NEW INDUSTRIES FOR OMAHA

Commercial Club Has a New List Offering Investment.

FORMER RESPONSE STRONG
Reports Show That Large Sums Have Invested Locally Since the First of the Present Year.

The industrial committee of the Commercial club is calling for men with money to invest to come to the front. This committee has recently been so successful in locating new factories here that its request will command attention.

At the present time Chairman Glass has on his list several attractive small propositions, that is, calling for an investment of about $5,000; also several large propositions involving investments from $25,000 to $100,000 each.

The last time the industrial committee issued such a call—about three months ago—$60,000 came forward in two days for investment in small concerns, which are now running.

A manufacturer of cooking stoves and ranges is in Omaha, coming here from the east, and is in daily conference with Commissioner Guild.

"He has a line," says the industrial committee, "that is most attractive and which has the endorsement of the local trade. This is one of the larger concerns referred to. It is impossible to give the names of the various people or institutions, local and otherwise, who used capital, on account of the embarrassment that it might make for them in the matter of credit, but if the people of Omaha who say they want to see a $50,000 or greater city are sincere, they will find a good place for their surplus funds by applying to the Commercial club. The industrial committee gives prospective investors its assistance and facilities for investigating the proposition without being committed to it in any way, so that there is nothing lost by looking into some of them even if a deal is not consummated.

"Fortunately Omaha capital is not being dissipated as much in foreign enterprises as formerly and it is an interesting and encouraging fact that since January 1, this year, something like $200,000 in Omaha capital has been invested in local industrial concerns."

Those who are considering investment, purchase of stock in any concern will do well to confer with the commissioner of the Commercial club, as otherwise bona fide and bogus schemes may not be distinguishable.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Frances Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by all druggists.

Woman Helps Rob Safe.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—It is believed a woman participated in the robbery of a safe in the office of a printing company at 212 W. 12th street in this city early today. The safe was blown with dynamite and the safe secured. The print of a woman's high-heeled shoe in sawdust near the safe convinced the officers that a woman assisted in the robbery.

Ante Room for the Stock Yards to be Built at Lincoln

Burlington Road is to Equip Big Feed Yards for Western Stock.

The Burlington Route is now engaged in equipping a quarter section of land on Salt creek, near the Lincoln stock yards, for the purpose of a feeding station for cattle en route to the South Omaha markets. This place will be a temporary stopping point for the large herds that are shipped in from Colorado, Wyoming and Montana points and a rest at Lincoln will break the hardship of the long jaunt from the west and send the stock into market in much better condition than would be possible under other circumstances.

Experience has demonstrated to stock shippers that long travel decreases the selling points of a fat stock, and it is to overcome this difficulty that the Burlington Route is arranging a sort of an ante-room to the South Omaha markets in Lincoln. It is estimated that the new feeding ground will represent a total expenditure of something like $25,000. The work of fitting up the 100 acres on Salt creek with sheds, pens, troughs, chutes and other feedlot adjuncts is now under way and will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Day and Night Work on the Skyscraper

Crowds Watch the Men Working by Electric Light on the Harri-man Building.

"When a town reaches that stage of progress where the builders work night and day on skyscraper construction it strikes me that there is something doing worth notice," said J. B. Karnes, a Laramie (Wyo.) stockman, who is registered at the Merchants hotel. Mr. Karnes had just been out for a stroll Wednesday evening and had been impressed by the fact that he saw workmen rushing about on the new Union Pacific building, Fifteenth and Dodge streets, at 11 o'clock at night. The frame work so far as it has been set up is thickly studded with electric lights, and the fact that the sun has a habit of going into retirement for the night is no obstacle to the men who are putting up the new structure. There is something so novel about the night construction scene that bystanders congregate by the score and watch the men work. Moreover, there seems to be

Dead and Living in a Sombre Ceremony

Soul of "Grandma" Connelly Ushered to Beyond and Young Couple Wedded at Once.

The union of a soul with death and the marriage of a young couple formed the remarkable double ceremony that took place at the People's church Wednesday afternoon. The union of life and death was that in the funeral services of "Grandma" Diana Connelly, who died at the age of 96 years and whose last expressed wish was that she might be ushered into death with the ceremony such as would attend a wedding. She was being married to God, she said.

Six white-garbed young women acted as pallbearers; the corpse was clothed in white and the coffin was white, according to the aged woman's ante-mortem request. Hardly had the obsequies over the still form passed when Rev. Savidge and the attendants turned from their somber ritual to one in which a young bride and groom received their wedding. The figures in the marriage of living souls were John W. Frelsand and Miss Olive Houck, daughter of Walter V. Houck of Buffalo, N. Y. The oddly assorted ceremonies took place about 2:30 in the presence of the entire congregation of the little church.

HOMEOPATHS HOLD BANQUET

Many Out of Town Guests Attend Meeting of Local Society at Hotel Rouse.

Members of the Omaha Homeopathic Medical society and their out-of-town guests dined together at the monthly meeting of the society at the Hotel Rouse Wednesday evening. Those who responded to toasts were Drs. H. C. Hanchett and Hoskins of Sioux City and Dr. Delmer Davis and D. A. Fouts of Omaha. Dr. Hoskins, vice president of the Sioux City society, extended an invitation to the local society to attend a meeting and banquet given by their society in Sioux City, December 13. The invitation was accepted, and it was announced many local homeopaths would attend. Dr. A. V. Holmes presided as toastmaster
