

RIGUES IN KLAMATH VALLEY

Soil Accumulated by Ancient Dams of Beaver Villages.

FAMOUS FOR CELERY FIELDS

Best Crops of Rare Quality Produced in "Black Diamond" Yakima Loam—To Exhibit at the Land Show.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Jan. 5.—(Special.)—Wealth of a soil made by the industry of the beavers in the wide of the northwest in countless centuries of soil in their primitive and unexplored irrigation projects will be shown in the exhibit of the Klamath country at the Omaha land show.

The soil of the Klamath valleys is the peculiar result of the process of insular and organic activity. Here, heat and ancient volcanoes have all had a strange share in the making of the fertile lands now under development. The region known as the Klamath country is made up of a number of valleys, lying in the extreme southern part of the state and taking its part of California. Until the last two years almost nothing was known to the outside world of the Klamath country; but in June, 1908, the Southern Pacific company began running trains over the branch from Weed to Klamath Falls. Since that time arrangements have been completed for making this branch the main Portland-San Francisco line of the Southern Pacific system. This has brought thousands of people in touch with the Klamath country.

P. C. Levey & Co. of Portland, Ore., will put on the exhibit at the Omaha show.

Components of Soil.
The soil of the Klamath valleys is volcanic ash, better known as Yakima loam. This soil has been washed down from the uplands and now lies in layers many feet thick all over the valleys.
South of Klamath Falls is about 100,000 acres of this land. This is a kind of special beaver dam land; that is, the successive overflows of the Klamath river have laid deposits of volcanic ash all over this vast area, which was at one time a lake bed. Tules have sprung up where the silt was deposited and have died down, adding annually layers of decayed vegetation to enrich the soil.
These tules at times have grown twelve or fifteen feet high and have become the feeding and breeding ground for countless thousands of water fowl. The natural result has been to enrich the soil almost beyond parallel. This gives the tules soil a very peculiar composition, consisting of volcanic ash with the layers of decayed vegetation and the necessarily fertilizing elements seldom found naturally in land.

One man has raised over $1000 an acre net in celery on this land. The celery has such a flavor and quality as to stand in a class by itself, surpassing even the famous Kalamazoo celery of Michigan. Other root crops, such as potatoes, sugar beets and onions, yield much better returns. All in all, the tules lands are regarded as the most fertile soil in the entire west. This land is held in such esteem that it is spoken of as the "black diamonds" of the Klamath basin. It is as black as the proverbial coal and in texture is exceedingly fine.

Climate is Constant.
The climate of Klamath Falls is very even. The average temperature for twenty-five years for January has been 32 degrees above zero. This is the coldest month; and for August, which is the hottest month, 62 degrees.
The government report on the Klamath project says: "The climate of the Klamath basin is semi-arid; the rainfall occurs largely in the winter months, the average being fourteen inches annually. Snow falls in winter, though so extremely light as to do little weather work. The thermometer has registered at zero but few times in the last fifteen years. The summers are generally pleasant, with uniformly cool nights. In the summer there is an abundance of sunshine in the Klamath country, with its influence for beautiful crops and the health and happiness of its people. The air is dry, but not so hot as to be unhealthful." Fruit in the Klamath basin reaches as near perfection as it is possible to get. The cost of raising for fruit is very low, because the altitude makes it impossible for the usual insect pests to live.

Detectives in Pool Game, Make Arrests

Officers in Plain Clothes Get Into a "Kelly" Game to Apprehend Delinquents.

Two wary detectives played pool with five young boys at George Vette's pool hall, Thirtieth and Dodge streets, then they arrested the proprietor for allowing youths under 12 years of age to frequent the place. Vette was arrested in police court Thursday morning and through his attorney gained a continuance. He was at once re-arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of "Mag" Bernstein, juvenile officer, charging "aiding and abetting" delinquency.

Of the five boys in the game of "Keller," in which Detectives John T. Donahoe and Henry Helfelt distinguished themselves as Joe artists, two are here after serving terms at Kearney. Many complaints have been made against the place which Vette operates on the ground that it was a "hang-out" for small boys.

Foley's Kidney Remedy—An Appreciation.

L. McConnell, Catherine, St. Elmir, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Sold by all druggists.

BODY OF DEAD BUTCHER FOUND

Charles Coka Dies Near Railroad Tracks—Friends Say He Had Been Drinking.

Charles Coka, 37 years old, came to a sudden death, apparently from heart failure, near the railroad tracks at First street and Poppleton avenue Wednesday night. Coka's body was found by a railroad switchman about 1 o'clock Wednesday night, and the case was brought to Coroner Crowley's attention Thursday morning. According to friends of the man, he had been drinking at a saloon up to 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when he started for home. Members of his family say the man had been suffering from heart trouble. An inquest will be held some time Friday.

