CRABTREE NAMES ASSISTANTS

No Assistant Superintendent, but G. A. Gregory Will Have Title.

SOME INCUMBENTS REAPPOINTED

Waterhouse, Hunter and Bodwell, Inspectors; Daisell and Penney, Examiners in Grades and Rural Schools.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 5.—(Special.)—State Superintendent-elect J. W. Crabtree has announced his appointments for the next two years. He has not named and will not name an assistant superintendent, because, he says, he does not wish to groom a man for his successor. G. A. Gregory will be given the title, but will continue as superintendent of normal training. Three or four superintendents will hold the same rank. The appointments are as follows:

G. A. Gregory, reappointed inspector of normal training in high schools; Frederick Little, Anna V. Day, Beatrice, assistant superintendent; A. H. Waterhouse, Fremont, member board of inspectors; Superintendent Fred M. Hunter, Norfolk, member board of inspectors.

Superintendent E. J. Bodwell, Beatrice, reappointed member board of inspectors; Superintendent James E. Daisell, Lexington, inspector of graded schools; Superintendent Clifford M. Penney, Blair, examiner and rural school supervisor; Miss Jennie H. Adams, reappointed head secretary.

Miss Elizabeth L. Pollock, reappointed stenographer; Miss Coris M. Goethel, reappointed stenographer; Ruth Wheeler, Lincoln, stenographer; Miss Anna V. Day, reappointed secretary on certification; Minnie Morrell, reappointed stenographer; G. A. Gregory, inspector of normal training in high schools, retains his present position and has the title of deputy. He was selected for this work by Superintendent Bishop because of his special fitness for it. He has had experience in school work from the bottom on up to his present place. He was county superintendent in both Nebraska and the state of Washington. He was a professor in college and a city superintendent of schools. His work at Crete attracted wide attention. His work as inspector of normal training in the high schools has been highly satisfactory not only to the state department, but to all the high schools of the state.

Miss Anna V. Day of Beatrice, who becomes assistant in the prominent educators of the state for several years. She has had experience as teacher in Gage county, was principal of a ward school for several years, superintendent of the Gage county schools for six years and head of the department of normal training, Beatrice, high school, for the past year. She was one of the first to put Superintendent Bishop's suggestions for industrial training into the country schools. The people of Gage county claim that Anna Day could have been their county superintendent for many more years had she desired to continue in that work.

Farmer Douglas County Man. Superintendent K. J. Bodwell is reappointed on the board of inspectors for colleges and normal schools. He is a graduate of Dartmouth college and ranks with such educators as Superintendents Stephens and Davidson. He was for many years county superintendent of Douglas county and later as superintendent of the Norfolk public schools. He succeeded President Palmer of Wesleyan university as superintendent of the Beatrice public schools. He has held many honors in state and national teachers' associations and is recognized throughout the country as an educator of genuine worth.

Waterhouse Experienced School Man. Superintendent A. H. Waterhouse, appointed as a member of the board of inspectors for colleges and normal schools, has the absolute confidence of the colleges and normal schools and of the educators of the state. Superintendent Waterhouse has had a wide experience in the profession, having been teacher in country schools, principal of graded schools, superintendent of Weeping Water schools, principal of Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha high schools and superintendent of the Leaning Rock schools. He receives pay per diem and to cover expenses while inspecting colleges and normal schools, but retains his position as superintendent of the Fremont public schools.

Norfolk Man Recognized. Superintendent Fred M. Hunter, third member of the board of inspectors, is a graduate of the state university who has reflected credit on his alma mater by his work as teacher in the Lincoln high school and as city superintendent of Fairmont, Ashland and Beatrice. He was one of the strongest football players while a member of the team, and possibly one of the strongest in the history of football in the university. He was strong also as a student. Since engaging in teaching he uses the same grit, determination, energy and moral courage that he practiced in football. This combination has the most responsive work connected with the state superintendent's office. He retains his present position, receiving pay by the day for the work of inspection.

Former Member Board of Education. Superintendent J. E. Daisell of Lexington, appointed as inspector of graded schools and nonaccredited high schools, has been recognized as one of the leading educators of the state for many years. He taught in country schools, was principal of two or three small high schools and has had supervisory experience for years ago. He has been endorsed by the university, normal schools and colleges generally for this position.

Clifford M. Penney is another prominent educator of the state. He is a graduate of the state normal school and the state university. He was a teacher in the country schools, county superintendent of Boone county, superintendent of the city schools of Ashland and Oakland, at the present time being principal of the Blair high school. He will have general charge of examinations and of rural school supervision.

Flashlight Scares Rich Land Fraud Men in the Hastings Jail

Photographer Sets Off Can of Powder and Comstock, Jameson Et Al Leap for Life.

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Panic disturbed the "millionaire flats" of the Adams county jail, occupied by the Comstock-Richards-Jameson and Fenner colony, and the entire court house was thrown into alarm when a photographer's supply of flashlight powder exploded last Saturday.

