NEBRASKA'S BASE BALL PLANS

Athletic Board in Fight to Remove Present Summer Rule.

FAILING, WILL KNOCK SPORT

Members Believe Men Will Play Summer Ball Anyway and Worthless Rule is of No Benefit, Anyway.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Nebraska's Athletic Board proved consistent in its stand on summer base ball, instructing the delegates to the 1911 meeting to vote against the present rule which prevents men from playing, and if the rule was finally passed, to take steps to have base ball excluded from the list of college sports.

Although radical the stand taken by the board was not unexpected for Nebraska has long expressed disgust over the stand taken by the conference. Whereas, in the past the Cornhuskers have been along practically in the fight against the rule, it is now expected that Missouri and Nebraska will ally with Kansas to revoke the rule. Missouri has always taken a stand against summer base ball, but the Tigers have become more zealous since the ruling which abolished Thanksgiving day foot-ball games. Likewise Kansas found it necessary to step over and oppose the new rule.

The Nebraska delegate, Dr. R. G. Clapp, is not in sympathy with the action of the board. Dr. Clapp feels that the Cornhuskers should oppose summer base ball as a breathing of professionalism in athletics. The present rule against allowing a man to play on amateur teams in the summer is generally credited to Dr. Clapp in athletic circles.

Other members of the board do not agree. It is felt that men will play summer base ball regardless of the ruling, and if schools make an attempt to enforce the ruling then good men are lost. The Cornhuskers lost the services of McGibbon, a wonderful drop-kicker, during the last season.

Baseball Prospects.
Prospects for a stellar baseball team are exceedingly bright. Practice closed during the Christmas recess Tuesday night, although the members of the squad will attempt to keep in condition during the holidays. The season opens for the Cornhuskers on the Friday following vacation.

Owen Frank, who proved to be the sensation of the foot ball season, is also doing some fancy work in practice with the basketball squad. Frank is remarkably fast and has shown marked ability in throwing goals. Minor is another foot ball man who is making good in basketball. Both Collins and Gibson are playing with the squad.

Sam Carrier, the Omaha boy, is one of the best goal throwers ever developed in Nebraska and should be a valuable asset in landing a place on the team. Hillmer, the center last season, is showing up in mid-season form and probably will hold down the same position during the coming season.

Watters, Captain Hutchinson and Amerson, the other veterans of the squad, are doing well. Kline and Wood of South Omaha may win their letters.

The freshmen team this season is the strongest in the history of the varsity. A hard rub is practiced. Material for both varsity and freshmen teams is plentiful.

Westergaard to Wrestle Mandino

Match is Arranged for Next Week at the Auditorium in Omaha.

Jeas Heimer Westergaard and Alberto Mandino have signed up for a wrestling match to be held at the Omaha Auditorium December 28. Westergaard agrees to throw the Italian twice inside of an hour.

Ever since the match between Mandino and Doc Roller, when the former lost his temper and performed like a wild animal in the ring, Westergaard has been anxious to meet him. This will be the first time the Iowan has wrestled in Omaha since the time he wrestled with Zbyszko and injured his ankle.

The preliminaries of the event have not been arranged as yet, but Manager Gillian has offers from several of the local men.

NONCAPSIZABLE MONOPLANE

Inventors Say They Have a New Machine Which Will Startle the World.

Paul Anderson of Freeport, L. I., and Sage Nelson of East Seventy-ninth street, Manhattan, both Danes, have patented a monoplane which, they assert, is absolutely non-capsizable. Small models have been made and operated with success in heavy winds, they declare, and a larger model is now completed for further experiments and for demonstrations. By next spring the inventors expect to have a full sized monoplane constructed and in operation.

The airplane is different from other monoplanes in that it has a rudder in the front as well as one in the stern. The driving engine is hung in a swivel eight feet below the wings instead of on the same level. The engine rides upon semi-circular tracks and is connected with the propelling shaft by drive chains. The swing in which the engine is placed also confines the steering gear and seats for the driver and engineer. The swiveling motion of the platform causes the engine and the men to be at all times at the lowest center of weight, no matter at what angle the wings are slanting.

In other styles of monoplanes the engine and driver are on a level with the wings. This, the inventors of the new machine assert, does not give a proper balance and is the usual cause of capsizing. The Anderson-Nelson monoplane, as this new machine is called, is equipped with a fore and rear propeller, as well as a fore and rear rudder. These rudders are spoon-shaped and capable of an upward, downward and lateral movement. The upward and downward movement takes the place of the lateral wings of a biplane, controlling the rising or lowering motion of the machine.

