CARDINALS STRONG NEXT YEAR

Dope Fiends Figure Bresnahan Has Elegant Prospects for Next Year.

MORE MATERIAL ON TAPIS

Roger Hopes to Put Over a Trade or Two at National Meeting—Pittsburg in a Chaotic State.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Dope Fiends figure Bresnahan for next year's prospect in the Cardinals for one of the best talents the organization has produced since the national league was organized in St. Louis. With Higgins and Moyer at second and third and Red Corridon, the former Omaha player, at short that part of the infield is pretty good. Geyer, Hackman, Hezard, Golden, Henrich, Stevie, Zinch and Aldridge will pitch, and the outlook for 1911 will be bright to say the least. At the national league meeting to be held this week it is probable a number of trades intended to build up the team will be carried out by Bresnahan.

Pittsburg in Bad Way

The complete annihilation of Pittsburg is predicted. There are possibly four ball players on the squad. Byrne, Gilman, Wagner and Campbell complete the list. The start of the 1910 world's champions, Oct. 24, is a record which has looked up the pitching staff. Fred Clarke's bulging ruined Johnny Miller, Leach and Clarke are on the ragged edge.

Chicago may make trades enough to bolster up their forces for a while at least, but to those who saw the world's series it looks as if Chicago's mob is on the down grade.

New York comes up well, providing a dash of new blood to the Mottly of old. If "Big Six" fails McGraw, New York Giants may as well fly the white flag, as the Giants without Mottly would be as a ship without a rudder. The balance of the clubs, with the exception of Boston, are evidently even matched. Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and the Cardinals should fight it out for the first division berth.

The Brooklyn National base ball club finished first in the fielding averages and last in the batting averages of the season. There are many young players on this team who have played in the big leagues for the first time during the last season, and with a little more experience these youngsters will surely be of great help to the "Infant" team.

Latham Not with Giants Now. Arlie Latham is not down on the Giants roster for next season and this may mean the passing of the old-time clown. Arlie has always been a credit to the game. In his day he was one of the speediest boys that ever wore spikes. Together with that he was a good inside player and a strong batsman. Arlie played alongside of Charley Coniskey in the long ago when they were both struggling youngsters. Now look at them: One a millionaire and the other just chinking out an existence.

Here's a tale they are telling about Sherwood Anderson who was nearly a Giant a few years ago. "Sherwood Anderson," says Johnny Bates, "is the best inside fielder of the base ball world. No reflection on his intellect, because he is a 'big' thinker, but because he has examined the ground of Mr. Magee's head and he has a definite sense of the thickness of the head bone. He would enter a contest with a head that would not be cut with a knife. He would enter a contest with a head that would not be cut with a knife. He would enter a contest with a head that would not be cut with a knife."

Too bad there wasn't an auto for a prize exclusively for National league batsmen. Magee would have won easy. He just nudged that one ball this season, and his hits were all good, hard ones, too."

Tinker Figures Out an Entirely New Way to Handle Puncs

Joe Would Keep First Baseman Cover His Sack All the Time and Make Pitcher Rustle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Joe Tinker, the combination base ball pitcher and vaudeville artist, comes out now with a new plan for fielding punts, which he thinks will change base ball history. It is also rumored that the plan has been adopted. However, it is quite possible that if it is adopted it would bring around if not better results than the present system.

Joe's scheme is so simple that one wonders why some showed major league manager has not adopted it before, but such is the case. He has never been put into practice.

The scheme is simply to keep the first baseman out of the middle of fielding punts and have him stick to the bag, have the pitcher always to his left to cover around only in that territory, while the third baseman takes care of every chance in the right of the pitcher and the catcher handles every one that is dumped just in front of the plate. In this way first base always is covered by the regular man while the second baseman is always stationed on the middle line ready for a play there and the shortstop runs down to third to prevent the base runner from going from first to third on the play.

SPORTSMEN RATTLE VOICES

IOWA FALLS, Ia., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Sportsmen of northern Iowa have raised great objection to the proposed drainage of Wall lake near here. They declare they should have been given notice of the proposed action beforehand, and that they would have had more time to fight it. In stating their objections they say that Wall lake is practically the only reservoir of wild life in this vicinity and that for this reason alone the water should be allowed to remain there.

J. Armstrong, E. Campbell, L. A. Schott, Leeper, Shepard and M. H. W. C. FOWNES JR., BEST GOLFER

Pittsburg Player Holds Honors Entitling Him to First Rank.

W. J. TRAVIS IN SECOND PLACE

Charles Evans, Jr., Placed Third by H. L. Fitzpatrick, Who Has Made Similar Estimates in Golf for Nine Years.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—W. C. Fownes, Jr. of Pittsburg, holder of the national, Pennsylvania and western Pennsylvania championships, heads the list of the best sixteen golfers prepared by H. L. Fitzpatrick, who has made a similar estimate annually since 1901. Fownes has not been beaten in a match except on his first appearance at Pinehurst in April, when he lost to W. J. Travis and W. R. Tuckerman.

