

Base Ball Posters Figuring Out What to Do Next Year, Trotting Decisions

DENVER SECURES A TRAINER

Grizzlies Are Already Preparing for Opening Game.

NEBRASKA LEAGUE IS SOLID

All the Towns Which Composed It Last Year Are Anxious to Support Teams Again the Coming Season.

Frank Newhouse has been named as trainer of the Denver base ball team to succeed Sam Murbarger, who kept the Grizzlies in such great shape last year. Murbarger has several offers from big league clubs which he is considering, but may decide to devote all his time to his business. Newhouse is one of the best known trainers in the country. At different times he has been the trainer of Colorado college, School of Mines, and with several first class base ball teams. Last year he was an umpire in the Central league and had a berth there for next season if he so desired.

Organized base ball has won a permanent home in the small Nebraska cities which held membership last year in the Mink league and the Nebraska state league circuit. Auburn fans have raised a pot of $2,500 with which to finance their club in 1911. Out in the state league not one of the eight towns in last year's circuit shows any signs of wavering. All of them, in fact, are making ready for the coming campaign. York, meanwhile, is to apply for membership.

Rusty Owens, once a pitcher with the Pueblo club, is the moving spirit in the projected organization of a new base ball league to be made up exclusively of Iowa towns. Cedar Rapids, Mason City, Muscatine, Iowa City, Marshalltown, Boone, Oakdale, Fort Dodge and Clinton are the cities mentioned for membership.

Ordeman Wants to Wrestle in Omaha

Omaha's next wrestling match will be between Ordeman and whoever he will agree to meet here. He has written to Manager Gillis of the Auditorium asking if a match with Westgaard can be arranged for here sometime in January and if he can not meet Westgaard he wants to meet some other of the big men of this country before an Omaha audience. Ordeman is the man to whom Gitch has given away the mat.

ENGLISH VIEW OF FOOT BALL

Eleven Wear "Weird Looking Padded Clothes"—Cheer for Partisans Surprise Home Spectators.

The London Daily Telegraph publishes the following account on American football:

The first exhibition in London of the American Rugby game was given at the Crystal Palace football ground yesterday afternoon by teams selected from the crews of the United States battleships Idaho and Vermont. The 5,000 people present witnessed a rough struggle which, though rendered somewhat softened by the superiority of the Idaho men, was nevertheless thoroughly enjoyed.

Resembling city Rugby game in many ways, the American game is much rougher and more exciting. Opponents hurried themselves into the battle at full speed in a manner which alarmed the crowd, with the exception of that portion which was cheering the Idaho sailors, who displayed their partisanship by cheering, shouting advice and waving flags. The hand-to-hand battles Idaho struck up lively airs whenever their side effected a victory.

Both eleven wore "weird looking padded clothes, and these doubtless accounted for their escaping serious injury. Scrummaging forms the principal feature of the play and the majority of the Idaho points emanated directly from "scrums" in front of the goal posts, the goals being kicked following slight infringements. The Idaho team won by 16 points to 6 and their success was signified by a demonstration on the part of their bandmen, who after cheering loudly, played passages from "The Hairs of Penance" in quick succession.

At the conclusion of the game the sailors on the touch line almost deliriously whooped with delight at Idaho's success, "cake walked" all over the field and gave American athletes. As a spectacle the game was entirely successful, but it was regarded by those of the onlookers who were British as incomprehensible and even rather foolish.

NO MORE RECRUITS ARE WANTED BY COMISKEY

Owner of the White Sox Says He is Looking Only for Seasoned Players.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Billy Sullivan, Jimmy Slone and Freddy Payne, the wind blown artists of the White Sox, will have a coadjutor when next season opens; that is they will find Comiskey as pull of the deal at the annual league meeting in New York.

"Yes, I am after another catcher," said Comiskey today. But he would not name any one man, fearing a boost in his price when he came time to trade him. He is generally believed, however, that Comiskey is looking for Bill Carrigan, the Boston Red Sox backstop, and that he is likely to be persuaded here by Joe Wood, the hurler. Comiskey would be willing to let a couple of outfielders go in exchange for a pitcher more to President Taylor's liking than Wood has been.

