Increasing Revenue Force—Edward Quinn, who has been in the United States revenue service in Chicago as special deputy, will arrive in Omaha within the next few days to take a deputyship in the office of J. F. Ross, revenue agent in charge of the Omaha station. The place to be taken by Mr. Quinn is a new position created to meet the increasing work of the department. Coat Stolen at City Hall—John Lynch, plumbing inspector and the one successful republican in Douglas county, may be lucky, but luck never seem to be congenial in his office. Charles Pollock, his assistant, in the midst of the general era of good feeling that prevails in that portion of the city hall, left his new overcoat on his desk and almost in front of his eyes it was stolen. Members of Water Board—The new members of the water board will be R. B. Howell, re-elected, and F. C. Henney. This was decided at the time of the primaries, as the membership of the water board must be divided evenly as to party. The democrat and the republican getting the highest number of votes at the primary are therefore elected at once, although their names were put upon the voting machines as a matter of formality. Lecture on Tires—A lecture on "From Tree to Tire" will be given at the Brandeis theater Friday evening by the B. F. Goodrich company, manufacturers of tires and other rubber goods. The lecture will be illustrated with motion and stereopticon pictures and will show, among other views, those of the great rubber forests of Brazil and of auto racing on the famous Atlanta speedway. Wood, widow of the late Ben B. Wood, will become the property of George E. Fritchett, an attorney, if he wins a forcible action, which he started against Mrs. Wood in district court Wednesday. The diamonds are sought to satisfy an alleged debt of $100. According to the allegations of Fritchett's petition, he loaned Mrs. Wood various sums, she pledging the piece of jewelry to him as security. Last December, says the petition, the loans were consolidated into one, for which Mrs. Wood gave a note, at the same time renouncing the pledge of the ring. Mrs. Wood never has paid the note, it is asserted. Babies Strangled—Coughs or colds are instantly relieved and quickly cured with Dr. King's New Discovery. 50c and $1.00. For sale by Heaton Drug Co. OMAHA TO BE HOST TO MANY

Numerous Large Gatherings Scheduled to Meet Here. IMPLEMENT MEN COME FIRST. In March in the great meeting of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers, Fully 1,000 merchants will attend, this. Preparations are also under way for the next meeting of the Nebraska Press association which is to be held in Omaha the last of May or the first of June. In January periodic publication will begin of a paper in the interests of this association and this will be continued until the convention. All the Masonic bodies will meet in Omaha next year. These include the councils of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, the grand lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons and other branches of the order. Tangier Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will also have ceremonies. Lawyers to Meet Here. Word is received from Grand Island that the Nebraska Bar association has formally accepted an invitation to hold the annual convention again in Omaha, the dates being December 27 and 28. As before meetings of the association will be held in the Knights of Columbus hall in the Board of Trade building and the annual dinner is to take place in the Home Hotel. The invitation to hold the convention in Omaha was sent by President C. G. Ryan to Alfred G. Ellick of Omaha, who is secretary of the association. A number of medical societies are on the schedule for meetings in Omaha next year, and from present appearances the city will be host to a large number of Nebraskans, besides the national conventions of those which are coming. The Nebraska postmasters meet in Omaha in 1911, and their meeting will doubtless be held before the National Association of Postmasters calls its meeting to order in this city. An effort is being made to have the Nebraska Sheriffs association meet in Omaha at the same time as the National Sheriffs association, scheduled for Omaha in August, while the Nebraska grain dealers will be invited to come to Omaha and meet with the National Grain Dealers association in October. TEMPERANCE UNION BEGINS EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN. Will Strive to Have Temperance Text Books Put Into the Public Schools. The Omaha Women's Christian Temperance union begins at once an active educational campaign and hopes to succeed in introducing into the public schools a set of text books which set forth emphatically the destructive effects of alcohol and narcotics. This decision was reached at the meeting of the union held Wednesday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association and Mrs. Edward Johnson was named as chairman of the committee to have in charge the educational campaign, of which the work in the schools is to be part. An effort will likewise be made to have temperance topics studied in the Sunday schools at least every three months, and introduced into the young people's societies. A bureau of literature is to be established in Omaha for the dissemination of temperance ideas. At the meeting Wednesday a thanksgiving for election results was held, but in a spirit of thankfulness a spirit of sympathy for the defeated candidate and his family was also expressed, and the organization which had been so severely criticized by the defeated candidate for governor Wednesday expressed its forgiveness in prayers for his welfare. OMAHA MISSIONARY TO CHINA HOME ON VISIT. W. W. Lockwood in Omaha After an Absence of Seven Years. W. W. Lockwood, formerly assistant general secretary of the Omaha Young Men's Christian association and now in charge of the Young Men's Christian association in Shanghai, China, but on the payroll of the Omaha institution, returned to this city Thursday morning after an absence of seven years. An informal reception was given him by E. F. Deane and a number of friends among the Omaha people upon his arrival, and in honor of his coming a Chinese national flag has been made and hung outside the building. Mr. Lockwood is most optimistic of the future of China, stating that the younger generation of the land were coming into power and that all of them were what would be called progressives in America. They are educated in American colleges and have an interest in improving their country up to modern standards. GOOCH GETS THE QUOTATIONS. Thursday Morning Finds Quotations Being Marked on the Boards in His Office. The offices of the Gooch company in Omaha were not delayed long in furnishing grain market quotations by the injunction given Tuesday afternoon by Judge Munger of United States court. Wednesday saw the Gooch offices giving stock market quotations, but somewhat shy an grain. Thursday morning prices on December and May wheat and other grains in this and other grains were being chalked up on the blackboards in the company's offices in both the Brandeis and Board of Trade buildings. Presumably it was not Chicago Board of Trade quotations which were marked on the blackboards, for the injunction lies against the use of these by the Gooch interests. Mr. Gooch and his employees have never admitted that they were getting hold of the Chicago board prices, but the court held that in the absence of proof to the contrary it must be assumed that they were. Naturally enough it is denied that the present quotations are those against the use of which the court order is directed.

