Cold Cream Bath. The woman who wishes to freshen herself up in the shortest possible time and to feel a sense of invigoration after a long motor or train journey, should follow the example of the French woman. In ten minutes a French woman can truly rejuvenate herself. And her methods are of the simplest. She removes first her traveling dress and gives it to the hotel maid to brush. Then she dips a towel in cold cream or white vasoline and gently rubs her face, neck and arms with it. After this she saturates a corner of the towel with cold eau de Cologne and water and removes the cold cream. Finally a rinsing of cold water is given. After a thorough drying with a soft towel a dust of powder is applied to the face, neck and hands, and the dust-stained traveler is a new being. If there is time the feet are also sprayed and powdered, for there is nothing which so refreshes one. Then an application of a spray filled with eau de Cologne to the hair will remove all the dust. It takes very little time to accomplish all this. It is very hygienic for the skin, and the traveler emerges a radiant creature, with a softly glowing complexion, refreshed both in body and spirit after the fatigues of a long journey.

Activities of Various Organized Bodies Along the Lines of Undertaking of Concern to Women. After January 1, 1911 and until suitable new quarters are obtained the Jean club, which now occupies the former residence of J. H. Millard at Twenty-fourth and Harney streets, will be disbanded. The club's lease expires with the present year, and as the house with its large open rooms does not meet the needs of the organization, which is to provide comfortable and attractive quarters for as many young business women as possible, the lease will not be continued. Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, who has moved to Chicago. The others who have been the executive and financial board back of the organization are: Mrs. Edward Porter Peck, vice president; Mrs. C. C. George, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Page, secretary, and Miss Stella Hamilton. These five established the club here four years ago and have been its guardians since. The four now in Omaha hope to continue the club and eventually to obtain a new building in which it will be possible for each of the members to have her own room. At present the club has twenty-six members. Miss Mabel Cratty, executive secretary of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association, who has been spending a few days in Omaha, left Thursday for Denver. Fine Supply of Green Stuff for the Christmas Dinner today is of pleasing quality and not too disconcerting in price. Turkey, around which the feast is usually built, are graciously inclined just now, and splendid fat birds sell for 26 and 27 cents a pound, and at the large downtown shops may be had for 27 cents. Ducks are 15 cents, geese are 15 cents, chickens 15 cents. A small pig for roasting is $2.75. Oysters are 50 and 75 cents a quart. Green stuff is plentiful and the shippers and importers have taken pains to have it good. Lettuce, celery, new beets, carrots, turnips, tomatoes, artichokes, Brussels sprouts, spinach, radishes, onions, leek, endive, cauliflower and cabbage; in short all the small army of vegetables is here awaiting the housewife's command. Peas, pineapples, apples, oranges, grapes, bananas, quince, citron, cranberries, kumquats, persimmons, grape fruit are all here at varying prices. Baskets of fruits prepared by some of the dealers are most attractive both as gifts and form suitable centerpiece. Sprigs of holly, clusters of mistletoe add to the effect of the carefully selected fruit. The baskets themselves are of birchbark or wickerware. The supply and the demand for the best quality country butter is lively today, but the price remains the same, 33 cents for the best country butter, 30 cents for nearby quality, 25 cents for creamy butter. Eggs are 25 and 40 cents a dozen. The wholesale poultry prices are as follows: 14 cents; ducks, 15 cents; geese, 14 cents; turkeys, 24 and 35 cents.

Turkey Dressing.—Three-fourths cup of butter, six eggs, one tablespoonful sugar, one cup currants, one cup suet, raisins, one-quarter cup citron cut into small pieces, a little salt, wingstuffs of sherry or brandy, five or six slices of Dutch toast, or dry bread, great fine. Stir the butter and eggs to a cream, add the sugar and salt. Just before filling it into the turkey breast add the bread crumbs and whites of eggs beaten well to a froth, then currants, raisins, and citron.

Baked Potato with Soft Skins.—If potatoes are rubbed with butter, lard or olive oil before baking the skins will be found to be thin and soft after baking; olive oil will endure a higher temperature and is thus less liable to burn than either the lard or butter.

The gardeners of the orchards, the forests of the northland, the southlands of the westland and the eastland, the barn yards of the midland, in fact, all the world, has sent of its wares so that the Christmas dinner of the Omaha folk may lack none of the requisites of the feast. Moreover, people, when they purchase for the year's great feast, examine carefully the quality and, in so far as the purse permits, disregard the price. The stuff in the market

Windsor Chapel Etiquette. There is a good deal of etiquette as to the costume to be worn when attending the private chapel at Windsor castle. A woman "unattended" there for a week and visit for the first time during the last reign appeared on Sunday morning for service dressed as for walking and as at once told that it was not etiquette to come to their majesties' private service in a bonnet or hat. Accordingly she hastily returned to her room some distance away and divested herself of her outdoor apparel. She arrived again at the door of the chapel, only to be told that though headgear is "tabu," gloves are de rigueur. So another expedition had to be undertaken to her room, whence, having seized her gloves, she returned in a breathless condition only just in time to be at last admitted to the chapel—London Word.

As a Gift. A useful case for one's manicure set is made of silk lined with white cotton flannel. It is cut like an envelope with the four sides to be open. In the center of the flannel a piece of linen tape or ribbon is stitched, divided into five parts by the stitching, for holding the manicure implement.

The outside and lining are then basted together and bound with narrow ribbon. The case should be made larger than the implements so they can be well protected from dampness. The four flaps fold towards the center and can be fastened with either a button and loop or the case rolled up and tied with ribbon strings.

Darn the American Flag. "Darn the American flag" is the latest order of the government. Edward Everett Hale's hero was sent to sea for life for putting it only a shade stronger. The new order is in line with the government's policy of retrenchment, and the starchy banners that fly every day from the staffs of the thousands of government buildings throughout the land will be worn to a frazzle before they can be replaced.

Not long ago the government employees were instructed to exercise greater economy in the use of lead pencils and to use both sides of scratch paper in figuring out memoranda and in writing the rough drafts of letters. Now the flag is to be darned.

To Get Off a "Sucker List." If you are unfortunate enough to have your name entered upon the list of possible purchasers of mining or oil stocks, fly-by-night railroad and industrial enterprises promoted by such busy experts as the post-office authorities have lately been arresting, you are in for a vast and constantly growing stream of literature. For "sucker lists," as the promoters call the roster of victims, actual and prospective, are drafted and passed on from one firm-firm article to another. Here is the way to stop the annoyance: Let a letter carrier, or go personally to the postmaster, and refuse formally to receive mail from the promoter. The carrier or postmaster will report to the postoffice in Washington that the addressee refuses mail in turn, Washington notifies the promoter not to send any more mail to the address. This is an effective way to protect yourself from the numerous gold-brick financiers against whom the postoffice authorities have not as yet secured evidence enough to justify arrest and prosecution for the fraudulent use of the mails—Columbia Weekly.