"No more recruits for me this year," said Comiskey. "Any further additions to the White Sox will have to be left-grade men. You know it is hard as ever to get things to do things in this league next year."

DALTON MAY BE NEW CAPTAIN

Baker's Star Half Back Will Be Leader of Next Year's Team Under Baldwin Plan.

RALDWIN, Kan., Dec. 7.—The football team will elect a captain for next year next week and it is probable that George Dalton, right half back, is being named. He will be chosen to fill the place. More than half the points scored by Baker in a year were scored by Dalton. The team will be banqueted next week and the school and it is expected that 500 students and townspeople will be at the foot ball banquet.

Benefit for Helika Smith

Followers of the boxing hero in Omaha have arranged to give a benefit Friday night to Helika Smith, the well known colored boxer, who has been in prison several years ago and who is now in failing health. The principal number on the card will be a six-round exhibition between Al Gray of St. Joseph and Paul Murray. Young Battling Hanson will also appear as well as Clarence Enrich. A following of well-wishers and a battle royal will be out on to help furnish the bulk of the evening.

Nebraska City Relief Funds

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Dec. 7.—(Special)—For the last two days a committee has been out raising a moderate fund for the coming season to enable the city to be retained and represented in the Mink base ball league next summer. They have raised the amount and will be on hand with it at the meeting of the officers of the association, when they meet in this city next Friday.

All-Star Gridiron Team to Make Trip South for Two Games

Will Play at Memphis and New Orleans During the Christmas Holidays.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 7.—A greater part of the Harvard law school football team, which defeated the Carlisle Indians 13 to 6 last month and which is composed of former players from Harvard, Yale, Princeton and the University of Michigan, will invade the south during the Christmas holidays and meet two southern teams in Memphis on December 25 and in New Orleans on December 31.

Negotiations for the games have been under way for some weeks, but it was not until today that Captain Hamilton Fish, Jr., announced their completion.

The Memphis game will be against the pick of the Vanderbilt and Swannee eleven, and at New Orleans the all-stars will meet the best men from the University of Louisiana and one or two other southern colleges.

The "All-stars" lineup will be as follows: Ends, Houston, Harvard, and Auchincloss; Yale; tackle, Fish, Harvard, and Crumpacker, Michigan; guards, Hoar, Harvard, and Parks; Yale; center, Cas, Princeton; quarterback, Gardner, Harvard; half backs, Fuller and Moore, Princeton, and Corbett, Harvard; fullback, White, Harvard.

Two good games, one at the University of the Cornhuskers' team, is a member of the Harvard law school team and was expected to make the trip with the All-star team, but later decided to come to Omaha for the holidays.

GOLF CLUBS REQUIRE CARE

Woods Ones Need Especial Attention in Wet Weather and After Playing in the Snow.

No practical golfer needs to be told any longer that the risk of bringing rustation upon his clubs, especially the wooden ones, is very considerable, particularly when those woods shafts have such delicate and sensitive blades as the new Dreadnoughts. Great attention must be taken and great attention should be given to them after play.

The ancient law, "do not put the iron in the water," is quite enough to ruin a thin driver shaft. It is simply wicked to take good clubs out on a wet day in a bag which is without a lid. After each shot the player should wipe and dry the sole and face of the head and the head of the club with a clean handkerchief and at the end of the day he should see to himself that the shafts are dried thoroughly, but not by putting them close to a fire or stove. Wipe the face of the driver's or wood's head with a very old rag which has been forgotten, a very old rag will do. Then when the solution becomes as thick as cream it should be poured off and the head and shaft should be rubbed with the wooden club, where it serves the dual purpose of keeping the wet out of the wood and giving a good grip to the ball. The idea seems excellent.

