge to withdraw it resulted in failure. E. E. E. Ridgway, custodian of the voting machines, was called to the scene. He filed off the register lever lock duplicate. On account of the heavy registration the precinct had been provided with two machines. The other machine was in good working order and its use overcame a part of the delay, although several electors went away without voting, saying that they would return later. The machine which was jammed was thoroughly understood the work of unlocking the machine and preparing them for use delayed the beginning of actual voting in many precincts. In the Fourth precinct of the Eleventh ward the machine was not yet ready for use at 8:15. Several voters went away, saying they were unable to wait and would return and vote at noon. In the Fourth of the Eighth the judges' and clerks' unfamiliarity with the machines delayed the beginning of the voting. When the start finally was made, however, the voting was done rapidly, most of the voters of the first half-hour casting straight party votes. In the first twenty minutes twenty-five voters registered their preference.

ELECTION CLERK IS OUSTED. J. M. Tobias, Regularly Appointed Republican Clerk, Meets Opposition. The clerk of the district court was started Tuesday morning by the report of J. M. Tobias of South Omaha that he had been usurped of his position as election clerk in the Second precinct of the Second ward in South Omaha. Mr. Tobias appeared in the clerk's office and declared that when he had appeared at the polling place where he had been appointed to serve he found a man named Frank Kegan serving in the capacity of clerk. He declared Kegan put up a contention that he had been appointed in the place of Tobias and the latter had no right to serve. Rather than to create a disturbance, Tobias abandoned all effort to serve and made for the clerk's office. Tobias, who is a republican, was found to have been duly appointed, but no trace of Kegan's alleged appointment could be found.

EVERY BABY GETS A BLANKET. J. L. Brandeis Store to Watch Birth List and Give Presents for Little Mites. Catch 'em and train 'em in the way they should go. This is the revised or pedagogical application of the old proverb and it is now becoming an advertising or commercial proposition. The J. L. Brandeis & Sons company has a man detailed to take The Bee every evening and cut out the list of births. Then every new baby sent with the compliments of the company, a soft little blanket of the kind in which babies are wrapped immediately after baby's ablutions has been performed by nurse. A Household Medicine To be really valuable must show equally good results from each member of the family using it. Foley's Honey and Tar does just this. Whether for children or grown persons Foley's Honey and Tar is best and safest for all coughs and colds.

Local Railroad Men Say There Will Be No Strike

Think that the Matter Will Be Adjusted Before Time for Calling Men Out. "There will be no strike of the engineers," is the opinion given out by the railroad men of Omaha in regard to the reports that all the western train engineers are to vote on a strike, and one could give out officially that there would be no strike declared, but in all the operating departments of the road which have offices in Omaha it was declared that the matter would be settled before the time set by the union for the vote. There are 130 railroad engineers who reside in Omaha and belong to the Omaha branch of the union, but no orders or information of any kind from the head of the union in Chicago has been received in Omaha. Charles Hodgson, head of the local order, stated that he had received no communications and the most he knew of the situation had been printed in the morning. Neither he nor any of the union men in Omaha would venture any opinion as to whether the strike would be declared and refused to state how the Omaha engineers felt in regard to the declaring of the strike. The Burlington has 69 men on its line west of the Missouri and who are paid from the Omaha headquarters. The Union Pacific has nearly 50 who come in contact with the Omaha trade and the Northwestern 50. Other roads have from twenty to fifty and sixty, who run trains with Omaha goods and products for this city.

Omaha National Soon to Move In Two Weeks Will Be Housed in Its New Rooms on Farnam Street. Two weeks from Monday the Omaha National bank will be conducting business in its new home on the new corner of Farnam and the new Omaha National bank building, formerly the New York Life building. November 21 has been set as the date for beginning business in the new quarters, and removal will occur Thursday and Friday of the present quarters. The removal will take place out of banking hours and with little or no interruption of business. The Omaha National bank has $1,500,000 in currency and $10,000,000 or $11,000,000 worth of securities to send up the street, and just when this shipment will take place is not announced, nor will it be announced. As in the case of the City National bank, officials seem to think that to call attention to this money enroute might be considered a gross and sordid display of vulgar opulence, and accordingly in bad taste. This is the semi-official version. It is whispered that the real reason for the exclusiveness of the removal party is a fear that some unwelcome guests might break in and take too close a look at the millions. Work of remodeling and redecorating the lower floor of the new Omaha National bank building is nearly completed and will be done in plenty of time for the announced change of location.

WENDELL PHILLIPS TO BE HERE TURKEY DAY. Strong High School Team is Beaten by a Class School at Hyde Park. Omaha's chance of seeing the best of the Chicago High school teams play here Thanksgiving day was lost Saturday when Wendell Phillips High school was defeated by Hyde Park school, 4-6. The strength of the Phillips team was due to the fact that the Wendell Phillips team had led the Omaha enthusiasts to hope that Chicago's best would come here November 25, when Wendell Phillips is to play Omaha high school. However, as the Hyde Park eleven only won its six points by two goals scored from the field by Marsh Smith, the half-back of the winning eleven, it is evident that the Omaha boys are not to meet a weak team by any means. The two teams, Wendell Phillips and Hyde Park, have been considered the strongest of the Chicago and Cook County teams, and it will be as strong as the Hyde Park one that will meet Omaha here for the closing contest of the year. The lineup of the Wendell Phillips squad up to date and which will be almost the same as the one that comes here is—E. E. Brothel, center; R. T. Corey; J. G. Albert; C. Des Jardins; L. G. Lewis; T. Johnson; L. E. Captain; C. Q. Cole; R. H. Camp; L. H. Wawman; P. Moulton. Subs, Emerson, Richards, Patheridge, Sherman.