The former British and American champion, W. J. Travis, is placed second on the list. As the winner of the north and south title and of many tournaments he has played up to his best form. Those beaten in matches by Travis include Fownes, Evans, Harrah and Travers's list. The western champion, Charles Evans, Jr., runner up in the western and semi-finalist in the national, is placed third and leads Fred Herreshoff, medalist in the national and Metropolitan Golf association amateur champion. The westerners fill the fifth and sixth places, Mason Phelps, western amateur champion, and Robert F. Hunter, intercollegiate champion, and of the Yale team. E. H. Byers, omitted last year for the only time because he had withdrawn from the game on account of his brother's death, is again rated in view of his medal play in tournaments at Pittsburg and as a former amateur champion. H. Chandler Egan had played only in the national for which, because of the congested course, he did not qualify. The next day he did it at Brea Burn on his first sight of the course.

Gotham the Center of Base Ball Talk

During the Week

National League Will Meet Tuesday

and American Will Follow with Session Next Day.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—This will be base ball week in New York. Within the next four days the club owners of the three leagues—two of whom will meet here in annual convention, club officers, discuss amendments to the rules and map out plans for 1911.

Two of the leagues—the National and the Eastern—will elect presidents. In the American "Dan" Johnson still has nineteen years to serve of a twenty-year term at the age of a year. Thus far there has been little talk of any opposition to "Tom" Lynch, president of the National, but the friends of Edward G. Barrow of Toronto, who managed the Montreal team last year, will put him forward against "Fat" Powers for the leadership of the Eastern league.

Barrow is said to have the pledges of five clubs—Toronto, Montreal, Buffalo, Baltimore and Newark—while it is understood that Rochester, Jersey City and Providence will support Powers. Last year it was reported that Powers promised not to run again, but strong pressure has been brought to bear on him to allow his name to be presented again. He has been negotiating for the Boston Nationals, and it is understood that if he says he can buy a controlling interest in that club he will withdraw. At any event his friends wish to name his successor and will oppose Barrow.

The National league will meet on Tuesday and the American league on Wednesday.

Barrow President of Eastern League

Pat T. Powers Did Not Enter Meeting and is Expected to Protest the Election

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Edward G. Barrow of Toronto was elected president of the Eastern League of Base Ball clubs at the annual meeting held here today. Three clubs were not represented, nor did President P. T. Powers enter the meeting, and it is understood he will protest the election.

Buffalo, Baltimore, Newark, Toronto and Montreal clubs were represented at the meeting. President Powers refused to attend. President O'Mara of Jersey City, Chapin of Rochester and Crowley of Providence also declined to enter the meeting.

Today's Eastern league meeting started a series of important base ball gatherings in this city, which will continue most of the week. The annual meeting of the National league convenes tomorrow. The American league's annual gathering will take place on Wednesday.

The Buffalo, Baltimore, Newark, Toronto and Montreal clubs were represented at the meeting. President Powers refused to attend. President O'Mara of Jersey City, Chapin of Rochester and Crowley of Providence also declined to enter the meeting.

Lincoln Man Considering Candidates for Leadership of His 1911 Squad.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—President Despain of the Lincoln ball club is on the lookout for a manager of his squad for 1911. Towland, manager of the Aberdeen team in the Northwestern league last season, and Harry McCormick, with the Minneapolis team in 1910, are being considered as possible for the place.

England's Election Leaves the Parties Where Were Before

Everyone Still in Dark as to Actual Possibilities of Election Now Nearly Concluded.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—It is now seen that the government will return with substantially the same majority as it had before the dissolution of Parliament, and the future course of the elections has less importance than the question of what will happen when Parliament actually meets. This forms the subject of a determined discussion in the party newspapers and in the speeches of the public men.

Lord Rosebery said at the beginning of the elections that should the government suffer a loss of only five seats it could not be taken up by the unionist press, which argues that unless the government secures an increased majority it will have no mandate to deal with the House of Lords.

The liberals on the other hand, contend that not only will the government have a majority larger than that of former strong unionist ministries, but that the nation has been taken up by the unionist press, which argues that unless the government secures an increased majority it will have no mandate to deal with the House of Lords.

To this the unionist reply that the question of a change in the constitution is on quite a different plane than ordinary legislation and they point out that specific majorities are required in the United States and in other countries before the constitution can be changed. Everybody, however, appears to be in the dark as to the actual possibilities of the election, and many are of the opinion that it may still be settled by negotiation and compromise.

Both sides appear equally confident of gaining a few more seats the coming week. Up to the present 50 seats out of 60 have been filled, the standing of the parties being as follows:

Government—Liberals, 138; Conservatives, 12; nationalists, 54; independent nationalists, 7; total, 211.

Opposition—Unionists, 236.

The relative positions of the two parties is exactly the same in the new Parliament in the old, each having gained twenty-one seats from the other.

RESCUE PARTIES FIND THEIR WORK DIFFICULT

Fresh Caves Stop Easy Progress and One Party May Have Met Disaster.