The inventors have been at work on the machine they hope will revolutionize monoplane building since last January and believe they are on the eve of success.

Moran Challenges Wolgast.
BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Owen Moran, who recently knocked out "Battling" Nelson, issued a challenge tonight to Al Wolgast for the lightweight championship, at any time or place the latter may name, and offered to place a $5,000 side bet. Moran says he will give up any or all of his engagements to meet Wolgast.

WILL TRY HARD FOR PENNANT

Club Looking for Outfielder Who Can Bat .300 and Can Also Field. —Hendricks Will Be Again Manager.

Regardless of cost or trouble, James McGill, president of the Denver Base Ball Club, has determined to have that Western league pennant for the year 1911. He made a strong bid for the flag last season, but handicapped by a weak team to build up, and inexperience of the game, he finished second.

In the infield will be a new catcher in the place of Buck Weaver, but Hughie McMurtry, the other backstop, will stay. Another classy pitcher may be added to the staff, besides Olinsted, Ebnan, Hagerman and Harris of the 1910 team, and Kenworthy of Boston, who has been secured. Kinseila and Adams will be dropped. Jack Coffey will take Cranston's place at short and Lindsay and Lloyd will hold first and second. Bruse, Hartford, Kelley and Yoh will help fill the other places at short and third.

Left field is vacant, but Beall and Cassidy hold center. McGill wants outfielders who will bat near .300 and can cover the field also. Jack Hendricks will be right on the job as manager, just as in 1910.

Christmas Shoot for Live Turkeys

Omaha Gun Club is to Sponsor a Meet to Be Held Next Sunday.

A Christmas turkey shoot will be held by the Omaha Gun club. Although the shoot held last Sunday was intended to be a substitute for the Christmas shoot the demands of the shooters of Omaha for another shoot before the year closes has decided the members of the club in favor of another shoot.

The shoot will be held on the usual plan. First place wins a turkey, second a goose, third a duck, and probably between fifty and seventy birds will be shot for during the day.

BLUFFS WINS INDOOR GAME

Beats the Team Representing the Omaha Daily News by a Decisive Score.

Council Bluffs Young Men's Christian association indoor base ball team walloped the Omaha Daily News team Monday in a practice game by 20 to 9. The game was played in Council Bluffs and the home men were much too fast for the Omaha players.

Tuesday night the Shamrocks of South Omaha and the Young Men's Christian association squad of Omaha will meet in another practice game on the Omaha Young Men's Christian association floor.

Capitol Pool Tourney

A very close and exciting game was played last evening at the Capitol pool tourney between Paul Fralick and Albert Porter and every one of the large crowd present certainly had the pleasure of seeing the best game of the tourney, as it was a continual round of 15 ball shot of which Fralick carried away the honor.

When Porter reached the halfway mark Fralick was in the lead by thirty-five balls, with 35 to 50, but by conservative playing the former caught up with his opponent in the twelfth inning with 30 each, and the opening of the last frame found them both wanting six balls, with Porter breaking by leaving the cue out of the bunch, which Fralick made a hard, clean shot, and then pocketed his other five balls, defeating his opponent, 70 to 34.

Tonight another good game is expected between Shepard and Reynolds. Score by Fralick—2, 12, 15, 5, 4, 13, 7, 11, 11, 3, 2, 0, 5, 4-104. Total, 300.

Porter—12, 2, 9, 9, 8, 4, 4, 12, 12, 15, 7, 0-81. Total, 94.

Scratches—Fralick, 2; Porter, 2. High Runs—Fralick, 25 and 20.

RUSSIAN LION VISITS OMAHA

Stops Off to Try to Arrange Exhibition Match Here.

THINKS GOTCH IS OUT OF IT Says if the American Champion Wants to Stay in Retirement He Has a Right to Stop Wrestling.

George Hackenschmidt thinks that Frank Gotch is willing to stay in retirement for lack of confidence in himself. "If Mr. Gotch thought that he could defeat me, if he was sure of it, or even considered that he had a chance," said the Russian as he strolled along Omaha streets yesterday afternoon, he would meet me.