Sheriff McCroskey and his wealthy prisoners raised objection to the photographer of the snug apartments of the favored prisoners. The photographer then proceeded to prepare to take a picture of an empty cell near by. In the haste of his preparations the entire can of illuminant was touched off. The court house resounded with the explosion and the building rapidly filled with smoke.

Clerks and officials fled panicstricken through the halls and out of the building. Several dignified and corpulent persons fled from the first-story windows. There were cries of "fire," "dynamite" and "ball break."

In his indignation, the Japanese chief, who serves the wealthy prisoners, upset a tray covered with perfectly good Haviland china, to the utter destruction of the luncheon.

When the smoke cleared away the peace and dignity of the head of county government was restored after many inquiries and reassurances.

The authorities made an effort to suppress the story of their undue alarm, and it became known about town only today through a tradesman.

FARM HAND STARTS SMALL RIOT

Central City Man Who Cannot Speak English Charged with Insanity. CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Dec. 5.—(Special.)—Because the people down that way could not understand his style of German, Edmund Kuhlmei was brought up from Chapman Saturday on a charge of being insane.

He is a German and speaks very little English. He has been employed on the farm of Nathan Beaman for several months and had been allowed to work the same team all the while, until he came to regard it as his own. They were shelling corn at the farm Friday and it became necessary to change the team from one wagon to another. Kuhlmei misunderstood Mr. Beaman's intention and thought he was going to be deprived of the team. He remonstrated and an altercation ensued in which Kuhlmei's inability to make the others understand what he meant and their inability to make him understand started a small riot. He seized a pitchfork and dispersed the crowd. Mr. Beaman thought from Kuhlmei's actions that he must be insane and came down to Central City and swore out a warrant against him. Sheriff Her brought him in and a hearing was arranged before the insanity board. Kuhlmei was so excited that he could explain nothing to the board, but Ed, Broers, a local German, came to the rescue and, acting as an interpreter, was able to tell the board Kuhlmei's side of the case. The latter explained that he had misunderstood Mr. Beaman's intentions and instructions and had thought he and the other men were going to attack him. He talked very intelligently and was very sorry when he found that there had been a misunderstanding, and the board decided that he was perfectly sane. He was allowed to depart, saying that he was going back to apologize to Mr. Beaman and would try to get his job back.

NEW ANGLE OF BRIDGE Muddle

Polk County Has No Funds to Pay for Its Own Share. CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Dec. 5.—(Special.)—It would seem that the troubles of the people in the neighborhood of Havana, in both Polk and Merrick counties, are never ending. Just when it appeared that the bridge was within their grasp, it now develops that Polk county has only $1,900 in county treasury available for the bridge, and hence cannot contract for the shares formerly allotted to it. The original plan called for Merrick and Polk counties each to pay $4,000 toward the bridge, and $4,000 more was to be raised by subscriptions from parties who would be directly benefited by the bridge. When Merrick county agreed to its share last winter, it was found that Polk, which had all along made bright promises, had no money in the treasury and could not help out until a new levy was made. After the new levy was made Merrick county again came forward with the $4,000 appropriation, but an injunction was secured by Silver Creek and Clark's merchants, which tied the matter up for a while. Now, after the injunction suit has been dismissed, and it seemed that the last obstacle in the way of a bridge had been removed, comes the news that Polk again finds itself short of funds and unable to bear its share. Nothing doing, the Havana people have gone to work and pledged $2,000 more to take up the delinquency caused by the shortage in Polk's contribution. Now certain of the Merrick county supervisors are unwilling to go in on such a basis, claiming that Merrick should not put up any more money for Polk, and that both counties should share alike in any benefits to be derived from voluntary contributions toward the bridge.

NEBRASKA BUSINESS GROWING

State Railway Commission Figures Extensive Increase.

THREE MILLIONS IN FREIGHT

Passenger Revenues Have Enlarged One Million Three Hundred Thousand Dollars—Heavy Business Done in Three Years.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 4.—(Special.)—Business in Nebraska is steadily on the increase, according to figures compiled by the State Railway commission. Indeed, these figures show a flattering increase. Between the years 1907, when the commission became a fact, and 1909 freight shipments have increased $12,979,323 and passenger revenues $1,383,145.38. The basis on which these results have been obtained was the business received on interstate shipments, thus avoiding duplications, and both goods received and forwarded in dealing with interstate shipments. The total business done, passenger and freight, amounted in three years to $18,112,122.51.

Following is a summary of the commission's facts:

Table with 3 columns: Freight, Passenger, Total. Rows for 1907-08, 1908-09, 1909-10, and Grand Total.

File Formal Complaint. The Bowler Grain company of Omaha has filed with the State Railway commission a formal complaint against the terminal facilities of the Missouri Pacific, alleging that the road has no inspection track on which grain may be lodged and that very often the consignor has to look all over the yards for his cars of grain, and that in the meantime demurrage charges are piling up. The company asks that the commission order the railroad to designate a particular track as an inspection track and place all incoming cars of grain for the Omaha firms on that track. It is said that the Omaha Grain exchange has interested itself in the matter.

