RICH REWARD IS UNCLAIMED

Finder of a Passenger Pigeon Nest Can Have Fifteen Hundred Dollars.

ONE LONE BIRD STILL EXISTS

One Passenger Pigeon Remains to Have Been Totally Wiped Out by the Indiscriminate Shooting of Pat Hunters.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—One solitary passenger pigeon, ending its life at the Zoological garden in Cincinnati, is today all that remains of an American species that early in the last century swarmed over the continent in flocks numbering billions.

For many months a systematic search has been made throughout the continent by officials of the Audubon association for relics of the once prolific passenger pigeon.

Members of the organization, headed by Prof. C. F. Hodge of Clark university, have made a standing offer of $1,000 to anyone discovering a nest of this species.

but, though thousands have been trying eagerly for the prize, not one single claimant has appeared.

In response to a recent inquiry by T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, the authorities of the Cincinnati Zoo have just furnished the last chapter in the tragic tale of these butchered birds.

The "Last of the Passenger Pigeons" is a female, 18 years old, whose mate died recently without issue at the age of 24.

Last Refuge Was in Michigan. As late as 1871 what is now known to have been the last nesting place of these wild birds was found in the state of Michigan, where their nests thickly covered the trees over an area twenty-eight miles long and four miles wide.

Residents of this city declare that in 1850 they flocked over Manhattan Island in such numbers that they obscured the sun and that ships loaded in bulk with the bodies of these birds lay at the wharves selling them at a cent apiece. Audubon is quoted as observing a

YOUNG WOMAN'S THROAT CUT

Miss Bertha Woodworth of Houston, Tex., Attacked by Hectored Sailor with Razor.

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 3.—Miss Bertha Woodworth, daughter of W. W. Woodworth, a prominent member of the Texas Oil company, was attacked by Lloyd B. Shaffer at her home here early today and it is believed received fatal wounds.

Shaffer used a razor and afterwards slashed himself, probably fatally.

It is reported that the couple had been engaged to be married, but Miss Woodworth had recently broken the engagement.

Early today the young woman and her mother were started by the sudden appearance of Shaffer with a razor in his hand. He calmly announced he had come to kill Miss Woodworth. The women fled to the second story porch, Shaffer pursued them. Reaching the edge, Miss Woodworth leaped to the ground. Shaffer followed and, seeing her, slashed her throat.

SHOP EARLY AND BE HAPPY

Merchants Are All Prepared for the Rush to Come.

ALL NOW HAVE EXTRA FORCES

Managers Say that Discriminating Buyers Are on Hand Early to Get Their Pick of Splendid Displays.

By way of encouragement to the campaign for early shopping to alleviate the annual Christmas rush, the shop keepers have put their holiday wares on display and prepared generally to handle the gift buying trade.

The retail shops of the downtown center are agitating with the trinkets and goods calculated to interest the buyers. Most of the Christmas lines are now on display in all their completeness.

It is up to the shopper. The goods are ready and the salespeople are on the job. The Bennett company has employed an additional force of 250 salespeople to assist the 750 regularly employed during the holiday rush. These additional workers have been put behind the counters much earlier this year than last and have been trained for their work far in advance of the schedule of former seasons.

"We have prepared for the early shoppers," said A. L. Schantz, general manager of the Bennett company, as he pointed down the aisle of the gaily decorated store. "The additional help has been put on in two divisions to expedite their training. They are all in shape to show the goods in their departments now and we are just as ready for the trade as we will be the day before Christmas, and of course the

OKLAHOMA CAPITOL MUDDLE

Citizens Trying to Form Company to Meet Demands Made by Senate Bill.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okl., Dec. 3.—After a short session this morning, the Oklahoma legislature, which is considering the capitol site proposition, adjourned, leaving the problem in a state of confusion.

Declaring that practically all the gulls and terns in America today have survived solely through the work of protecting and restoration at their reservations, leaders of the National Association of Audubon Societies are now appealing to the people of this country to support the work of preserving dying species of native birds which they have already begun.

The senate proposition is that Oklahoma City must furnish a site within the corporate limits and guarantee a million and a half dollars for the building.

Many persons here favor purchasing a section of school land three miles from the center of town for the site. Governor Haskell is known to favor this plan, but the majority of the citizens of the state seem to be against it.

Another Feudist Seeks Vindication at the Ballot Box

James Howard, Convicted of Complicity in Goebel Assassination, is Candidate for State Senator.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 3.—Another man was convicted in connection with the assassination of Senator William Goebel will seek "vindication" at the polls.

Henry S. Yastinsky, who is the only man now in the penitentiary serving a life sentence for complicity in the Goebel murder, swore he aimed the gun for Howard, and that the latter fired the shot that killed the senator.

Educators Are Mad Over Trade Schools

President of Union College Denounces Present Tendency Toward Technical Training.

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 3.—In an address at the dedication of the Thomas R. Proctor Library at Richfield Springs today Rev. Dr. Charles Alexander Richmond, president of Union college, protested against the growing tendency to trade schools.

The educators of the country are going mad over the subject of trade schools and technical training," he said.

"Colonel Roosevelt in one of his Washington speeches said that every college student should be taught a trade. I suppose he had in mind that in the case of some boys a good carpenter or a good farmer had been spoilt in the making of a poor preacher or a briefless barrister; but you might just as well demand that every farmer should be taught Greek."

COUPLE FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Indications that Woman Died While Arranging for Husband's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Henry Hasnack and his wife, Anna, a middle-aged couple, were found dead today in their rooms on East Seventy-first street, and an autopsy will be necessary to determine the cause of death, which physicians say must have occurred at least two days ago.

There was nothing to indicate murder and no definite evidence of suicide.

A postal card found in the house seemed to indicate that the husband had died first. It was dated yesterday, addressed to Mrs. Hasnack, signed Thomas O'Reilly, and read:

"I called to see you Friday evening in regard to the funeral of your husband. Will call again Sunday morning before the hearing."

The police argued that Hasnack died suddenly and that his wife, after writing to O'Reilly about preparations for the funeral, met death herself.
