

LIVELY TILTS IN ERDMAN CASE

Yeiser Loud in Denunciation and is Six Times Called Down.

TRIAL JURY IS SELECTED

Witnesses, including Tom Dennison, Complaining Witness, Are Excluded from Court Room During the Trial.

Fiercely denunciation by Attorney John O. Yeiser of the methods he alleged to have been employed in the preparation of the state's case against his client, Frank Erdman, charged with attempting the death of Tom Dennison by blowing up his home with dynamite, repeated objections to and criticisms of Yeiser's remarks by County Attorney English and sharp hits by County Attorney English and sharp hits by Judge Lee E. Estelle in the criminal division of the district court Tuesday morning.

Six times the county attorney rose and argued the case and Yeiser's attempting to argue the case and to prejudice the jury against the state by means of half-veiled charges of "frame-up" and manufactured evidence. Six times Judge Estelle sustained the objections and cautioned Mr. Yeiser to confine himself to a clear and direct statement of what the defense expects to prove, calling his attention to the rule that argument cannot properly be made in an opening statement, the opportunity to speak to the jury given counsel before the taking of testimony being allowed merely that counsel may give the jury outlines of what they expect to show.

Witnesses Excluded. A gentle tilt between County Attorney English and Attorney Yeiser over the question whether or not witnesses in the case should be excluded during the opening statements and the taking of testimony was another feature of the opening of the trial. On request of Mr. Yeiser Judge Estelle excluded all witnesses, even Tom Dennison, complaining witness, and Detective Steve Maloney, who under instructions of the police department has aided the county attorney's office in its preparation of the case against Erdman.

Impending of the jury was completed at 4:30 o'clock Monday evening and adjournment until Tuesday at 10 a. m. was taken. Both the state and the defense expected their preliminary challenges before the jury was secured. Personal of the jury: James Nason, Waterloo, Neb.; Abraham Geren, 269 Davenport street, Omaha.

Fred Schlemme, 211 Oak street, Omaha; Frank Mortough, 129 South Twenty-fifth street, South Omaha.

George T. Zimmerman, 131 North Twenty-fifth street, Omaha.

G. B. Hittin, 204 Pratt street, Omaha; J. H. Lynde, 1119 North Eighteenth street, Omaha.

Edward Starr, 234 W street, South Omaha; J. A. Eggleston, 260 Sherman avenue, Omaha.

M. C. Hansen, Florence, Neb.; F. W. Lamborn, 215 North Twenty-fourth street, Omaha.

William H. Rawley, 621 North Twelfth street, South Omaha.

Statement of State. In his opening Mr. English said in substance: "The state expects to show that some time before May 23, the day on which the attempt to dynamite the Dennison home was made, the defendant, Erdman, was up north posing as a horse trader and there by credible witnesses was heard to say that he knew Tom Dennison and was going to blow him up."

"There is a little quarry town near here called Louisville. Dynamite is used for blasting purposes in the quarry. There are two quarries. At one the dynamite was kept in a box, padlocked; at the other the dynamite was not kept under lock and was easily to be got at by anyone wishing it. The testimony will show that on Tuesday or Wednesday before the Sunday on which the witness infernal machine was found on the Dennison porch the defendant was heard in Louisville and by witnesses was seen to make numerous inquiries regarding the locations of these quarries."

Erdman on Scene. "Erdman was seen by witnesses in the vicinity of the Dennison home only a short time before the finding of the case. A few nights previous he was arrested near the Dennison home, armed with a big revolver and a small one similar to that found in the suitcase, and a cartridge belt filled with cartridges around his waist. He was charged with carrying concealed weapons, taken to the station, gave bond and was released."

C. B. Hyde, the first witness for the state, identified eight views of the Dennison home, made by him for the county attorney, Michael F. Black, civil engineer and surveyor, identified a plat of the vicinity of the Dennison home prepared by him.

MAYOR APPROVES ALDRICH

Says that He is Acting Just Right in Making His Appointments Early.

Chester H. Aldrich is acting right in the opinion of Mayor Dahlman. "Aldrich is making his appointments in the right manner," said the mayor Tuesday morning. "He knows how to avoid trouble. Of course, the retailers and the hotel men in Lincoln may object to the fact that he is handing out his plums immediately and is not keeping a flock of office seekers hanging around the capitol for months, but for his own sake he is doing the proper thing. No one can complain now that he waited for a job that he had no right to expect, and that he wasted time in useless maneuvering. I approve of the action he is taking. Now if—"

He stopped there and the cohorts that had been listening attentively maintained a sad and solemn silence.

When questioned in regard to Attorney Brandeis's said: "I don't know anything at all about Mr. Brandeis, his statements don't interest me, as they cannot affect me." TRIBUTARY COUNTRY IS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

G. M. Otis Declares that South Dakota is Forging to the Front.

Developments in the area comprising Hyde, Hughes and Sully counties of South Dakota are adding largely to Omaha tributary territory. The country is tapped by the Northwestern line and shipments into Omaha markets are rapidly increasing. "We are not so strong on cattle," remarked G. M. Otis, a land dealer, who is interested in this section. "The big herds are broken up. But we can show up something in the way of wheat, corn, barley and oats. In fact, I think, one of the best general agricultural sections in the west. There is a degree of certainty about crops there which is not offered by most sections. The land is being taken up rapidly, too."

HOLDING JOB LONG TIME. HER CHARACTER CERTIFICATE

Mrs. Roger Miller Instances Long Employment in Packing Plant as Proof of Her Sobriety.

Admitting that she hit her 5-year-old daughter, Nellie, over the head with a broom handle, Mrs. Roger Miller, 219 North Thirty-second street, South Omaha, told Judge Weston in juvenile court that one has to chastise a child when it calls you bad names.

