The only addition where home builders with three different sized purses can find his wants supplied. The West Side is only a half mile from the East, and there the homeseeker with only fi in his pocket can set a lot, while the other one (able to buy anything he wants and can pay any sized cash down payment) finds his on the East Side; as choice lots as any in the whole city of Omaha, not excepting those fronting Lincoln boulevard and Bernis park or Hanscom park on the west side. These front a half mile stretch of new boulevard about to be developed, the North Central, at a point near its intersection with the North Sich Florence boulevard, and enters Miller park. All these lots are on an elevation—top of a ridge—commanding a view the like of which cannot be found elsewhere in Omaha, and it is no stretch of imagination to compare it with some of those on the Hudson. The view sweeps from Bellevue to Florence and over the bluffs of Iowa, with the Missouri river between and beautiful Fort Omaha (a regular park) at the front door. The cheaper lots are just as nice, but further west, and we can sell these on your own terms to close them out. See us at once. MAKE MONEY AT GARDENING.

Back to the Faith

The ambition of many people is to own a small piece of land at the gateway of a city. People who could not be interested in farm land distant from civilization are attentive listeners to a proposition that places them in close touch with the City by electric car and macadamized road. There are acres and acres, but

JOHN W. ROBBINS, 1802 FARNAM ST.

Country Place Twenty-five acres, very sightly and well planted for a country home. This is one of the beauty spots on the ridge road north of Florence, retiring owner, a successful horticulturalist, began planting and improving twenty years ago. It has been his home and he has kept it up well, adding a little year by year. There is a variety of fruit trees, an excellent vineyard, large shade trees and flowering shrubs. The most striking thing is a bed of several thousand peonies. The house is a small cottage. Barn and other buildings are very good. Team, wagon, farm implements and two Jersey cows go with the place for $8.00. There are probably 100 families in Omaha that would buy this for a country home if they knew about it. It's an unusual bargain for the right man.

right man. We have a place similar to this on Center street one mile west of Hanscom park, that we offer to lease at $600 per year.
