REASONS FOR GIANTS LOSING

Manager McGraw Says It is Because of Poor Work by Pitchers.

INS MAY FIGURE OUT DOPE

Anal of the Games Lost Shows that McGraw Knows What He is Talking About—Doyle a Good Fellow.

For the sake of argument, and also for the sake of throwing the hammer, one of the delightful pastimes which may be exercised in various ways, there has been a great deal of diverting discussion, since the close of the base ball season, as to the reasons why the Giants did not win the championship of 1910.

John J. McGraw, manager of the team, meekly asserted that he thought poor pitching had a great deal to do with it. It is only their manager, however, and probably does not know as much about the players as some of the learned citizens, who sit in the seats of the base ball judiciary.

On the Record.

April 22—Lost to Brooklyn. Score 2 to 1. Raymond hit for two earned runs and started the third with a base on balls.

April 23—Lost to Brooklyn. Score 4 to 2. Errors by Bridwell and Seymour responsible for four runs.

May 2—Lost to Brooklyn. Score 4 to 2. Four runs earned against Wiltse.

May 5—Lost to Philadelphia. Score 3 to 2. Eight runs made with Raymond pitching and five of them earned.

June 4—Lost to Cincinnati. Score 5 to 2. Bridwell, Drucke and Murray responsible for four runs, assisted by Meyers' wild throw. These four were made when the Giants had two.

June 7—Lost to St. Louis. Score 5 to 4. All of St. Louis runs made off Raymond, who was wild and hit hard.

June 10—Lost to Chicago. Score 6 to 5. Murray's fumble in the eighth inning gave the Cubs the game.

June 13—Lost to Chicago. Score 5 to 2. Ames was wild, made a balk, was hit freely and four of the runs were made by Chicago owing to his poor work. Doyle was responsible for one of the last two runs scored by Chicago, but the game was lost before he fumbled.

July 17—Lost to Pittsburgh. Score 6 to 2. Pittsburgh scored four in the ninth inning. Drucke was hit for a base, gave a base on balls, hit a batter with a pitched ball, made a wild throw and finally was taken out of the box. Raymond succeeded him, but weak pitching had done the work.

July 25—Lost to Philadelphia. Score 2 to 6. Meyers missed a thrown ball and was responsible for one run and Philadelphia earned the other.

July 28—Lost to Brooklyn. Score 6 to 3. Base on balls, base hits, including a home run, and Ames' wild throw gave Brooklyn their runs. Marquard went in the box and finished the game.

August 1—Lost to Philadelphia. Score 3 to 1. Philadelphia earned two runs off Mathewson in the first inning. These were enough to win.

August 3—Lost to Chicago. Score 5 to 1. Chicago earned every run that it made from Mathewson.

August 7—Lost to Chicago. Score 2 to 0. Bases on balls and good batting against Wiltse secured all of Chicago's runs. Not an error was made in the innings in which the Cubs made runs.

August 10—Lost to Chicago. Score 5 to 1. In the sixth inning Chicago made five hits against Ames, one a home run, and scored five runs.

August 12—Lost to Cincinnati. Score 5 to 4. A triple, double and single in the sixth inning, and Crandall pitching in the eighth inning, and in the ninth, with Wiltse in the box, a double, Wiltse's fumble and a single won.

August 15—Lost to Pittsburgh. Score 2 to 1. Bridwell's fumble, a single and a double against Mathewson in the eleventh inning cost New York the game.

August 18—Lost to Pittsburgh. Score 2 to 1. Three singles and a sacrifice fly against Drucke were good for two runs in the second inning, and they were enough.

September 2—Lost to Boston. Score 2 to 1. A base on balls, a wild pitch and a base hit, with Drucke pitching, resulted in the first run. Drucke started a batter by hitting him with a pitched ball, which was followed by a sacrifice and a double.

September 5—Lost to St. Louis. Score 5 to 1. Three hits, including a home run against Crandall, earned three runs in the sixth inning. They were enough to win. Meyers lost another in the next inning by dropping a thrown ball, and in the ninth following one more was earned against Crandall.

September 7—Lost to St. Louis. Score 5 to 4. Three singles and a wild pitch in the ninth inning, with Ames in the box, gave St. Louis the winning run. Bases on balls and hard batting against Marquard were responsible for the others.

September 10—Lost to Cincinnati. Score 4 to 2. Cincinnati made all of its runs against Wiltse, who was laced hard. In the fourth a single was followed by a home run by McLean and Wiltse was taken out of the box.

September 12—Lost to Philadelphia. Score 5 to 2. Doolittle was laced hard all of the way.

October 11—Lost to Philadelphia. Score 5 to 1. Philadelphia connected hits on Hendricks in the fifth inning and made six runs. Bridwell and Davlin made the errors.

MULLEN TO AMERICAN LEAGUE

Western Empire May Be Drafted to Major League Vacancy.

ONCE TRIED OUT BY PULLIAM

Several American Leagues May Go—Mullen of Western and Beloit of Wisconsin-Illinois Best Candidates.

John Mullen, Western league umpire in 1909 and 1910, will be one of the umpires to fill the vacancies in the ranks of the American league staff for 1911. Mullen is one of the several hundred applicants who are lined up for the two vacancies to be filled in the American league staff to make up to the standard of eight men. It is understood that he is assured of the position.

Mullen is of Pittsburg and was with the Pennsylvania league for a time before he came west. He received a tryout with President Pulliam in 1908, but did not work in the following years. The noted dispute at the Polo grounds between the Phillies and the Giants in which several of the Phillies were thrown out of the game and the game forfeited to New York was the deed by which Mullen was known in the east for a long time.

The American league staff at the end of 1910 season consisted of Sheridan, O'Leary, Connelly, Evans, Dineen, Perrine and Egan and probably all these except Sheridan will be on hand again for the 1911 year. Sheridan wants to retire and since the weakness of his eyes prevent him from doing his best work he will undoubtedly go. President Ban Johnson has stated that Sheridan shall be taken care of in some manner, but he will not be worked regularly, as there has been considerable comment upon allowing men to umpire who were of weak eyesight since the close of the world's series.

Another line candidate for the position of umpire on the American league staff is Pollock, who umpired in the Wisconsin-Illinois league last year.

Sullivan Says There Will Be No Clash Between Research Society and American Union.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—War between the Amateur Athletic union and the Athletic Research society is unlikely, according to Amateur Athletic union officials today. The aims of both organizations are similar, it is declared, and there is no cause for a clash.

The Amateur Athletic union is willing, its officials state, that athletic federation branches established by the Athletic Research society compete among themselves without Amateur Athletic union registration. The only compulsory registration would be for athletes desiring to compete in Amateur Athletic union open events.