Entreats Wife to Return, Then Shoots Himself

Joseph W. Pospisil Kills Himself at the Home of His Divorced Wife. Dependent because none of his seven children would allow him to live with them, the divorced wife refusing to go back to him, Joseph W. Pospisil, a musician and band leader of West Point, Neb., committed suicide at 11:45 o'clock Thursday morning in Mr. Pospisil's home, 145 South Fourteenth street. He had come to Omaha from Friend, Neb., in the morning to consult the deed which he has been threatening to do since the divorce, on the grounds of cruelty which was granted his wife last February. Two days ago Mrs. Pospisil received a letter from her former husband asking her to come back to him, and saying that if she refused he would kill himself. She had heard nothing from him until he came to her home this morning and resumed his entreaties. "We expected him to kill himself," said his son, John Pospisil, at the home of his mother this morning, "but we didn't think he would come here to do it. The letter was written from Friend, Neb., where he had gone from here two weeks ago to get a position on a farm. He said that he would leave his violin and what other property he had to me, and we thought that he intended killing himself there. We heard nothing from him until he came here this morning. I invited him in to lunch with us. At the table he began again begging my mother to come back and live with him. She refused him, as she had all the time. I know what I'll do," he said, and he walked out into the front hall. Then we heard the shot. When my mother started out there I caught her and took her out on the back porch, fearing he would kill her as he had often threatened, even before the divorce. That was one of the reasons for the separation." Pospisil was 43 years old. Coroner Crosby took the body. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

"Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all druggists.

LAND SHOW EXCITES HIGH INTEREST IN OTHER STATES. Idaho, Utah and Wyoming Are Showing Enthusiasm Over Event in Omaha. The people of Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and other western states are keenly alive to the importance of land-products exhibit which is to be given in Omaha under direction of The Omaha Bee and The Twentieth Century Farmer. W. O. Paisley, general manager of the exhibit, and Fred A. Shank, special commissioner, late of the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, are now working in Idaho in the interests of the big show. The Evening Capital of Boise City, the Idaho metropolis, in its Monday issue said: "Omaha will help boost Boise and southern Idaho when the Western Land-Products exhibit is held there from January 15 to 25, 1911. This will be the big land show of the west, and, while there are others being held in different parts of the country, there is none which gets closer to the people who are forming the new settlers for Idaho than this one in the Nebraska metropolis. The exhibit will be financed by The Bee Publishing company, but, besides The Bee and The Twentieth Century Farmer, it also has the support of the press and people of the entire section. The people there are by making a splendid showing there this state can get a much larger percentage of those who are leaving the old west. "The land show has been represented at Boise this week by W. O. Paisley, the general manager, and by Fred A. Shank, special commissioner. Both of these are experienced exposition men and will help Idaho people in every possible way to get the resources of Idaho before the people of the old west. Displays of apples, potatoes, grains and all other products of Idaho will contribute the best of their samples."

DAHLMAN TO TAKE A REST. Mayor Leaves for Excelsior Springs to Recuperate from Effects of Arduous Campaign. Mayor Dahlman has gone to Excelsior Springs, Mo., for a ten days' rest. The mayor was worn out by the campaign and will recuperate before resuming the saddle of city government. Goodley F. Brucker, president of the council, will continue to act as mayor until he returns.

No Excuse for Doing Without a Motor Car. Buy Any Car You Want But Buy a CAR. We say to the first man; There are good cars to be had at moderate prices. Count the value of the car in the service it will render you in business, pleasure and health. Not on the basis of its price alone. Ask those of your acquaintances who are owners of cars their opinion, and you cannot help but arrive at the conclusion—expenditure for an automobile is money well invested. We say to the second man; The modern perfected automobile is a wonderful piece of mechanism, yet it is so easily controlled that it is no unusual sight to see a woman at the wheel of a big touring car, guiding it through the city streets; as for caring for it, this amounts to little more than keeping it supplied with gasoline and oil. The Glidden Tour of 1910 was a remarkable example of what a car will do with little or no attention. Several cars after traveling over twenty-eight hundred and fifty-one miles of the roughest possible roads, finished in good condition. A Chalmers car won the Tour. One hundred thousand people every year buy cars, keeping them for several seasons, and then buy later models, apparently without unusual expense. All kinds of figures could be submitted on this point, but what is the use? Do you know one man who ever gave up a motor car because it cost him too much to keep? The man you see riding in the street in a motor car is not always out for pleasure alone. With a motor car you can combine business and pleasure. It is surely good business to entertain your customers and prospective customers by a spin through the country or an afternoon on the golf links. Any good car can be made to pay for itself in a strictly business way, by saving time, cutting down distances and getting in closer relationship with your business associates. H. E. Every Good Thing is Baked with CALUMET Baking Powder. And Everything is Baked Good. For this is the baking powder that "makes the baking better." It leavens the food evenly throughout; puts it up to airy lightness, makes it delightfully appetizing and wholesome. Dependability—Purity and Economy. These three big qualities have made Calumet the Standard in millions of homes. Remember, Calumet is moderate in price—higher in quality. You must not confuse it with the cheap and Big-Can Kinds or the high price Trust brands. Ask your grocer for Calumet. Don't take a substitute.