Taft Re-Elected Head of Red Cross Society

President Predicts Full Amount of Two Million Dollar Fund Will Soon Be Raised.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Taft was re-elected president of the American Red Cross society at the annual meeting today, and Hubert W. De Forest, Charles R. Moore and A. Platt Andrew, assistant secretary of the treasury, were re-elected vice president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis, whose name was sent to the senate today for appointment as solicitor general, was elected counsel in chief of the organization, an office hitherto vacant.

The president and members of his cabinet, together with the ministers to the United States from Switzerland and Costa Rica and the delegates to the convention, attended a reception given by Miss Mabel T. Boardman.

President Taft, in his capacity as president, presided for a time. Announcement was made that New York City already had raised the $200,000 allotted as its share in the Red Cross endowment fund of $2,000,000.

President Taft predicted that the full amount of the fund soon would be in hand and gave praise to Miss Mabel Boardman, who is the active head of the association.

VINDICATION FOR SECY BALLINGER

ment administration as furnishing evidence of some sinister purpose.

Specific Findings in Report.

The report makes the following specific findings:

That the charges and innuendoes against Secretary Ballinger in regard to the Cunningham coal land entries or other coal land claims in Alaska are untrue and that his conduct in the matter is not justifiable.

That he was fully justified in revoking the Indian coal field agreement.

That the restorations of water power sites by Secretary Ballinger were made in good faith and not in enmity to the government and that no injury appears to have been done to the government and the cause of conservation by the restorations or withdrawals.

That, in view of the opinion of the attorney general, he is justified in abandoning the use of the so-called water users cooperative certificates in connection with the restorations of water power sites.

That the administration of the reclamation law presented features justly subject to criticism. No violation or improper conduct on Secretary Ballinger's part has been shown nor any action by him not within the limits of his authority as chief of the interior department in the faithful performance of his duty.

That he is not guilty of, nor hostile to, a reasonable and judicious policy of conservation and that no ground whatever has been shown for the charges and innuendoes that he is not a faithful and efficient public officer.

Alaska Coal Cases.

After setting forth the fact that the entire known coal fields of Alaska, covering more than 4,000,000 acres, is still in government ownership, the report takes up the hearing upon the strife between Secretary Ballinger and other officials of the government in the disposal of the coal.

Mr. Pinchot, who was deposed as government forester. The report then says: "Your committee finds that the interests of the people as owners of the Alaskan coal fields are not threatened or endangered under existing conditions."

Speaking of the Cunningham claims the report says that it would be improper for it to pass upon the merits of these claims and thus prejudice them while they are pending. "If they are regular," the report says, "patents should be allowed. If they are fraudulent, claims should be cancelled. The claimants are entitled to an impartial judgment upon their rights in the premises."

It is said the committee found no reason to doubt that the commissioner of the general land office, with an appeal to the secretary of the interior, would decide the coal lands impartially, but because cases fairly and impartially, but because the imputations heaped upon them it is recommended that a law be enacted for the transfer of these and any other cases involving claims to Alaskan coal lands to an appropriate court for a hearing and a decision.

Leasing System Advocated.

Concerning the future of Alaskan coal lands the report makes a definite recommendation in favor of the leasing system, which also was favored by President Taft in his message to congress. The recommendation follows:

"Your committee believes it would be the height of unwisdom to permit these great coal fields to be monopolized or gathered into the private ownership of a few for speculative purposes. As they increase in value the increment should inure to the benefit of all the people.

"To bring about this result and at the same time put an end to the unreasonable condition now existing your committee recommends that the government refuse to sell the lands, but that retaining their ownership it shall grant leases at fair royalties for periods limited, not to exceed covering areas large enough to justify the necessary investments upon sound business principles and thus secure the opening and operation of sufficient mines to meet the necessities of Alaskan consumption; afford relief from the present exorbitant prices paid by consumers; and at the same time afford some revenue to the government. We recommend legislation to that end, and that pending such legislation, the existing withdrawal from entry of the Alaskan coal lands be made.

Concerning for Glavis.

As to the conduct of Mr. Glavis in the long period in which the Alaskan coal cases were under his control as special agent of the land office, the report declares he had sufficient time and abundant assistance to make the field examination which he had demanded.

