

New Books

Fiction.
THE MASTER OF THE VINEYARD. By Myrtle Reed. 27 Pp. $1.50. G. P. Putnam's Sons.
 A few romances by Miss Reed, which tell the love story of a young man and a charming girl. The plot is attractive and the character drawing and dialogues are drawn with the author's wealth of imagination and knowledge of human nature. The book is attractively bound in lavender and gold and has a frontispiece in color by Hudson Campbell.

THE SOCIAL REVENGER. By Frederic E. Schickel. 24 Pp. $1.50. Bobbs-Merrill Company.
 Clifford Bruce is suspected of stealing a famous rope of pearls belonging to his employer, whose daughter, Marjorie Wood, comes to believe that he has stolen them. He goes on loving him just the same. The story depends partly on the strong curiosity aroused by the definite problem of finding the missing pearls, but even more so on the problem of personality, the charm of enigmatic word and act and the fascination of speculative interest aroused by seemingly inconspicuous appearance and deed. Of course, it all comes out right.

LADY GOOD-FOR-NOTHING. By A. T. Collins-Couch. 67 Pp. $1.50. Charles Scribner's Sons.
 The scene of this romance of the early eighteenth century is laid in this country in the straight-laced colonial times. The heroine, scourged through the streets for some slight Sabbath breaking, is rescued by a customs officer, an Englishman. What happens to her after that, her love story, her lodge in the wilderness, her voyage to Portugal and her adventures in the great Lisbon earthquake make a thrilling story.

THE GREATEST WISH IN THE WORLD. By Temple Thurston. 26 Pp. $1.50. Mitchell Kennerly.
 This story is about a tiny girl babe that the priest finds, abandoned, in his church and about how she grows up to be worshipped in the care of himself and his housekeeper. But Father O'Leary is the most important as well as the most entertaining and entirely delightful figure in the book. There is a love story, of course—indeed, there are two love stories, one of them fifty years in the past.

THE HERITAGE OF THE DESERT. By Gene Grey. 28 Pp. $1.50. Harper & Bros.
 The scene of this story is in that almost inaccessible country of southern Utah and northern Arizona bordering on the Grand Canyon and deals mainly with the life, family and fortunes of a Mormon patriarch on a desert oasis made by his own hands. Except for the heroine, Mesdell, the women in it are not much more than names. But some of the men loom big in the reader's interest and are wonderfully alive and real.

RED PEPPER BURNS. By Grace S. Richmond. 22 Pp. $1.50. Doubleday, Page & Co.
 A. P. Burns, whose fiery hair (not to mention a similar temper) earned him the nickname of "Red Pepper" among his friends, was a country doctor of the old school—one of those whole-souled enthusiasts who would rather relieve some neighbor's suffering than eat his own dinner. The author convincingly creates the surroundings and atmosphere of a small town where many of the "old-fashioned" qualities of life still exist. Of course, there is a most charming and beautiful heroine.

THE GLAD LADY. By Amy E. Blanchard. 27 Pp. $1.50. Dana Estes & Co.
 An account of a vacation spent in northern Spain, which promised at the outset to be very quiet and commonplace, proved to be exactly the opposite. The story throughout is interwoven with vivid descriptions of real places and people of which the general public know very little.

THE FINER GRAIN. By Henry James. 212 Pp. $1.50. Charles Scribner's Sons.
 This volume contains five short stories—"The Velvet Glove," "Nora Montevera," "A Round of Visits," "Crazy Cornelia" and "Bench of Desolation." They are all and bespeak the writer's perception into character, his knowledge of the emotions and his equally surprising facility in bringing out those subtleties that he perceives.

THE MERCY OF FATE. By Thomas M. Lewis. 267 Pp. $1.50. Wessels & Russell Company.
 The story of a self-made American millionaire, whose mistakes of early youth pursue his progress doggedly and notwithstanding the development of his character, the apparent success of his life and the consummation of his social ambitions, he is called upon to make retribution at the eleventh hour.

MARK ENDERBY. By Robert Falkerson Hoffman. 27 Pp. $1.50. A. C. McClurg & Co.
 Mountain railroad in the southwest is one of the most strenuous phases of American life, and in "Mark Enderby" its romantic possibilities have been taken full advantage of. The author knows intimately the life whereof he writes and the story teems with action.

Juvenils.
RAINY DAY PASTIMES FOR CHILDREN. By Baroness Louise Von Palm. 115 Pp. $1. Dana, Estes & Co.
 This book contains chapters on paper cutting, paper folding, stenciling, straw work, bead work, paper embroidery, stick and ring work and many other interesting and instructive pastimes and should appeal to those who have charge of the amusement and instruction of little folk.