Order Issues Today. Governor Shallenbarger has approved the findings of the board of inquiry into the conduct of the national guard as presented to it by Adjutant General Harrigan. The governor made no changes in the findings, it is said, although they have not been made public. The court's decisions have been extremely mild, consisting almost altogether in fines of $10 or less, and in some cases these fines have been remitted. The fines will come out of the pay of the men, which has not been turned over to them, from the Fort Riley maneuvers.

Making Effort to Work. The biennial report of the Wayne Normal school, one of the two schools added to the state institutions by the last legislature, shows that it is going to try to get along as an institution until the next legislature comes to its aid. The legislature appropriated $20,000 for the purchase of the school buildings and grounds found there. Of this the total set up to date is $11,000. It was turned over to the state, was, as shown in the report, $7,942.21. On the remainder of the appropriation the school is operating. The report shows that since school began in September the total outlay has been $12,131.38, and that there is left to complete the building, that is, until next June, just $1,487.98. At the rate the school has already cost this cannot be accomplished and the institution will be compelled to ask the legislature for an emergency appropriation or for a deficiency fund. Teachers' salaries run about $1,200 a month.

Want to Cut Period. The application of the Independent Telephone system of Nebraska to reduce its time limit from five to three minutes will be heard by the Railway commission on December 21 at 2 o'clock.

The independent system wants to cut down the period of talking without extra charge to the state by the use of the Nebraska Telephone company. At present the Nebraska people fix the limit at three minutes. The independents have always had the five-minute period, with a few exceptions. Notable among these is Omaha, where on account of the transmissibility nature of much of the telephoning the three-minute rate has obtained.

Auditor's Report. State Auditor Elias A. Barton has filed the semi-annual report of his department with the governor. His report relating entirely to the number of warrants issued and the number paid, together with the expenditure of the fund that is for the conduct of the office itself. This report shows that the warrants paid in the six months amount to $1,262,335.35; the warrants issued amount to $1,099,513.15; the amount of warrants outstanding on December 1 amount to $234,422.04.

Nebraska News Notes. BEATRICE—The firemen of this city will give their annual fair December 12 to 14.

BEATRICE—Charles O. Whitmore of Beatrice and Mrs. Grace E. Williams of Du Bois, Neb., were married here Friday by Judge Walker.

BEATRICE—The body of John Schwartz, who was killed Sunday morning by falling downstairs at the home of Stephen Verdman, near Barnston, were interred yesterday at Wymore.

SARGENT—The high school, assisted by some of the town people, are putting in work on the new building. The Captain of Plymouth, which they hope to present to the public before Christmas.

ELGIN—Judge Hanna will convene court here on December 12 and will finish the work left over from the November term of the district court. The docket will be practically cleared of cases that are now at issue.

BEATRICE—Shue E. Simmonds of this city yesterday instituted suit in the district court for divorce from William Simmonds. She alleges cruelty and non-support in her petition. The couple have three children.

PERU—News comes to Peru of the death of Frank Balsam, who formerly made his home here with his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Smith. The death occurred on November 22, where he was employed as an expert miner.

HILDRETH—When Allen's confectionery store was entered last night and robbed of $5. The burglars made their way in at the back door and left no clue. This was the first time Mr. Allen had left any money in the drawer.

OUR furniture stock seems to have absorbed the spirit of our store policy—not to forget our Tag-Policy—and is filled with the thought of solidity as opposed to imitation. Home Desks are the subject: Solid, honest, Tag-Policy desks.

17 Dollars Solid mahogany top, front, drawer fronts and l. Not veneered—solid. Also here in Oak, Bird's Eye Maple and beautiful Curly Birch.

20 Dollars All solid stuff—and policy tagged—a liberal size, handsome desk for library or mid-lady's boudoir. In Mahogany, Oak, Birch and Bird's Eye Maple. The cabinet work is a feature.

12 1/2 Dollars If you are seeking a solid thing at a reasonable price, you'll look no farther than this little desk. Again the full line of Mahogany, Birch, Bird's Eye Maple and Oak, with a pins of Circassian Walnut.

18 Dollars A Colonial period pattern in Mahogany Veneer on solid Mahogany. A wide drawer below the writing top, a drawer inside above; and the drawers are finished inside. There are ample divisions for papers, etc.

11 Dollars Here is a case where you need not pay for expensive wood. Gum Wood has been eminently satisfactory to furniture makers and it finishes beautifully, especially in the dark colors. The construction of this piece is solid and strong. There are no drawers above the writing top, but there are two below.

40 Dollars A gum wood desk, finished in mahogany. The writing top lets down on rubber rests and is secured by extra heavy brass supports. It is thirty-eight inches wide; seventeen inches deep; it has a writing space thirty-two inches deep; it has twelve spacious pigeon-holes; one wide
