CORNERSTONE OF GYMNASIUM First New Building of the University of Omaha. PROMINENT MEN TAKE PART Dr. H. H. Maynard Lays the Cornerstone and W. T. Graham Places Valuable Therein—Building the Gift of Massy.

The cornerstones of the gymnasium of the University of Omaha, the first building to be erected on the campus, was laid Wednesday noon. The services, owing to the cold weather, were brief. The program consisted of invocation, Rev. J. S. Eber-sole of the Episcopal Baptist church; placing a lock in the stone by W. T. Graham, secretary of the board of trustees; placing of the cornerstone, Dr. H. H. Maynard, vice president; dedication prayer, Dr. F. T. House; address, Judge Howard Kennedy; address, Isaac Carpenter; address and benediction, Rev. Julius S. Schwartz.

The box contained the copies of the three daily newspapers of November 30, an announcement of the anniversary, published June 30, 1910; the Poomerang, the first student publication, of November 19, 1909; the university Reporter, under date of December 1; a copy of the charter and by-laws; an alphabetical list of the students, faculty and faculty wives.

Isaac Carpenter spoke of the value of the college to Omaha and mankind and of the pleasure the students will enjoy in after years for having been the first students.

Judge Kennedy emphasized the fact that this building is not the gift of one man. Some have given money, some time and others material. He said in closing that this is to be only the precursor of number of buildings which are to follow.

Rev. Schwartz has the supervision of the erection of the gymnasium and has been very active in gathering the materials used in its construction. The foundation was gathered from many places, and, as Mr. Schwartz said, "This is symbolical of the present student body, for they are the real foundation of the institution and because of the variety of students."

The building is located and faces the east. There are eight rooms which will be used by the physical director and athletic manager. The foundation is eight feet deep and on this rest the walls of red pressed brick.

FACTORY IS TO BE REBUILT Bee Company Officials Decide to Re-build the Burned Plant at 17th and Farnam. At a meeting Wednesday morning of the directors of the National Lumber, Box and Package company, whose plant at 17th and Farnam streets was destroyed by fire Tuesday night, it was decided to rebuild the plant at once. J. Nelson, president of the company said that the new plant would probably be better than the one which burned. "We have not decided the matter definitely," he said, "and cannot at this time say what will be the cost of the new plant, but we intend to rebuild immediately and in all probability on a larger plan than before. We had used the plant since the company was organized two years ago. The business had so increased that we had intended building on to it." Mr. Nelson said the fire was thought to have started by someone who slept in a pile of hay at the south of the building. The fire started in the shed of the plant against which the hay had been piled. "The blaze could not have started from defective electrical wiring. There were no wires in the shed," he said.

American Music Hall to Reopen This Year, Says Emil Brandeis. Owner is Not Now Prepared to Say Just What the Attractions Will Be.

"The American Music hall will be reopened before the first of the year," said Emil Brandeis. "You can go as strong as you like on that. More I can't say now. It is a long way between New York and Chicago, and San Francisco." Manager Fife left Wednesday for New York where he has a playhouse. Mr. Fife could have had the management of the house again when it reopened, but he preferred to accept a New York offer with William Morris, Inc.

Week of New Musical Productions. The up-to-the-minute numbers from the new operettas and musical comedies recently introduced in America have just been transplanted to this city. The new Victor Records for December include a most attractive list of production numbers, given by the best singers and players, and every one can now enjoy the music of the big musical successes.

The pretty ballad, "The Girl of My Dreams," from the play of the same name, is pleasingly rendered by Betty Macdonough and the Haydn Quartet. "Alma" is a most entertaining little number from "Alma, Where Do You Live?" rendered by Miss Barbour and Mr. Anthony.

The records of a new trombone solo by Arthur Pryor worthy of particular mention because this artist has had much time to devote to solo work since the organization of his band, and this new number "Polka Fantastico" shows the same wonderful skill and golden tone which made him celebrated as the greatest of players on this instrument. Pryor's Band plays two new successes—the rollicking "Grizzly Bear" and the graceful two-step Intermezzo, "Indian Summer"—and a movement from the great "Pathetic" Symphony by Tchaikowsky. "Way Down in Cotton Town," a pretty little ballad, all from a southern village and a Dixie sweet-heart, is sung in quaint minstrel dialect by Billy Murray, supported by the American Quartet.

Three Christmas numbers are to be found in the list of Red Seal Records. Evan Williams sings them and he has perhaps no equal as an interpreter of the tenor music of the Messiah and is at his best in these two lovely airs, "O' Valley, Shall Be Exalted" and "Comfort Ye My People," as well as in a famous Christmas song, "The Star of Bethlehem." Maud Powell plays superbly a violin number of rare beauty, "Der Zephir," by Hubay, a noted Hungarian composer. A famous Kipling ballad, "Rolling Down to Rio," is brilliantly sung by Herbert Witherspoon, who gives the number just the touch of humor it requires, and this artist also gives a most impressive rendering of a Stabat Mater dir. Johanna Gadski sings two Mozart numbers and her superb rendition, make it fully apparent that she has the qualifications to properly interpret the music of this master; and Marcel Journet sings Leporello's famous "Catalogue Song" from Don Giovanni with all the sly humor, gaiety, irony and sentiment which it requires.

Great Money is Identified. TABOO CITY, Miss., Nov. 30.—Identification of the alleged bribe money was continued in the bribery case of L. C. Outlaw here today. J. J. Scarborough, cashier of the Bank of Poplarville, identified one note of his bank. It was issued March 2, 1910, ten days after the alleged payment of the last installment of the bribe money.

WILL OFFER RED CROSS SEALS Half Million Christmas "Pastors" on Sale Tomorrow.

ASK FOR SPECIAL PROCLAMATION Governor and Mayor Expected to Call Attention of Public to Charity—Registered Nurses Boost Movement.

Today is seal day. In almost every town in the United States the red cross seals sold to bring in revenues for the fight against tuberculosis will go on sale. The Omaha office of the Anti-tuberculosis association, which has charge of Nebraska's sales, has 400,000 seals out through the state and 100 merchants in Omaha will offer 100,000 of them. In an automobile furnished by the Detroit Automobile company, Mrs. K. R. J. Edholm, executive secretary, will deliver stamps and have them in readiness. Post cards will be sent out to all local and state merchants so that they will be reminded that today is the day to begin their work for the cause.

The governor has been asked to issue a proclamation concerning the seals and to use them on official stationery and it is probable that the mayor will be asked to do the same thing. In Omaha several devices for furthering the sale never before tried are being planned. The Nebraska Association of the local office and the national secretary of the Red Cross society has been given permission to establish a booth in the corridor of the postoffice and sell the seals.

BIG GRAIN RECEIPTS COMING All Present Indications Show that December Will Be a Big Month.

Big receipts in primary markets are expected by all grain centers this month. The expectation is not without justification because of consignments already made and in transit and of the orders sent for consignments. Receipts for November, 1910, in Omaha as in all other primary markets are lower than last year's.
