

HOME NOTES AND SOCIAL GOSSIP

Debut Dance

American Beauty roses, violets, orchids, chrysanthemums and myriads of roses of different shades, literally a wall of flowers, formed the background for the receiving party at the reception-dance given at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Pickens to formally introduce their daughter, Miss Elizabeth. These flowers were the gifts of the hosts of friends of the young debutante.

Japanese cherry blossoms formed an arbor effect throughout the promenade, ball room and supper room. These flowers and pendant Japanese umbrellas, together with the Japanese lantern illumination, made the scene seem a bit of the Flowery Kingdom.

The gowns worn at the ball were unusually graceful and attractive. Miss Pickens wore a dainty gown of white chiffon, draped over white satin. The gown was decorated with a train of the white satin and was elaborately trimmed with crystal. Pearls were the hair ornament. She wore a large bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Pickens wore a handsome imported costume of white lace over white satin, with trimmings of pearl embroidery. Mrs. Franklyn Rodman of Salt Lake City, sister of Mr. Pickens, was gowned in crepe de chine, ashes of roses color, with oriental embroidery.

Miss Jean Barkalow of Denver, who is visiting Miss Carolyn Barkalow and Miss Alice Carey McGrew, wore a dainty gown of white chiffon with crystal trimmings.

Mrs. May Noyes Norman of St. Joseph, Mo., guest of Miss Frances Nash, was gowned in American Beauty chiffon over white satin made with broad shades of white satin. Both Miss Norman and Miss Jean Barkalow wore school friends of Miss Pickens at Mrs. Somer's school in Washington, D. C.

Miss Marcia Perkins of Fremont, guest of Miss Amy Gilmore, wore a pretty costume of yellow chiffon and Miss Gilmore wore white chiffon and crystal.

The debutantes wore attractive evening gowns. Miss Dorothy Stevens was becomingly gowned in pink crepe de chine trimmed with crystal fringe and bands. Miss Mildred Rogers wore a lingerie gown hand embroidered with trimmings of lace. Miss Nannie Page was gowned in pale pink chiffon trimmed with hand-painted bands in oriental design. Miss Louise Dinning had a pretty costume of blue chiffon over pink satin trimmed with white mirlabeau.

Several of the brides of the year wore their wedding gowns. Mrs. Denise Barkalow was attractive in her gown of white chiffon over white satin. Mrs. Harry Kelly wore her wedding gown of white corded crepe. Mrs. Fred W. Thomas wore an evening gown of pale green satin trimmed with white mirlabeau and oriental embroidery veiled with tulle.

Among the debutantes of the last two seasons present were Miss Bess Baum, who wore a pretty evening gown of pale blue with self-tone trimming. Miss Louise Lord wore white chiffon as did also Miss Gladys Peters. The latter's costume was trimmed with pearl embroidery. Miss Alice Carey McGrew wore orchid chiffon. Miss Dorothy Morgan pink chiffon, and Miss Carolyn Barkalow evening gown of black chiffon. Miss Frances Nash wore a beautiful costume of apricot pink chiffon draped over white satin with elaborate trimmings of crystal in bolero effect.

About 500 guests were present and those assisting were Mesdames Franklyn Rodman of Salt Lake City, Ben Gallagher, George A. Joslyn, Gould Dietz, M. C. Peters, M. A. Hall, J. P. Lord, Robe Morgan, C. F. McGrew, H. H. Eldridge, C. E. Johannes, Richard Cummings, Frederick W. Sandwich Possibilities

A SANDWICHES are no longer exclusively picnic fare, but are in daily use during winter for afternoon tea, the hostess who is going to make a hit is she who serves sandwich novelties.

There is one or two essentials to all sandwich making. Chief of these are good bread and butter. Bread should be preferably a day old, of fine, close grain, and evenly baked. When much is used there should be special pans for home baking, and sandwich loaves are to be ordered from the baker. This saves waste.

The bread should be cut evenly and thinly. If the knife be heated cutting is more quickly done. Crusts are not cut off until the sandwich is filled.

Butter should be soft enough to spread easily, but not melted. Some persons butter before slicing, but unless the loaf is square the slices are not put together evenly. Otherwise put the bread slice upon slice and butter the two inner sides before filling.

The modern sandwich is small and chapely. The favorite form just now is round, though triangles and narrow oblongs are also used. The thin slice is spread as for a sandwich, then rolled in on itself until about the thickness of two fingers. Sharp biscuit cutters are used for round shapes after the slices of bread are put together with the filling.

Too great care cannot be taken in shaping, as sandwiches of uneven size are not appetizing and reflect upon the social knowledge of the hostess.

If made several hours before they are used sandwiches are packed closely together and wrapped in a linen cloth wet from ice water, then in a dry cloth.

Pans on silver sandwich plates, with lace dolly underneath, or neatly heaped on a flat china or glass plate covered with a dolly. Where many sandwiches are served a small chop plate is often utilized. Where there is a maffin stand the sandwich plate is set on one of the shelves, with a plate of crackers and a basket of small cakes on the other two.

And with all this preparation you have no sandwich worth eating if the filling be wrong. Right here is where the clever hostess racks her brains for novelties.

Sandwich fillings are of three orders—meat, in which is included fish and egg sandwiches; cheese mixtures, and sweet sandwiches.

There are also various greens, though lettuce is so much used with all forms that it can scarcely be classed by itself. In this class may be put celery or endive run through a fine meat chopper and mixed with mayonnaise; cress and nasturtium tendrils and pods mixed with French dressing, and parsley chopped fine and mixed with shredded peppers or shredded onion.

For tea purposes decided onion mixtures are better omitted, though finely chopped white onion is relished with capers and anchovy fillings.

For ordinary purposes, cold meat or poultry, run through a fine chopper and mixed to a paste, with rich cream and seasoning of salt and paprika, are delicious and not so rich as the mayonnaise fillings. Chicken and tongue mixed in equal parts are a pleasing novelty; so is shredded bacon and ground chicken, with strips of pickles.

Most of the meat and fish salad fillings can be used as sandwich filling. Hot lobster Newburg makes a delicious sandwich; so does creamed crab and red pepper, and finely chopped shrimps with capers masked in mayonnaise.

Green or red peppers chopped finely and mixed with mayonnaise is a favorite filling.