ANNETTE TALKS ON HEALTH

Beautiful Young Diver Tells Women How to Improve. FAVORS AIR AND EXERCISE. Miss Kellerman Lectures to Packed Audience of Women at Orpheum Theater, Illustrating Exercises Tuesday Morning. "That's perfectly so, I know, and I'll tell you why," and the fair priestess of health, Miss Annette Kellerman, immediately did tell the crowd of women who filled the Orpheum theater Tuesday morning and listened eagerly to her girlish talk, why exercise, fresh air and some judgment in the matter of eating were the only sources of health and beauty. If there is not immediately a marked improvement in the appearance of the women of Omaha; if they do not walk with heads erect, chests high and steps assured and definite; if they do not acquire blooming cheeks of health, bright eyes and a zest in living, it will be because their attention at the lecture belied their interest and simulated a purpose stronger than they felt. Each of the young priestess' admonitions was listened to very intently and her wise and rebuking shafts of the head and the finger as she said: "Oh, I know how women will go home and try those exercises a few times, three days, maybe, when you should try them three months, and longer. And then you will say, 'It's no use; exercises don't help me,' and then you'll give them up. Now, you know that's no way to do. The voice was gentle, but said in his grief at the unruly crowd of women folk: "You must keep at things. You must make up your mind to do things and stick to them. Why, anybody who does anything he makes up his mind to do, but—he must will to do it, there's the trouble, the willing. That's perfectly true, and I know." Then there was a rest in the talk. "You must keep at things, an admiring wave of determination, rather, swept through the audience, and everything seemed possible to everyone there.

Most Dream of Slimness. The stout dreamed of possessing the little symmetry of the charming person on the platform; the thin imagined themselves the possessors of the well developed muscles, the perfectly controlled body. And everybody felt nothing is really impossible if you will work hard enough. Of course, there were no suffragists at the lecture—they were too busy at the polls encouraging the women to use the suffrage right which is theirs—but if there had been any present they, too, would have realized that the secret of all success is "faith and determination," for the young authority declared in no uncertain tones, "That's so, I know, and I know what I'm talking about, and I'll tell you why." And she did.

Miss Kellerman Cried in Tights. Miss Kellerman began her lecture clad in a close fitting black satin gown of knee length, but discarded this gown for her swimming costumes to illustrate the exercises which she gave in response to the questions from the audience—questions of how to reduce in weight, of over-complacency and kindred queries. She stated emphatically that she was not, however, a beauty doctor—not at all—but was an advocate of good health as the source of all beauty and she advocated "plenty of fresh air all the time, plenty of exercise the right kind of exercise—and the right kind of food," as the ingredients of health. She has a youthful and charming way of stressing important words and it was not unusual for listeners to sigh, "Isn't she cute? Awfully dear."

Relatives Are Found Through Notice in Bee

Beneficiary of Will Lives in South Omaha and Reads the Article. By the aid of The Bee relatives of E. Q. Haley, formerly of Omaha, who died suddenly in Denver Saturday, have been brought into communication with A. F. Clark, secretary Union Pacific lodge, No. 17, Ancient Order of United Workmen. Healey & Healey, an Omaha undertaking firm, was notified of Haley's death and carried the word to Mr. Clark, papers found among Haley's effects indicating that he held membership in the lodge. Haley's insurance policy for $1,000 named a niece, Miss Nona Diggins, beneficiary, but Mr. Clark could not find her address. He asked The Bee to help him find her or other relatives and a story of Haley's death was published in The Bee of Tuesday morning. At 10 a. m. Tuesday, Michael Diggins, 236 G street, South Omaha, called at Mr. Clark's office with the story clipped from The Bee. He said his daughter is Miss Nona Diggins. Mr. Diggins said he did not know where Mr. Haley's brother could be found. He said the deceased was of a roving disposition and has been known to go away without saying a word to any relative and to remain absent several years. Mr. Haley was employed in the Union Pacific shops just before he left Omaha two weeks ago, without saying a word to any relative and to remain absent several years. TIME REQUIRED TO CURE DRUNKENNESS. Where Formerly It Took Weeks It Now Requires Only Days to Cure. In the treatment of alcoholism, the remarkable results obtained by the administration of the Neal Three-Day Liquor Cure have long been recognized. The old custom of placing alcoholic patients under from four to six weeks' treatment, with the necessary loss of time and money, is a thing of the past. Three days are all that are required to cure drunkenness, either periodical or habitual—at the Neal Institute in Omaha, 1602 South 10th St., and the cure is effected without the use of dangerous hypodermic injections or injurious drugs. Another desirable action of the treatment is the rapidity with which the general system is restored to a normal condition. From the very first dose all craving for alcoholic stimulants is destroyed and a perfect cure is effected in only three dainty times. It has been demonstrated that there is no such thing as a "secret cure" for drunkenness, and you are taking a great risk in administering these remedies. The Institute in this city has been taxed to its full capacity during recent months, and to take care of its increasing number of patients, a branch Neal Institute has been established at Grand Island, Nebraska, in charge of Dr. Wm. F. Dugan, who is recognized as one of the leading physicians of the state, who uses the same treatment and accommodations can be secured as at the parent or head institute in this city.—Adv.