In this connection the committee says: "If his demand was in good faith, it was grossly negligent in his duty in not having the examination made then."

Commenting upon the blanket withdrawals of public lands which were made for James K. Garfield, when secretary of the interior, the committee says this action was taken by the secretary of the interior, but that he would not be reappointed under President Taft. It is said these withdrawals were made afterwards, from the mere inspection of the land office state maps.

None of these lands were restored to the public domain by Secretary Ballinger, and a portion were again set aside. The withdrawals according to the committee, were made by Secretary Ballinger after a "careful examination of the maps, data and reports in the geological surveys," and it is said that the restorations were based on the power given in the original blanket withdrawals made by Mr. Garfield.

Withdrawals Are Discussed.

At the same time the committee says: "It is plain that such withdrawals should be made only for the purpose of permitting congress to act, and that blanket withdrawals are justified only upon condition of immediate examinations and restoration of the land not needed for the purpose of making effectively any action which congress should see fit to make.

"The continuance of the excessive withdrawals could not be justified," the report says, "a day longer than was necessary to ascertain what land actually constituted the supposed power sites."

Explaining the restoration of Mr. Ballinger, because of his abrogation of the Indian cooperative agreement relative to logging and lumbering on Indian reserves, the committee says the secretary found that operations were being carried out by the bureau of forestry of a wasteful and an extravagant nature and entailing loss to the Indians. Much of this work was being done by employees of the interior department.

He held that the contract between the Indian officers and the forest service made during Secretary Garfield's administration constituted in effect the transfer to one department of an appropriation made to another. He held that this was illegal and was supported by an opinion of the comptroller of the treasury. The report says:

For questioning the validity of the cooperative certificates by which settlers within irrigation districts would be permitted to pay a part of the charges against them in work instead of cash, the committee says that Secretary Ballinger had been assailed as an enemy of conservation. In this connection the finding of the majority was that "he was fully justified in taking the course he did. If he had done otherwise he would not have been a faithful public officer."

The secretary held that the issue of the certificates was in contradiction of the provisions of the reclamation act, "that no contract can be let for any part of a project until the necessary funds are available in the reclamation fund."

He was discharged the last time a little more than a year ago and since then had been employed by Booth, and of late had shown no symptoms of his trouble. "MIDNIGHT ROUNDERS"

Become Daylight Gentlemen After Taking the New 3-Day Cure for the Drink Habit.

It is a very sorry matter nowadays to become cured of the drink habit since the New 3-day drink-habit cure has been perfected. The hardest part of it usually is to convince the erring one that he needs it or for the erring one to convince himself of the same. One can be a drinker, a drinker, unless cured by the proper treatment.

A man's money, business, reputation and friends quickly drift away, like the fog before the sun, when the flowing bowl is tasted too frequently, and it does not take long for him to be pointed out and whispered about as a "rounder" and a "beoze fighter." When a man gets that name his reputation for business honesty and integrity suffers a severe change. The contamination of alcoholism exerts itself in more than one way.

BAD BLOOD OFTEN INHERITED

Bad blood does not always come as the result of careless living, or indiscretions; it is a condition frequently inherited. Normal, healthy blood contains millions of tiny red corpuscles, which are the vitalizing and nourishing element of the circulation, their office being to provide every portion of the system with its necessary strength and nutriment. In weak, impure blood these corpuscles are lacking in numbers, and therefore the blood is not able to supply the proper amount of nourishment to the body. Bad blood manifests itself in many ways. With some it takes the form of skin diseases and eruptions, others become bilious and malodorous, with sallow complexions, torpid liver, etc. Bad blood produces Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula and like troubles. Nothing is equal to S. S. S. as a remedy for bad blood; it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing not only the qualities to cleanse and purify the blood, but composed of roots, herbs and barks that tone up every part of the system, and assist in the creation of blood nutriment. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Blood Poison and all other blood disorders. S. S. S. makes good blood, and good blood makes good health.