FRANK, Alberta, Dec. 12.—Rescue parties worked all day at the Canada Colliers mine at Bellevue, where an explosion killed more than forty men Thursday night, but owing to the fresh caves which blocked the passage, their efforts were unsuccessful. The latest casualty list gives the number of dead as forty-two, including five members of a rescue party. At 7 o'clock tonight twenty men had been in the mine for several hours without any word from them. As the mine passages run for miles it is feared they may have been entombed.

A rescue party of fifteen was brought out last night, but they did not find any more dead. They found twenty-one dead were found lying in one location on both sides of the track two miles from the tunnel entrance.

Among the known dead are: DAVID ROBERTS of Coleman. ROBERT STRATTON, government inspector of mines. JOHN POWELL, superintendent of the mine. RAOUF GREEN, foreman. PERRY ANDERSON of Hoosier, member of a rescue party.

Dr. Mackenzie of Bellevue was brought out in a weak condition. Most of the dead are Italians and Slavs. The Canadian Pacific railroad hurried a relief train and a party of officials to the scene Saturday night.

CAMP PICKS ALL-STAR TEAM

Three Western Men Are Given Due Recognition.

ONE MAN CHOSEN FROM YALE

More Men Are Taken from the West than Camp Ever Selected Before—McGovern Not on Team.

End.....Kilpatrick (Yale) Tackle.....McKay (Harvard) Guard.....Benbrook (Michigan) Center.....Copus (Pennsylvania) Quarterback.....Walker (Harvard) Fullback.....Wells (Michigan) Quarterback.....Sprackling (Brown) Fullback.....Wendell (Harvard) Fullback.....Pendleton (Princeton) Fullback.....Mercer (Pennsylvania)

Three western men, two of Michigan and one of Minnesota, were selected to be put upon the All-American team of Walter Camp. This number is the largest that was ever put on the squad by the master foot ball writer since he first began to pick All-American teams. The three men who won places were Captain Benbrook and Wells of Michigan and Walker of Minnesota.

Michigan men expected much, Minnesota men expected more. They thought Camp would name Captain McGovern for the position of quarterback. However, Sprackling of Brown has been selected for the place instead of the clever little western man.

A remarkable part of the selection is that but one Yale man, Captain Kilpatrick, has been named, and it shows the honesty of Mr. Camp and the exclusion of personality for Camp is a Yale man. Three Harvard players appear in the lineup, and two are picked from Pennsylvania, while Princeton has one representative.

AMELIA YOUNG IS DEAD

Widow of Famous Mormon Prophet Passes Away at Age of Seventy-Two Years.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 12.—Amelia Folsom Young, widow of the famous Mormon prophet and leader, Brigham Young, died at her home here Sunday. She was 72 years old and her death was caused by paralysis.

Mrs. Young played an important part in the early history of Utah and it was for that that Brigham Young built what is known as Amelia's palace, one of the show places of Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Young was born in Buffalo, N. Y., August 25, 1838, her father being William H. Folsom, who had joined the Mormon church and became prominent in its affairs.

Those familiar with early church history declare it was a case of love at first sight with Amelia Folsom and Brigham Young. They were married January 23, 1853, and a short time thereafter the construction of the palace began. Following the death of her husband in 1877, she sold the palace and later traveled in Europe.

FORMER CREIGHTON HEAD PASSES AWAY

Rev. Father Thomas S. Fitzgerald, Late of Milwaukee, Expires at Retreat at Florissant, Mo.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Rev. Father Thomas S. Fitzgerald, who was provincial of the western or Missouri province of the Jesuit order from 1894 to 1898, died this morning at St. Stanislaus Novitiate, at Florissant, Mo., where he had been in retirement for the last six weeks on account of ill health.

Father Fitzgerald was born in Chicago, Ill., March 1, 1848, and came from there to St. Louis university as a student. He became a Jesuit at the age of 21, and at Omaha, Neb., became president of Creighton university. He was later transferred to the presidency of St. Ignace college, Chicago, which he held until 1894, when he became provincial with headquarters at St. Louis university.

Five years later his health failed and he went to Milwaukee as pastor of the Ciesu church, which he left six weeks ago for treatment at Florissant, Mo.

LUCK ACCOMPANIES THIS LOADED GUN

Discharged in Direction of Group of Children, but One Only Received Slight Wound.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stewart of Northville loaded his father's harmless shotgun and stood it in one corner of the kitchen of his home, preparatory to using the weapon after he had partaken of a meal which then was being prepared. Mrs. Stewart was engaged in preparing the meal, while the husband and father was sitting by the stove. The boy sat down on the floor to play with his smaller brothers and sisters, and while thus engaged a jar caused the shotgun to fall to the floor and the weapon was discharged. The charge went into the group of children and it is little less than a miracle that none of them was killed.

A 4-year-old boy was the only one injured, a portion of the charge passing through the fleshy part of his leg just above the right knee, tearing a hole about two inches wide and just grazing the bone. The stove was riddled, but none of the other persons in the room was injured in the least.