THE EMERALD CITY OF OZ. By L. Frank Baum. 226 Pp. $1.50. Hilly Britton Company.
 Another of the "Oz" books which assemble all of the old characters and introduces many new ones. The book is illustrated in color by John R. McNeill.

UNCLE REMUS AND THE LITTLE BOY. By Joel Chandler Harris. 114 Pp. $1.50. Hilly Britton & Co.
 Stories for a small boy and girl, each one more interesting than the other.

FRINCE PIMPERNEL. By Herbert Ricks. 142 Pp. $1.50. Dana, Estes & Co.
 The tale of a poor little house drudge, who yearns for the country. Her visit to fairyland makes it a truly fairy tale, with a fairy queen and a witch who steals the prince.

CHATTERBOX FOR 1910. 412 Pp. $1.25. Dana, Estes & Co.
 This volume contains about forty short stories, with illustrations, anecdotes, natural history papers, poetry, and articles of general information.

THE JOURNEY BOOK. By DeWitt Clinton Falls. 109 Pp. $1. The Century Company.
 This book tells in very jolly pictures and verse the sights to be seen on a journey through the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, and many places on the continent—a journey of whimsical nonsense.

BILLY WHISKERS KIDNAPED. By Frances Trego Montgomery. 187 Pp. $1. The Saalfield Publishing Company.
 Another of the "Billy Whiskers" books telling of the kidnapping of "Billy Whiskers" and how he got home again.

CALDWELL'S BOYS AND GIRLS AT HOME. 228 Pp. H. M. Caldwell Company.
 Stories and verses interesting to young children. Illustrated in color.

THE BROWNIES' LATEST ADVENTURE. By Palmer Cox. 144 Pp. $1.50. The Century Company.
 In this latest book of Brownie adventures, there are all the old favorites and some new friends; and they help a hospital, and harvest ice, and sow seeds in most novel fashion, and play many other brownie pranks. Pictures and verse are done as only Palmer Cox knows how.

MUSHROOM FAIRIES. By Adah Louise Sutton. 129 Pp. $1.50. The Saalfield Publishing Company.
 A book of fairies for the younger children. Illustrated in color.

MOLLY AND THE UNWISEMAN ABROAD. By John Kendrick Bangs. 262 Pp. $1.50. J. B. Lippincott Company.
 A bright and breezy story of the adventures of Molly, Whitechinkie, her rubber doll, and the funny old Unwiseman, who set forth on a wondrous trip to visit foreign shores.

Woodmen Confer on New Building
 Committee to Go to Chicago Next Week to Look Over the Plans.
 The building committee of the Woodmen of the World goes to Chicago Tuesday to confer with Holtsbird & Roche about the plans for the new building. F. J. Thielen, general manager for the architects, declared Friday that the plans will not be completed for six weeks yet, but that the coming conference will settle matters so that the plans can be pushed to a finish by the time indicated.
 Plans for wrecking the buildings now on the corner of Fourteenth and Farnam streets will be ready to give to contractors Tuesday and bids will soon be submitted. It is likely, according to Mr. Thielen, that the wrecking of these buildings will begin about the first of the year.
 Considerable salvage can be effected in the wrecking. The plate glass, the brick and some of the old timbers will be worth much money, but how much no one will make an estimate. The joists, though old, are of better lumber than is put nowadays into buildings and old timbers have therefore come to have a large commercial value if the wood is still sound.

New Orleans Has Big Bond Issue
 Louisiana Votes Enormous Fund to Secure and Build Panama Exposition in 1915.
 Not to be outdone by San Francisco in efforts to secure the world's Panama exposition in 1915, New Orleans has raised a remarkably enormous fund for that purpose, according to a dispatch received from the gulf city Friday. It is reported that the state of Louisiana has voted the issuance of bonds to the amount of $5,000,000 for the exposition.
 Fifteen amendments to the state constitution came up for a vote by the people in their consideration of the exposition matter. The first two amendments relate to the Louisiana purchase from Napoleon, and to the exposition tax. The tax amendments carried by a vote of 16 to 1 in the city of New Orleans, and 3 to 1 in the rest of the state. This action increases the total fund for the exposition now in hand to considerably over $5,000,000.
 The money will be expended on the erection of exposition buildings, power plants and the general designing of the exposition.

Attell and Conley to Fight.
 NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 11.—Before the West Side Athletic club on Sunday Abe Attell, featherweight champion, will meet Frankie Clay, the bantamweight title holder, in a fifteen-round bout. Although Conley will enter the ring close to the featherweight limit and consented to fight Attell for the championship, the latter insisted on catch weights. While the featherweight champion is the favorite in the betting at odds of 2 to 1, bets of 10 to 1 are being placed on Conley's staying the limit.