Coka was a butcher. He is survived by a wife and three children.
When your feet are wet and cold, and your body chilled through, and through from exposure, take a big dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, bathe your feet in hot water before going to bed, and you are almost certain to ward off a severe cold. For sale by all dealers.

Manufacturers of Omaha Hold Meeting to Form Association

Discuss the Objects of Association at Noon Thursday at the Commercial Club.

Half a hundred Omaha manufacturers met at the Commercial club Thursday noon to take first steps toward the organization of a Manufacturers' association. H. Kelly presided as chairman of the manufacturers' committee of the club. Following discussion of the nature of the association and possible objectives, such as an industrial exposition, it was voted to appoint a committee of five to take steps toward securing a constitution. This committee includes F. E. Sorenson, F. E. Knapp, Henry Gering, F. J. Ellick and A. G. Doup. Another meeting will be held at the same place and hour Friday, January 11.

No New Lines Being Considered, Wattles

President of Street Railway Company Says Efforts Are for Better Service.

"No plans are being now considered for extensions of street car lines at this time," said President G. W. Wattles of the street railway company. "Nothing could be announced until after the annual meeting, and anyhow our plans are directed toward increased service to passengers, rather than toward building and operating new ones."
It is generally known that the last additional line built by the company, the Elmwood park extension, is far from being a paying proposition. The Leavenworth line of which the Elmwood is a continuation never has been subjected to heavy travel and the Elmwood cars are often running empty of passengers. Next summer Elmwood park, largest and most lovely of the city's parks, may build up a big summer business on this street car line, but through the fall, winter and spring empty cars have been, or will be, the rule.
The company built this line largely at the request of the city council because the park was without street car service and practically unvisited and unused.

LONDON HOTBED OF ANARCHY

So Says Irish Traveling Man Who Has Studied the Conditions in the Metropolis.

"London has been for years the greatest rendezvous in the world for anarchists and the recent riot there will have a tendency, no doubt, to wake the London police to that fact. When they do realize it, then you can rest assured that the anarchists will have to leave."

Geoffrey Phillips, an Irishman from Belfast, who spent much of his time in London, made this assertion Thursday morning.

"The citizens of London have known for a long time that their city was infested with anarchists and so have the police," he said, "but nothing has been done to chase them out because they have completed their so degrading a task of speaking of people that they do not interfere in such things, even though they know of them, unless they themselves are bothered. Since this outbreak you will read of a series of severe prosecutions, and these anarchists will leave 'E' by my opinion that all of the plots against the rulers of the world in the last decade or so have been made in some of those dingy cellars of London."
"This late riot wouldn't have been the mortal conflict it was had the police carried arms. London police do not carry arms."

Mr. Phillips says the feeling of Ireland against England is gradually dying out.
"Our rights are being recognized today more than ever before. I think Ireland will get better some day in a few years. That's what we have been fighting to get for years and when we do get it the Irish as a people will make the world sit up and take notice."

BURGESS-GRANDEN BANQUET

Given Tonight to Officers and Their Families, Followed by Theater Party.

Members of the firm of Burgess-Granden company are tendering a dinner tonight at the Hampshire to its officers and their families, in celebration of the completion of a splendid year's progress of their business. Recently this firm has enlarged its quarters and installed a manufacturing plant for the production of gas and electric fixtures. Formerly it was simply engaged in the retail and wholesale selling of these lines, and the dinner tonight, followed by a theater party at the Strand, is inspired by an increase of over 30 per cent over any former year's business. R. J. Scannell is president, C. A. Granden secretary and W. L. Burgess treasurer and manager.

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."

A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.

Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without gripping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return the price. Ask him. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

JANUARY SALE

Green Seal of Quality Furniture

"Elizabethan," "Jacobean," "Chippendale," "Hepplewhite," "Sheraton," "Empire," "Louis-Seize." To the average person these words mean little. One reads "Elizabethan" and at once racks his memory for bits of history gathered in school. But one's conception of "Elizabethan chair" is even more vague. So it is of "Jacobean cupboard," or "Chippendale bed." One is led by the exquisite curves, artistic designs and beautiful trimmings to admire these pieces of furniture. They possess an irresistible charm that commands admiration. But even in admiring, the average person cannot distinguish among these excellent styles. And that is one reason why everybody in Omaha should visit our store during the January Green Seal of Quality sale and walk through our woods with us. Go back into the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries with us and see the furniture that your English ancestors drew about the table and fireside. Or join us on a trip to France and become acquainted with the chairs, tables, cabinets, etc., that were in use in the time of Napoleon. To do this is a liberal education. You will learn what a "Sheraton" chair is or what a "Chippendale" Cabinet resembles. We have the choicest furniture in the most attractive styles. Besides we carry all articles of furniture in the lower prices, and they all are characterized by straightforward and high class construction. During this Green Seal of Quality sale these pieces are being sold at extremely low prices that, in many cases, will astound you.