An investigation of the home environment of the little girl had been ordered. Mrs. Miller confessed that she drinks a glass of beer every night when her husband comes home from work with a dime's worth in his dinner pail.

"I've been working for Cudahy's for four years steady," she said. "I guess that shows I'm not a drunkard."

"I don't think you are a drunkard," said the judge, "but you may drink too much some times. I will let you keep Nellie, but you must be good to her and not get drunk. If there is any trouble I will take her away from you." On request of Mrs. Miller the judge told Nellie that she must be at home at 5 o'clock every evening.

Anton Corvallis, son of Joseph Corvallis, was ordered sent to the State industrial school for boys at Kearney for breaking and entering a store.

A hearing on the request of Anton Huffman, 243 South Eighteenth street, whose children have been in the detention home because they did not receive proper care at home, resulted in an order that the children be kept in the home until a week before Christmas. Juvenile officers and Superintendent Mrs. Heller of the home testified that the children were in great need of care when they were taken from the Huffman home. Mrs. Heller said the girl's hair had been cut off because it had not been combed for about four weeks.

PHOTOGRAPH IDENTIES NEGRO

Omaha Prisoner Proved to Be Wanted by Authorities of Saline County, Missouri.

Shortly after Henry Washington, a negro, was bonded over to the district court by Police Judge Crawford, Monday morning, a newspaper reporter saw a photograph in a detective magazine and recognized it as that of the negro. The magazine article said that a description of him was wanted by the Rock Island railroad and that he had been sentenced November 12 to serve a year in the Saline county jail at Marshall, Mo.

The reporter pointed out his discovery to Chief Savage and the negro was brought into the chief's office and identified through the loss of a finger on his right hand and the photograph.

When the photograph was shown to him the negro confessed that he had escaped from a gang of county road workers in Missouri and had come to Omaha. He was arrested here a few days ago for stealing a valuable muff, clothing and money from a lodging house at 524 Davenport street. If convicted in the district court he will be made to serve his sentence in the Douglas county jail and then returned to Saline county, Missouri, to finish out his term.

Treatment of Injured.

ASHLAND, Neb., Dec. 2.—To the Editor of The Bee, Yesterday (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock I stood near the corner of Twenty-fourth and O streets, South Omaha, in front of Mr. Standfield's livery barn, waiting for a Port Hook car. A car came around the corner from O, turning in North Twenty-fourth, going north. A passenger stepped down and light flash an automobile backed up from the rear, going north, and struck the man, who went down with a cry of pain. About twenty of us rushed to the scene, the automobile stopped and one of the automobile passengers stepped out and assumed to carry the injured, limp and bleeding form to the office of the Blue Front livery barn owned by Mr. Standfield. A doctor was called (after the automobile with its passengers had disappeared) and the man was taken to the police station and there he was seen by a friend of mine, two hours later, sitting in a chair, apparently suffering great pain. I ask the people who helped carry the wounded man to the livery stable who the people in the automobile were and was told by some county surveyors; others said city engineer.

As a police officer of the British empire, I should like to see the questions asked.

1. Why did the men in the automobile dash within a few feet of a standing car? Should they not have known that someone was about to alight?

2. Why did they not take the wounded man to a hospital in place of leaving him in the hands of an inexperienced crowd, never offering to help nor offering to pay the expenses in case the man had to have a doctor?

3. Is it just to take a wounded and suffering man to the police station in place of a hospital?

If this accident, the way I witnessed it, had occurred in Canada, in my district, I should have arrested and taken to the police station the owners of the automobile and charged them with brutal carelessness and deserting their victim, but I should have at once ordered an ambulance and sent the sufferer to the hospital. It is an outrage to take a wounded man to a police station wherever there is a hospital within reach and to let those that wounded him go unpunished. Very respectfully,

GUSTAV H. SCHOOF, Sergeant Major British Mounted Police.

QUAYLE TALKS ON KING LEAR

Methodist Bishop Makes Address on the Great Shakespearean Tragedy.

Bishop William Quayle last night told a good sized audience at the First Methodist church that Shakespeare's "King Lear" in his opinion, ranks next to "Hamlet" as the English playwright's second tragedy.

In a lecture that was full of human interest, with many intimate references to the scenes where the plot of the play was laid, the bishop depicted the springs of human emotions that shook the aged king, who, he said, represented a broken heart beating out loud.

"When one realizes that his own tragedy is the result of his own mistake, as was the case with Lear in giving away his property, then it is supreme," said the speaker.

Take Care. Remember that when your kidneys are affected your life is in danger. Dr. Mayer, Rochester, N. Y., says: "My trouble started with a sharp shooting pain over my back which, growing worse daily, I felt sluggish and tired, my kidney action was irregular and infrequent. I started using Foley's Kidney Pills. Each dose seemed to give new life and strength into me, and now I am completely cured and feel better and stronger than for years."

To Improve Color and Beauty of Hair

(Marion Harlow in Woman's Sphere) "To keep the hair free from signs of thinning and graying it is necessary to adopt some treatment that will act as a stimulating tonic and give the scalp and hair roots strength and vitality.

"Too much moisture on the hair is a mistake, for it makes the scalp dry and hard, and the hair dull and faded. It is better to use a tonic shampoo powder once or twice a week.

"To make a good shampoo powder put four ounces of orris root in a fruit jar and mix with it four ounces of theriac, sprinkle a little on the head and brush it thoroughly through the hair. This removes dirt, oil and dandruff and the hair improves the color, brilliancy and strength of the hair."—Adv.