"I don't care to discuss Gotch. He has said that he is in retirement to stay and I am willing to take his word for it. He has a perfect right to keep out of the wrestling game if he wants to."

Hackenschmidt declares that wrestling will always be in popular favor. At any rate, he says, the wrestling game will not fall under the ban of public and legislative disapproval that the fighting game has incurred.

"Everybody in the world is a sportsman in some sense of the game," said Hackenschmidt. "The most matter-of-fact business has its element of sport, of contest. So long as the man is clean and honest and honest men respect in the game, it will remain popular."

"Suggestion of trickery and double play is the greatest source of harm to any athletic contest, be it professional or amateur. We must keep the wrestling game clean. I want to see more good men in it."

Hackenschmidt came to Omaha yesterday with his manager, Jack Curley. They are proposing an engagement here at the Auditorium on January 2. A conference was held with Manager Gillian yesterday. Hackenschmidt proposes to meet any or all of the Omaha wrestling talent. Some difficulty is being experienced in finding men to meet him.

HEAVEN FOR HOMEKNOCKERS

St. Louis a Paradise for Mean Kind of Ball Fanatics.

WHY BROWNS CAN'T GET AHEAD

Bill Murray Gives His Opinion and an Omaha Fan Recalls Some of the Games He Attended There.

"It is kind of them to consider me for the management of the Browns, but really I don't care for the job," said William J. Murray, former manager of the Philadelphia Quakers at Cincinnati Sunday.

"The man who tries to manage the Browns and to make them win has my sincere sympathy, for even patience is unknown in St. Louis. I wouldn't manage that team for $1,000,000 a year. On the level, now, if I was on my uppers and I had a chance to manage the St. Louis organization for $50,000 a year, I'd accept a job as a street car conductor instead.

"Hedges can't be blamed for selling out. St. Louis is a hard place for even a top-notch pitcher, but heaven help the chap who loses and stays there."

And Bill Murray is right. An Omaha fan tells of something he was witness of in St. Louis a couple of seasons ago: "I saw the Browns play four games," he says. "Three were with the Browns and one with the Highlanders. The Browns were just then making the wonderful spurt under Jim McGuire's direction that seemed likely to land them in the lead in the race. They surely did have a horse shoe somewhere about. The first game I saw was on Saturday, and Boston won it 1 to 0. On Sunday afternoon a double-header was played, and Boston won both, the first 1 to 0 and the second 2 to 1. It was the sheerest chance that gave Boston a run in either game, but that made no difference to the crowd. The park was packed, and the report was that upwards of 17,000 people had paid to get in, and of all that great throng I think I was the only man who was rooting for St. Louis, and I made myself very unpopular in the section of the grandstand I was in. The home knockers were out in full force that afternoon.

One Wonderful Play.
"I recall one play in the first game. It was along towards the end of the game.

Bobby Wallace had gotten to second for St. Louis and George Stone was at the bat. He caught one on the trade mark and sent it on a line over towards the score board. Jimmy Barrett, who was playing middle for McGuire's bunch, was playing deep into right for that hit. It looked like a safe triple at any rate, and maybe a homer. But Barrett was after it. He ran at top speed, and finally gave a great dive into the air, stuck out his left hand, came down on his neck back of the score board, turned over, and got up with the ball sticking in his midt. And that crowd actually went wild over the fact that St. Louis' last chance to win was gone, and a roasted Stone for "killing the ball into such a place. And the papers referred to him as no good as a batter. He was only leading the league then, but they couldn't see that.

"On Monday afternoon I went out to see New York play, and incidentally had a bit of a chat with Freddie Glade, George Stone, and Bobby Wallace. Each complained of the unfair treatment they were subject to by the home roasters. Stone was playing first for the team at the time, and he was being panned to a crisp daily; what he did for Detroit after was a good way to repay the St. Louis critics.

"So I could hardly wait for the morning paper to be brought to me while I was getting breakfast the next day. It was awful. The Globe-Democrat had about 200 words introduction and the box score, and the Republic had about the same; that was all about the game. But over on the other side of the page, the Republic printed a double-column of slobber by some fast-witted expert, who individually and collectively panned the team to a far-you-well. Bonehead was about the mildest expression he used. It was surely great encouragement to men who were really trying to play ball."

Snow and Ice

At this season of the year, when the ground and street car platforms are apt to be covered with snow or ice, especial care should be taken by passengers in getting on and off cars.
